

FREELAND TRIBUNE.

VOL. XI. NO. 21.

FREELAND, PA., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1898.

$1.50 PER YEAR.

GRAND ARMY DAY PROPERLY CELEBRATED.

VETERANS' PARADE AND CAMP FIRE SUCCESSFULLY CONDUCTED.

FREELAND ROYALLY ENTERTAINED ITS VISITORS.

BEAUTIFUL WEATHER ADDED MUCH TO THE DAY'S PLEASURE.

Slatington Was Chosen as the Place to Hold the Demonstration in 1899. Colonel W. A. Stone Delivered a Lengthy Address in the Evening. Full Account of How the Day Was Observed in Our Town.

Grand Army Day, 1898, will go down in Freeland's history as one of the great days of the town's early existence, and on the records of the Lehigh Valley Grand Army Association the date and the place of celebration will be accorded an honorable page, for both the association and the town did themselves credit on Saturday, and each will hold the other in fond remembrance for many years to come.

Never before was Freeland so handsomely and so unostentatiously decorated with the national colors, which were beautifully blended and artistically arranged in a thousand appropriate forms, and upon no previous occasion did the people of the borough exert themselves as a whole to so great an extent to welcome a visiting organization.

To do honor to the veterans of the civil war was the uppermost thought in the minds of Freeland people on Saturday, and the success attending this desire made every patriotic Freeland prouder of his town when the curtain fell on the concluding exercises.

GRAY-HAIRED MEN IN BLUE.

They Marched Along With Steady Ranks and Won Great Applause.

The event of the day was the parade of the Grand Army posts attached to the Lehigh Valley Association and the visiting Sons of Veterans. The number in line was 486, but whatever the procession lacked in numbers was amply made up in enthusiasm and appearance. The marchers were frequently applauded along the route, and the posts gracefully acknowledged the tributes paid them.

The line was formed at the time specified and at 2 o'clock it began to move. The parade passed the Central hotel in the following order:

- Chief Marshal, W. R. Longshore, Post 20, Hazleton. Senior Aide-de-Camp, Stephen Drasher, Post 147, Freeland. Aides, John Fisher, Post 113, White Haven. Christ Sanghardt, Post 61, Mauch Chunk. Elias Reidy, Post 284, Slatington. Carriage with Colonel William A. Stone and Invited Guests.

SLATINGTON NEXT YEAR.

Grand Army Day in 1899 to be Celebrated Down the Lehigh Valley.

Slatington carried off first prize—next year's demonstration—at the business session of the association, held Saturday afternoon. Ashland pushed the town down the Lehigh valley hard for the honor on the first ballot, but on the second vote the home of the slate industry won out with ease.

The session was called to order at 3.30 o'clock by President John Wagner. Secretary Timothy Boyle received representatives from fifty-four delegates, representing the following nineteen posts: Nos. 13 and 87, Allentown; 29, Hazleton; 43, Ashland; 61, Mauch Chunk; 92, Mt. Carmel; 110, Mahanoy City; 113, White Haven; 133, Andover; 146, Shenandoah; 147, Freeland; 177, Summit Hill; 272, Weatherly; 284, Slatington; 378, Catsaunqua; 484, Lehigh; 527, South Bethlehem; 563, Conyngham, and —, Girardville.

Allentown, Ashland and Slatington were nominated for the celebration in 1899 by the delegates of these towns with much eloquence on the part of their respective advocates. Allentown wanted it because a $30,000 soldiers' monument will be dedicated there a year hence, Ashland asked for it because that town was second in last year's contest for the honor at Lansford and Slatington got it because its delegates hustled for votes. The result of the first ballot was:

Slatington	24
Ashland	21
Allentown	5

There being no choice, another ballot was taken, as follows:

Slatington	32
Ashland	20

For president, S. H. Sneek, of Slatington, was unanimously elected, and for secretary Elias Germain, of the same town, was chosen in a like manner.

After passing a resolution thanking Maj. C. B. Cox for his hospitality and the residents of Freeland for the hearty welcome tendered them, the Lehigh Valley Grand Army Association adjourned for one year.

Brief Notes of the Day.

The order of the Cross Creek Coal Company compelling its employees to work on Saturday was severely denounced on all sides. The order was directed at the United Mine Workers, but also deprived hundreds of others of pleasure.

After the parade a short address was made by Colonel Stone from the Central hotel porch. As in the evening, he avoided political questions and did not refer to his candidacy for governor.

Stephen Drasher made an able aide-de-camp and had the column moving on time. Later he was thrown from his horse and fractured his right arm.

Colonel Stone was escorted to town by D. J. McCarthy and Reese Lloyd. He left here yesterday and spent the day in Hazleton.

Several delegations from out-of-town posts failed to get in line, Weatherly missing its place in the parade altogether. Lansford's company of little girls was all right, and applause greeted them along the whole line of march.

Hazleton's military company's uniforms did not arrive in time, consequently they did not parade. Freeland was well prepared to feed the visitors, and everybody with the price felt better at 1 p. m.

Shenandoah had the finest band and South Bethlehem the best drum corps—local music excepted.

The arrangement committee of Post 147 was congratulated on all sides for its efficient work. Camps 140 and 216 had in their ranks men who have just returned from the late war.

South Bethlehem turned out the largest number, distance considered. County politicians and office-seekers mingled freely with the crowd.

The most lonesome place in town all day was the lockup. The Central hotel led in decorations.

Bit of Advice to Beer-Drinkers. Beware of the great dangers that lurk in improperly made beverages. Take no chances in drinking beer of which you know nothing. Insist upon getting the pure, unadulterated and wholesome lager brewed by the famous Bartel. No other can surpass it in health-giving and system-building. Bartel's stock and porter also lead. Charles Boezkowski, agent.

$1.50 a year is all the TRIBUNE costs.

EVENING EXERCISES.

Opera House Unable to Accommodate All Who Sought Admission.

The Grand opera house was not built with the intention of accommodating over 700 or 800 people, but twice that number sought admission on Saturday evening. Those who failed to get in went off disappointed and those who were fortunate enough to enter heard an address by Colonel Stone which in length has been seldom exceeded in this town.

The exercises opened with an overture by the Junior band, of Eckley, followed by a fervent prayer by Rev. J. B. Kerschner, of St. John's Reformed church.

Burgess Gallagher delivered a most sincere address of welcome, in language well chosen for the occasion, which made visitors and townspeople feel perfectly at home for the remainder of the evening.

Geo. H. Troutman, Esq., of Hazleton, in assuming the duties of chairman, captured the audience with his bright and humorous references to the day.

He was followed by the choir of Park M. E. church, which rendered a medley of patriotic songs, and gave "Dixie" in response to an encore. Master Lee Caswell sang "The Army Mule" and was well applauded.

The speaker of the evening, Colonel William A. Stone, of Allegheny, was next. His address consumed one hour and fourteen minutes. Notwithstanding its unusual length the speaker was accorded perfect attention throughout. He devoted himself to a review of the causes which led up to the civil war and the questions it settled, and showed why the men who fought that war battled with a desperation and valor such as the world had never before known. He recounted numbers of instances of personal heroism that are on the records of that war, and told why the Union survivors of the battle-fields and the prisoners should be respected and the memory of their deeds ever kept fresh.

Mr. Stone followed in the same strain in regard to the late war with Spain. He eulogized the army and navy of America and attributed their unbroken line of victories during the 113 days of war to the fact that right and justice were on our side and the soldiers and sailors fought, like the men of 1861-65, for a principle, not for the pay they received. He also related some of the sights he saw during a tour through Spain eight years ago, and ridiculed the Spaniards for their lack of education and their custom of spending Sunday afternoons in fighting bulls.

The speaker is not an orator in any sense of the word, but is very strong in expressing himself and enunciates clearly. The address was well received, politics being omitted.

A duet, "The Wounded Soldier," by John Price and Miss Mabel Missner, was rendered in good style, and a solo, "Cuba," by Miss Alberta Soder, also won the approbation of the audience.

Hon. Jeremiah Snyder, of Allentown, was the next speaker. His address was somewhat on the same lines as Colonel Stone's speech.

Another solo, "Let Me Like a Soldier Die," by John Price, ended the evening's program, and with it ended the exercises of Grand Army Day in Freeland—a date that will be long remembered by all who participated in the celebration.

A Philadelphia man owns a most unique assortment of pieces of blotting paper, collected by his father, who was long an official of the White House, each of which, reversed, bears the signature of a President, from General Harrison, who died a month after his election in 1841, to Garfield. On one sheet, the most highly prized of the lot, the last official letter signed by President Lincoln was blotted before he was assassinated by Booth.

No Help Needed.

"If any man wanted to kiss me I should scream for help."

"Oh, if he really wanted to kiss you, you wouldn't need any one to make him do it."

LATTIMER REMEMBERED.

Mine Workers Observe the First Anniversary of Their Comrades' Death.

One year ago last Saturday the civilized world was horrified to learn that in Pennsylvania twenty-one poor coal miners were shot down in cold blood on the public highway by a squad of unprincipled thugs, who were armed by the authority of a weak-minded officer of the law. Since then the courts of Luzerne county have been irrevocably stained by a trial that mocked justice at every turn and secured a verdict of acquittal for the murderers at a cost of thousands of dollars, when measured in money, and of eternity to judge and jury, if there is justice in the next world.

The organization to which these twenty-one men belonged, and at whose request they asked their employers for living wages, did not allow the first anniversary of their comrades' death to pass unnoticed. At Hazleton the membership of the United Mine Workers of America of this region paraded on Saturday and strewed flowers on the graves of the men whose lives were so suddenly and dastardly taken on the fateful tenth of September, 1897.

The parade and commemoration exercises were conducted with much tact and discretion. A feeling of sincere sadness permeated the ranks of the marching miners, who gathered from all parts of the district to pay in this manner their tribute to the memory of the men who fell in labor's behalf.

To the strains of sorrowful music 3,000 fellow-workmen slowly wended their way through the streets of our neighboring city to the Polish cemetery beyond, where the following gentlemen delivered addresses in keeping with the spirit of the occasion: Mayor H. E. Myers, Hazleton; Rev. C. A. Spaulding, Elmhorst; Rev. Carl Houser, Freeland; Rev. E. J. Phillips, Hazleton, and National Organizer John Fahey, of the United Mine Workers.

The North Side locals, accompanied by St. Patrick's band, turned out with full ranks and presented a fine appearance.

Previous to the labor men's demonstration the memory of the Lattimer martyrs was respected with religious services at St. Stanislaus' Polish Catholic church, where high mass was celebrated. Father Phillips, of Hazleton, was deacon, and Father Anst, of Hazleton, was master of ceremonies. Father Mack, of Freeland, delivered a sermon in English, and Father Chajinski, of Hazleton, one in Polish. At the Slavonian cemetery Father Novarsky, of McAdoo, addressed the assemblage in Slavish, and Father Martyak, of Freeland, spoke to the Greek Catholics.

YESTERDAY'S CELEBRATION.

The North Side Slavonian and Tirolese societies paraded the streets of town yesterday afternoon, headed by St. Patrick's band. The demonstration was in memory of the Lattimer victims. There were 249 men in line. Most of these men were unable to take part in the Hazleton parade, owing to Drifton company working its colliery. Father Stas addressed the paraders after their march.

LOCAL WAR NOTES.

Captain Hillard Bell, of Company D, Ninth Penn'a, died at Lexington, Ky., Friday night. He enlisted in Company D in 1884, and arose from the ranks, being made first lieutenant in 1890, and captain in 1894. He is the twenty-second member of the Ninth to die of typhoid and the third captain. Captain Bell lived in Wilkesbarre and was connected with the Hazard Rope Works.

Michael Zemanly, Jr., passed the examination for the artillery service last week at Wilkesbarre, and his father, Michael Zemanly, Sr., accompanied him there this morning to sign the papers which will permit the young man to enter the army. Mike is a bright boy and ought to advance rapidly.

The First Arkansas left Chickamauga on Friday for Little Rock, Ark., where they will be mustered out. Among the Pennsylvanians in this regiment is John A. Boyle, formerly of Pittston, a brother of D. J. Boyle, of Drifton.

Word has been received in Wilkesbarre of the serious illness of Father McMahon, of South Bethlehem, who is with the Ninth Penn'a at Lexington, Ky., as special chaplain.

Glen B. Chilson, of Company M, Towanda, is the twentieth victim of disease in the Ninth Penn'a, and Henry A. Dietrick, of Company B, Wilkesbarre, is the twenty-first.

Among the regular artillery recruits sent from Wilkesbarre on Thursday was Lieutenant Siviter to Fortress Monroe was John Jamison, of Freeland.

The mortuary list of the Ninth Penn'a was increased last week to nineteen by the deaths of Robert Klutz and Frank Snyder, both of Bethlehem.

Bicyclists Beware.

Bicyclists are positively forbidden to ride their wheels over the sidewalks in the village of Drifton. Any person found so doing will be prosecuted. The Cross Creek Coal Company.

Sudden Death on Friday.

Shortly before 7 o'clock on Friday morning James Welsh, one of the earliest residents of Freeland, died suddenly at his home on Walnut street. The deceased arose at his usual hour and appeared as healthy as a man of his age could be, and his sudden demise was a surprise to his family and relatives. Mr. Welsh lived here about thirty years and had a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a quiet, unassuming gentleman, and his death is regretted by all who knew him.

He is survived by a wife and eight sons and three daughters, as follows: John J., Patrick, William, James, Thomas, Dominic, Condy and Francis, and Misses Mary, Annie and Rose. Mr. Welsh was 67 years of age and was buried this morning at St. Ann's cemetery. The funeral was largely attended and a requiem mass was read over the remains at St. Ann's church.

Acquitted of Murder.

Louis Schree, the young farmer of Hunlock township, who was jailed last week on the charge of murdering his brother with a pitchfork, was discharged at a habous corpus hearing before Judge Bennett, who expressed surprise that the man should be imprisoned on a charge founded on no particle of evidence. The father and brother of the accused testified that the dead boy died a natural death. Judge Bennett asked the two prosecutors what they had to say and their best evidence was that some one heard that Lou Schree had murdered his brother and told them and they told Squire Young, who ordered the arrest. They were warned not to be so hasty in the future. Schree says he will prosecute the men who had him arrested.

Tigers Elect Officers.

The Tigers Athletic Club elected the following officers yesterday: President—D. S. Buckley. Vice president—John F. Boyle. Recording secretary—James J. Cannon. Financial secretary—B. J. Keenan. Treasurer—Peter Gallagher. Sergeant-at-arms—James B. Ferry. Guard—John J. Hogan. Trustees—John O'Neill, John McGrorty, John Trimble, J. J. McMennamin, James M. Gallagher.

To Boom Old Buck Mountain.

From the Hazleton Sentinel. Hon. W. R. Jeffrey has been appointed superintendent of the Buck Mountain Improving Company, and assumes the position on the 12th. This is Sol Hirsch's new Buck Mountain enterprise, the effect of which in reopening the coal industry there will be to build up a new town. Mr. Jeffrey's mining experience, as well as general, will undoubtedly be applied to advantage, and Sol's hustling methods will make Buck Mountain village a verity in short order.

A settling of ground over No. 7 slope at Sandy Run alarmed the officials of that town last week. A large seam appeared in front of the residence of Walter Leisenring and extended across the street on the lower side of the slope to No. 7 boiler house, where the fuel piled away from the boilers and the large stacks leading from the same were displaced. It is believed the cave has succeeded in blocking itself.

Building Cycle Paths.

The cycle path being constructed by Eckley B. Cox, Jr., to a point on Upper Lehigh mountain known as "Hell Kitchen," is being pushed to completion. Mr. Cox, at a meeting of the Associated Wheelmen last week, invited the members to the use of the path when finished. Work was commenced last week by Contractor Fresse on the bicycle path from Freeland to White Haven and is progressing very rapidly.

"I hear that the people of Minneapolis have decided that Sigbee isn't much of a man after all, and that they are taking back all the nice things they said about him after the destruction of the Maine." "Why is that?" "He's in command of the St. Paul now."

His Advertisement.

There was a man in our town Who wasn't overwise; He started into business, But didn't advertise. Of course there is a moral Connected with this tale; He runs an advertisement now— It's headed "Sheriff's Sale."
