BRIEF ITEMS OF NEWS.

PARAGRAPHS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF THE REGION.

Synopsis of Local and Miscellaneous Occurrences That Can Be Read Quickly. What the Folks of This and Other Towns are Doing.

The residences of Daniel McGeehin and Mrs. Charles Quinn were burned at Ebervale on Saturday.

Peter Meyer, of Highland, has purchased the property of William Drumtra, on Burton street, Birtvanton.

Thomas Welsh, of McAdoo, a brother of James Welsh, of South Heberton, was seriously hurt in Yorktown mines on Friday.

A large audience was present last night at the first entertainment of this season given under the auspices of the Young Men's Corps.

Benjamin F. Wolfe, of Lehman, this county, advertises in the New York Herald for a wife, who must be young, good looking, refined and with some capital.

Republican politicians who are opposed to seeing ex-Congressman Leisenring nominated for governor have begun booming Judge Rice, of Wilkesbarre, for the office.

The Daughters of America council attended services last evening at St. John's Reformed church, where a special sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Kerschner.

Patrick Gallagher, a boy residing on Adams street, was scalded about the body on Friday. A pitcher of hot water was accidentally overturned on him by his brother.

C. Pardee & Co. on Thursday divided $100 among the Harwood widows of the men shot by deputies at Lattimer. The money was sent by the musicians of Houston, Texas.

Patrick J. Burke and John A. Reilly, Jr., of the Shenandoah News, were found guilty last week in the United States district court of publishing a report of a trial in which indecent language was used.

John Slepah, John Trupaka and John Oeltn attacked the residence of Andrew Casarid at Jeddo with stones last night. Officer Milk has a warrant for the three men and when captured they will be arraigned before Squire Buckley.

George McLaughlin, principal of the Eckley B. Coxe school, was admitted to the Luzerne bar on Saturday. Mr. McLaughlin studied under Lawyer Stroth, and has the honor of being the first to graduate from a Freeland law office.

Joseph and Willie Gilgot, the young boys whose absence from town was noted on Thursday, were found hiding last week around the Grand opera house building. Companions had carried food to them during the five days they spent there.

A bazaar will be conducted by the Young Men's Corps on the third floor of the Grand opera house building, commencing New Year's Day. A meeting of the lady friends of the society will be held tonight to assist in making arrangements.

"Brother for Brother" was given before an appreciative audience here on Saturday evening. It is one of the best of its kind on the road. Four of the leading characters were given a curtain call at the end of the third act—the first at the Grand.

Frank A. Toth, editor of the Standard News, of Hazleton, will be arrested today on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by Rev. Carl Houser, of Freeland. The article containing the alleged libel was recently published and defames the Lutheran Church and its ministers.

The New Jersey Central Railroad may introduce steel coal cars on its road. The officials have requested plans and prices from the Schoen Pressed Steel Company, the concern that built steel ore cars for the Carnegie Company, for steel cars of a capacity of 80,000 pounds.

The new Audenried school building was dedicated Thursday afternoon. A parade preceded the exercises, being participated in by the Junior Order American Mechanics, Sons of America and other organizations. The orator of the day was George West Blake, of Philadelphia.

Henry Miller, whose free use of a revolver got him into trouble last Monday evening, made a nuisance of himself on Thanksgiving Day. He was arrested on Wednesday night and was released after paying a fine of $2. On Thursday he was locked up again. After promising to leave town he was given his passport and disappeared.

DRIFTON ITEMS.

The colliers will work this week from 7.25 a. m. daily to such hour in the afternoon or evening as the loaded coal holds out.

A "Hard Times" hop was held at Cross Creek hall Friday evening. Notwithstanding the inclement weather the attendance was large.

Patrick Gallagher returned from New York yesterday with a horse purchased in that city by Dr. G. S. Wentz.

A Fire on Saturday Morning.

The Freeland Steam Laundry, near the corner of Front and Birkbeck streets, South Heberton, took fire early Saturday morning. The flames were extinguished after an estimated loss of $100 to the laundry fixtures and $100 to the building had been incurred.

The employees of the laundry were preparing to begin work, shortly after 6 o'clock, when John Breilsford, one of the proprietors, opened the basement door. A large boiler and a stove arched from the basement, and the heat from these began circulating through the basement. This coming in contact with the fumes from gasoline in a tank in the basement, a small explosion followed, and the woodwork nearby took fire.

Owing to the distance from the firehouse, a small hose was procured at Rudwick's store and did effective work until the firemen arrived with the apparatus. Two streams were turned into the basement, and the flames were prevented from reaching the upper floors and finally extinguished.

Very little of the laundry machinery was damaged, and none of the goods owned by patrons was injured. After the fire the management started work the same as usual and the establishment is in running order again. The Messrs. Breilsford are very thankful to the firemen and others who assisted for the effective and intelligent work done.

The property is owned by M. Schwabe.

A Visit from a Real Live Count.

"Count de Lonzo, of Bulgaria, Duke de Sheverette, Marquis Chateau Renard, Prince of the Blood Royal, Knight of the Legion of Honor, etc.," called at the TRIBUNE office on Thursday. The count claims to be the only genuine nobleman who has ever worked for a living. He was exiled from Bulgaria a year ago by King Ferdinand, his vast estates were forfeited and he was compelled to fly for his life. On arriving in America the necessity for work arose, and he assumed the name of H. Stanley Lewis to hide his distinguished character, as he had not the money to support his long list of titles.

Count de Lonzo is acting as advance agent for "Brother for Brother," and will continue working until he meets his ideal—a wealthy American lady who will marry him. His Highness dresses in the latest style and speaks the best of English.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The first annual convention of the sixth district of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at Hazleton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. This district comprises nine city associations, three railroad associations and three college Y. M. C. A.'s. The sessions will be held at the several churches. State Secretary S. M. Bard, of Harrisburg, and ex-State Secretary Chas. E. Hurlbert, of Philadelphia, will be present, also many other prominent Y. M. C. A. workers.

The convention will open Friday at 4 p. m. The public is invited to each session of the convention. Special services will be held upon Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

New Railroad Started.

The work of construction of the new railroad between Pond Creek and White Haven has been commenced. The new road will be seven miles in length, and will be the outlet for the coal of Pond Creek's new colliery. The Lehigh Valley Company is back of this road, and it is supposed that the line will be used for passenger traffic in the near future, as the agreement with the Jersey Central, by which the latter company's tracks are used between Pond Creek and White Haven, will soon expire.

Diamond Jack's Big Hit.

The theatrical palate of Hazletonians is not of an exquisite order when they go into ecstasies over the Pawnee Bill show of the Long Brothers. As sellers of Indian medicine the Longs are all right, but they were never cut out for actors.—Wilkesbarre Newsdealer.

The same town gave "Brother for Brother" a decidedly chilly reception the next night. Not enough blood and thunder in it to suit the deputies.

Jumped in Death's Path.

John O'Donnell, ten-year-old son of Daniel O'Donnell, of East Mauch Chunk, met instant death on the Carbon County Electric Railway on Friday afternoon. O'Donnell was riding on a dray and jumped off immediately in front of a car moving up the street. The victim's head was almost completely severed.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The church last evening was crowded with people who came to hear the closing sermon of Rev. J. T. Griffith, the pastor. Many of those present were members of other churches of town and attended to show their appreciation of the general good work which can be traced to Rev. Griffith. After the farewell sermon had been preached, and the evening services concluded, several of the brethren expressed their approval of the labors rendered by the pastor during his three years in Freeland, and many a regretful good-bye was given him. The following resolutions were then unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We learn with regret that our pastor, Rev. J. T. Griffith, has after careful consideration resigned the pastorate of the Bethel English Baptist church of Freeland, Pa., and has accepted a unanimous call to the Lansford Baptist church. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we hereby sincerely and heartily express our appreciation of the work which our brother has successfully performed while our pastor for three years and one month, during which period our church has prospered spiritually and materially.

Resolved, That we recommend our brother as a faithful minister of the gospel to any church to which he may be called to labor.

Resolved, That we extend our best wishes and hopes for him and his companion's welfare wherever they may be led by Divine Providence.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed among the church minutes and a copy of them given to our brother.

Done by order of the church November 28, 1897.

Thomas Evans, Albert Buchman, Joseph H. Evans, U. G. Fetterman, deacons. Morgan Jones, secretary.

At the close of the services on Thanksgiving Day a farewell social was tendered the pastor and his wife, prior to their removal to Lansford.

One young man was baptized by Rev. J. T. Griffith on Thanksgiving evening.

Fixing the Liability.
Attorney George R. Bedford, A. H. McClintock and Alexander Farnham sat as arbitrators Friday and listened to testimony in the case of the D. S. & S. R. R. Co. vs. the Lehigh Traction Company.

The contest is to ascertain and fix the liability for the damage to life and property caused by a collision between a D. S. & S. engine and an electric car near Hazleton about a year ago, in which a number of people were injured, some fatally.

The decision of the arbitrators will fix the liability on either one or the other of the companies, which will then be made defendants to several damage suits pending. A number of employes of both companies and the passengers on the trolley car gave testimony in the case.

New Route to the Parquet.
A Wilkesbarre boy has discovered a new way of securing a $1 seat for a quarter. He sat in the gallery of the Nesbitt theater at the Thanksgiving matinee and in his eagerness to behold the pretty chairs far below, leaned out, lost his balance and fell into the balcony. Evidently not satisfied with the balcony seat he bounded over the balcony railing down into the parquet, where he landed sideways on a seat, which broke under him. All present thought the urchin a goner and two women fainted sympathetically. But Mr. Boy, instead of stretching himself out dead, arose, rubbed his arm, gazed up to the ceiling, then coolly took a comfortable seat and proceeded to enjoy the show.

Labor Meeting Last Night.
Richard Ratchford, of Ohio, national president of the United Mine Workers, addressed a meeting at Yannes' opera house last night. The speaker delivered one of the best labor speeches heard here for some time, and the subject was handled in a style that was entertaining and instructive. The meeting was also addressed by District President Fahy. The attendance was small, owing to a misunderstanding regarding the hour. Most people expected the speakers to arrive here in the afternoon.

A special meeting of the local union will be held tonight at the regular meeting place.

Threatened to Kill Again.
John Turner and Edward Barton, two of Sheriff Martin's deputies, were arrested at Hazleton on Thursday and given a hearing before Alderman Schott, charged with making threats to kill Patrick Curran, of Harleigh, is the prosecutor. Curran made a remark, condemning Turner for being one of the deputies who shot down the miners at Lattimer, and Turner threatened to kill him also. The two men were held in $1,500 bail each for their appearance at court.

A pretty line of fall dress goods can be seen at Oswald's. Latest patterns and lowest prices.

PLEASURE CALENDAR.
December 16-30.—Fair of the Citizens' Home Company at Yannes' opera house.
December 31.—Ninth annual ball of the Tigers Athletic Club at Yannes' opera house. Admission, 50 cents.

Next Year's School Appropriation.

The county commissioners have received blanks from the department of public instruction on which to make report of the number of residents taxable and the number of children between the ages of six and sixteen years in Luzerne county, says the Wilkesbarre Leader. The return of the number of children is to be made on or before the last Saturday of January. The following admonition accompanies the blanks:

"As this is the first time the school appropriation will be distributed according to the new law, county commissioners are urged to exercise unusual care in making correct returns; otherwise districts may be deprived of their proper share of the state appropriation."

Under the new law it is expected there will be a more equitable division of the appropriation.

This is in the aggregate to this state $5,500,000. The division in future will be on this basis—one-third on the number of children reported between the ages of six and sixteen years; one-third on the resident taxables, and one-third on the number of teachers employed for the full annual term, not including substitutes or night school teachers.

Formerly the appropriation was made on the number of resident taxables. In this way it became apparent that the cities and large towns were benefited at the expense of the country districts. It is well known that in cities, towns, etc., there are more resident taxables in proportion to the children attending school than there is in the outlying townships.

Now it is reasonably certain the latter will get a greater amount for school purposes than heretofore.

A Chance for Two Citizens.
From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Wilkesbarre Record continues to defend the attorney general of Pennsylvania from the charge of not enforcing the company store law, upon the pretext that the official in question can proceed against the guilty companies only after information has been laid before him by two citizens who are also residents of the county in which the offense is committed.

We say here and now, first, that the law does not use the word only in the relation assigned to it by the Wilkesbarre Record, and, second, that any day the attorney general desires such information in good faith he can get 200 citizens of Luzerne county to give it to him.

But let us suppose for a moment that such is not the fact, and that it is his duty to sit with folded hands and wait until the information is passed to him upon a gold platter—even then there is absolutely no reason why Dr. Johnson and Mr. Powell, the publisher and editor of the Wilkesbarre Record, being citizens of Luzerne county, should not step forward in the interest of the Luzerne laboring men and give the attorney general the information for which he is wasting away.

The Emma Sardou Company.
Tonight the Emma Sardou Company will begin a week's engagement at the Grand opera house in a repertoire of standard successes. The opening play will be the laughing farcical comedy, "The Girl from New York," a play brimful of popular songs, catchy music and bright up-to-date specialties.

Mrs. Silverite, a widow, has a son Harry and a daughter Dolly. She is ambitious for the former to become a physician and the latter to marry a rich husband. In order to help defray her son's expenses at college she takes a wealthy boarder, Ebenezer Goldberg, into her home relative but his nephew and heir, Jack Goldberg, Mrs. Silverite sees in the rich bachelor a desirable husband for Dolly and endeavors to bring about a match between them, but Dolly falls in love with the nephew. A flirtation by Jack with an actress, some intercepted letters and other incidents furnish a series of ludicrous complications, the like of which is seldom seen. The prices during the engagement will be 10, 20 and 30 cents, and there will be a change of bill nightly.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, P. J. SENATOR JOHN MORGAN.

Writes from Honolulu on the Subject of Annexation.

United States, Says the Alabama Statesman, Must Occupy Pearl Harbor—An Almost Ideal Naval Station.

While Senator Morgan, Alabama, was in Honolulu he wrote a letter on the subject of Hawaiian annexation to the New York Herald. The following extract from it refers to the beautiful Pearl Harbor, the proposed station in the Pacific ocean, for the United States navy:

Considered in a sense as broad as the distance between Asia and America, there is no place on either coast, or in any island of the Pacific ocean, that is of equal importance and value to commerce or naval power as Pearl Harbor. The reasons are that it is central in the arc of the great circle, north of the equator, that is described by the coasts of Asia and America. It has the best climate of any port on either coast. It affords the best and cheapest shelter to shipping and the least expensive ways for provisioning, repairing, coaling and watering vessels of any size.

The sea line of the harbor is a coral reef that is about eight miles from the shore of the harbor in its inland stretch on a direct line. The bay divides into three bays of water as it reaches inland, all nearly of equal size and depth. The peninsula that thus divide the waters approach the entrance through the outer bar—the coral reef—with a distance of three miles, and command it absolutely. Inland the shores of the harbor, with their meanderings, are included in a space about six miles wide, as will be seen by consulting a chart of the harbor. The outer bar is of soft corals, and easily removed by pumping, and the space to be dredged is less than half a mile.

All these questions are put to rest by the dredging of the same kind of a bar at Honolulu, not six miles up the coast, and are no longer debatable. The work is of the lightest character of sea dredging. Both outside and inside this narrow reef the water is over 60 feet deep, and Pearl Harbor, from the bar to its extreme limits inland, is without any obstruction and is of sufficient depth for the largest ships. Five hundred dead weight tonnage vessels can be moored in positions of perfect safety.

Deep water is found all along the shores of the bay, all of which are perpendicular walls of stone. They could scarcely be more regular or useful if they had been built by skilled workmen. On the side of the bay next to Honolulu hills from the seacoast are from 100 to 500 feet high. Guns on these elevations would easily command the entrance to both harbors, while within Pearl harbor and back of Honolulu the points available for harbor defense could scarcely be more advantageous.

The cost of land for these works will be what the United States chooses to give. It should be what a court and jury would award on a full hearing. The courts are of very high models of wisdom and justice. The channels of Pearl harbor are all deep—with rock-bound shores that are perpendicular. A vessel can be moored at almost any place along miles of shore line and will be out of sight from sea, except the top riggings. The largest ship can easily turn round in the narrowest parts, while a dry dock can be constructed at a low cost at many places in Pearl harbor with walls excavated in the rock.

Commander H. E. Nichols, commanding the Bennington, is now completing the survey commenced by Admiral Walker. When his report is made the technical facts will appear to the eye of the ordinary observer.

Enough is obvious to the most unskilled person to create the firm conviction that Pearl harbor cannot be excelled as a location for a naval station, or a great seaport, or a fortress in the sea, or as a site of great cities, or in furnishing beautiful homes for the industrial classes or for wealthy people, in a soft and temperate climate, where nature revels in the beauty of flowers, and the richness of fruits, and the life-sustaining productions for the support of dense populations. How the United States can do without this harbor—to say nothing of the other islands—is a question that this generation must answer at its peril.
