Altorney Scarlett also brought out the fact that no justice of the peace and called upon houting the sheriff that he was mable to preserve the peace and called upon him for assistance. Altogether his cross-examination made his evidence lose much of its value. Mr. Scarlett used Martin very nicely for the benefit of the commonwealth by getting him to name secence of the deputies whom he remembered positively were present at Lattimer. In beginning his testimony, Sheriff Martin said he returned September 4 from Atlantic City in response to a tele-gram from General Superintendent Lathrop, of the Lehigh Valley Coal company. After learning that the strikers had damaged the company's property and interfered with employes. In toid them that it was our duty to minatain the law, and if I found any-body violating the law we should not shoot unless our lives or theirs were there. At Crys-tal Ridge, one of the strikers said, as they moved off when commanded to dis-perse: "We've got to go, boys: they're too strong for us today; but tomorrow we'll come back and stop the work then." At Beaver Meadow, on Thursday, the sherift testified, a body of strikers charg-ed on the deputies. "My men," he said, "had to push them away by holding their guns like rails before them, and then it was hard work. As they dis-persed one man deliberately fired a pistol at us, some deputies pursuing him, but he escaped." Friday morning's scene at West Hazle-

Friday morning's scene at West Hazle-ton, when the miners were marching to Lattimer, was described by the sherift, "When I learned the strikers were going to Lattimer," he said, "I hurried off with my deputies to intercept them. I told them again to keep cool and not to shoot unless their lives or mine were in danger. After lining them up alongside the road I told them I would go ont to meet the strikers and try once more to disperse them. A deputy asked if he should not go with me. 'No,' I said; 'I'll go alone.' I thought one man was enough to die at once. I felt somehow there was going to be trouble. I met the strik-ers about lifty yards from the deputies

Committee, Hazleton, Pa. Branch of the Y. M. C. A. The mècting heid on Tuesday evening in the P. O. S. of A. rooms, for the pur-pose of organizing a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, was well attended. The state secretary of the association, S. M. Bard, of Harris-burg, delivered an address in which he outlined the necessary preliminary work, and the young men present heartily entered into the spirit of the association. John H. Trevaskis was chosen chairmann of the meeting and W. J. Schmidt sec-retary. A committee of ten was select-ed to call upon young men who would make desirable members, and a com-mittee of five was appointed to solicit support. A permanent organization will be effected after both committees report.

The question of dropping the s.45 a. m. and running the early train at 6.10 a. m. was discussed, but the townspeople were divided on the matter. Some were disposed to agree to this change but the majority wished to have both trains. majority wished to have both trains. The superintendent appeared very anx-lous to arrive at a satisfactory conclu-sion and assured those present that he would do what he could to have the running of the early train resumed. Among those who spoke for better facili-ties were A. Oswald, J. C. Berner and W. D. Kline. A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening and a committee appointed to secure signa-tures to a petition asking for the 6.10 a. m. train.

The secretary stated that Mr. Zim-merman's reasons for not notifying the examining board for the promotion of his class, as suggested some time ago, were that he had discovered a slight weakness and that he desires a little time to strengthen the pupils in the weak points. Those bills were ordered paid: Wm. Williamson, supplies, $4.83; Press, pub-lishing, $1.25; E. H. Butler, books, $6.72; E. H. Freas, hauling coal, $6.50; H. G. Deppe, labor, $2.80; Mrs. Donlin, clean-ing, $2.

Another Freeland Boy to the Front. From Vesterday's Phila. Inquirer. Dick Harley, of the St. Louis team, who is coaching the Villa Nova college nine this spring, was a caller at the Inquirer office last night. Speaking of the material he had to work upon at the college, he remarked to the writer that in McFadden he had a wonder as a pitcher. McFadden became famed among amateurs as first baseman of the Mauch Chunk team, and at times oc-cupying the box. He stands 6 feet 3 inches, and tips the scales at 100 pounds.
