THEY HAD A GOOD TIME.

DEMOCRATS PUT UP A STIFF FIGHT IN REPUBLICAN WARDS.

Their Activity Made the Day Interesting in the Up-Town Districts—Mixed Results in Foster Township—Democrats and Citizens Divide the Honors.

The result of the voting in Freeland borough, as given in tabulated form in adjoining columns, is not a surprise to anyone who considered the strength of the political parties in this town. In the wards north of Main street, where all the candidates for councilmen and school directors were running, the vote is overwhelmingly Republican, and in capturing the offices in these the majority party gained no notable victory, merely holding its own. The Democrats cut deeply into the vote in the First, Second, and Third wards, and in the Fourth heavy inroads on the Republican majority were made by all the Democratic candidates. The only ward in which the Republicans increased their vote was the Third.

In none of the upper wards, as the above are termed, had the Democrats reasonable grounds upon which to hope for a victory. They expected nothing, and got it, nevertheless they showed the other side a good time all day and have cause to feel proud of the vote cast for their candidates. Their activity in districts where they were hopelessly in the minority had the effect of putting some life in the election up-town, something which the Republicans failed to do in the Democratic ward.

The South ward went Democratic, as usual, but by a decreased majority. The lightest vote ever polled in the ward was cast on Tuesday, over 100 Democrats failing to vote, as there were no important contests on hand to induce them to go to the polls.

William E. Martin, the Republican candidate for borough auditor, carried five of the six election districts. The Third district of the South ward, which has the remarkable record of never having given any Republican candidate a majority, stood by the Democratic nominee, James Bohlin.

Election day, like the campaign, passed off with the best of feeling prevailing among the opposing parties. The victors and the vanquished accepted the results in a becoming manner.

The increase in the number of members on the council and the school board will give the Republicans control of both of these bodies. The council at present consists of four Democrats and two Republicans. As the two retiring members, Messrs. Rutter and Miller, are Democrats, and the six new members are Republicans, the council on a party vote will be eight to two. The present school board consists of six Democrats. Two Democrats, Messrs. McCarthy and Timony, will retire in June and six Republicans will take office. The board will then be composed of six Republicans and four Democrats.

The total number of offices voted for was thirty-two. Politically they were filled as follows:

Auditor	Dem.	1
Councilmen	Dem.	6
School Directors	Dem.	6
Assessors	Dem.	4
Registers	Dem.	2
Judges of Election	Dem.	4
Majority Inspectors	Dem.	2
Totals	Dem.	25

Foster Township.

Foster's battle was undoubtedly the most bitter ever fought in that township. Party lines disappeared early in the day, and combinations and counter-combinations were made and broken many times by friends of the several candidates. The totals show that part of the Democratic and part of the Citizens' tickets won. Woodring, Lesser and Baker represent the Citizens in the victors' column, while Fairchilds, who was the candidate of the Republicans and Citizens, also came out ahead. The Democrats elected Campbell, McGuire, McHugh, Carls and probably Gallagher. The vote for auditor indicates the election of the latter by a small plurality.

The fight centered on school director and upon this the Citizens staked everything. Their candidates won by a good vote and this sufficed for the defeat of the other candidates on that ticket. The returns from the nine polling districts show some queer figures, and it is safe to say that the table published to-day will be preserved for future use by politicians of all parties.

Serious Accidents in the Mines.

John J. Gallagher, a car-loader at No. 2 breaker, Highland, had a narrow escape from a serious injury yesterday. After coupling several railroad cars he was walking between them under the breaker. His feet slipped and to save himself from falling under the wheels he threw out his left arm for support. It was immediately caught between two bumpers, and before it could be withdrawn the fleshy part between the thumb and wrist was terribly squeezed. No bones were crushed, but a painful injury resulted. He is resting easily at his home on Centre street, near South.

In Upper Lehigh shaft yesterday an unexpected fall of coal in the breast of William Schrumm caused an accident which extinguished the life of Herman, his seventeen-year-old son, and seriously injured the father. The two were loading a car when the fall occurred. The boy was instantly killed. The injuries to Mr. Schrumm consist of internal bruises which may result fatally.

John Brehm, a patcher in No. 5 colliery, Upper Lehigh, had his leg broken yesterday in a peculiar manner. He was walking down the slope and a car was coming in the opposite direction. The rope suddenly swayed over the top of the level-roller and struck him on the leg, breaking it below the knee. He was removed to his home in Upper Lehigh.

At No. 4 Okadale colliery yesterday two Hungarian boys were badly hurt.

Had Designs on Parliament.

The prompt action of Squire Brennan, of Mahanoy City, was all that saved himself and a party of friends from a horrible death Monday night, in his office. John Berigan entered the office, and placing a queer-shaped article on the floor, hurriedly made his exit. Brennan's friends fled from the room, but the former grasped the instrument and tore it apart. It proved to be an infernal machine, capable of blowing the building to atoms, and would have exploded in a very short period of time. It contained 100 dynamite cartridges, with a needle so arranged as to explode them. Berigan is evidently insane.

When captured and asked what his object was, he said he was experimenting and that he intended going to England and blowing up the house of parliament if his plan proved successful.

Removal of Valley Offices.

The anticipated transfer of the traffic department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad to New York will not take place, it is understood, until May. President Walter will have an office there as well as in Philadelphia. The general traffic manager, the general passenger agent, the freight agent (together with the freight department) and their forces will be transferred to New York. A portion of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company officials and their clerical forces at Bethlehem will be transferred to Philadelphia and the rest will go to New York.

Drifton Company Store Sold.

The store of Cox Bros. & Co. was sold on Tuesday to E. J. Edwards, who has been superintendent of the establishment for some time past. The purchase price was not made public. It is understood that Mr. Edwards bought the store for a stock company composed of himself, William Lauderbach and ex-Mine Inspector James Rudwick, of Hazleton, and others. It is also stated that the other stores owned by Cox Bros. & Co. will be disposed of as soon as purchasers who will pay the price asked are found.

Services on Sunday Next.

On Sunday morning next Rev. J. B. Kerschner will hold memorial services at St. John's Reformed church in memory of the late Henry C. Groessel, Co. G, 47th Pa. Vols. The services will be in English, and Post 147, G. A. R., will attend in a body. Rev. Kerschner, by invitation, will preach a sermon to the members of Camp 144, P. O. S. of A., in St. John's church, Eckley, at 2:15 o'clock the same day. In the evening English services will be held here. The public is kindly invited to attend.

Boy Meets a Violent Death.

Joseph Lozier, the four-year-old son of Benjamin Lozier, residing near Wilkes-Barre, was playing in an upstairs room when the mattress on the bed caught fire. The room filled rapidly with smoke. An older brother broke into the room, and catching up his little brother, tossed him out the window to the mother, who was standing on the ground below. The mother succeeded in catching the child, but the youngster had inhaled the smoke and died during the night.
