THEY PLAYED IN LUCK.

The Adventures of Three Sailors Cast Away on a Pacific Isle.

When the steamship Cottage City arrived at San Francisco from New York to join the Klondike trade it carried three ship-wrecked sailors, picked up at Valparaiso.

They were Jack O'Neil of San Francisco, William Walsh of New York and John Dall, a Norwegian. They had been seamen on the bark Monatum, wrecked seven months ago.

"We were on the way from Newcastle, Australia, to Panama, when the bark sprung a leak," said O'Neil, at the Sailors' Home. "Captain Newhall put us at the pumps, and he soon concluded that we would have to run for Easter Island. This island, mind, is away off the coast of Chile, about 2,500 miles from anywhere.

"The captain's idea was to run the bark ashore, so he wasn't particular what course he took, and, as hard luck would have it, we banged into a reef. That settled it, and we barely succeeded in getting ashore with our lives.

"Easter Island is about twenty miles long and eight or nine miles wide. It is inhabited by a simple and hospitable lot of Kanakas—about 180 of them in all. There is a king at the head, and there are three or four chiefs or officers, who seem to hold office by right of age.

"The king took a fancy to me. He unceremoniously conducted me to his house—a rude cabin of sticks, dried mud and thatch. The captain and the rest of the crew had to put up with the homes of the ordinary citizens, but we all had about the same amount of beef and sweet potatoes to eat. These are the only foods we saw on the island, and as the cattle run wild and have scant pasturage the beef is pretty lean. They have only one meal a day on the island, and that comes about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"By one of those funny freaks that always happen at shipwrecks, a chest containing paint had floated ashore. I painted the king's house for him red, white and yellow, with trimmings of tar. His bare-footed highness thought that was out of sight. He had an extra dinner that day, just as they do at weddings and funerals, and he never stopped chuckling.

"We had been there six months when a sailing vessel landed and took us all his subjects—men, women and children—shouted in lamentation as we sailed away."

"Natural Gas" at Hazleton.

All lovers of legitimate farce comedy will welcome the coming of Donnelly and Girard's "Natural Gas," at the Grand opera house, Hazleton, on Thursday evening next. The story of the play, dealing as it does with a peculiar brand of speculation, tells of the efforts of Christopher Bluff to conduct a natural gas exchange in New York city, where he makes golden promises to his clients and gives nothing in exchange but bogus certificates for supposition shares in gas stock. Act I shows the office of Christopher Bluff, where he, by a lucky stroke, has induced Jobson Duddle to invest in 100 shares of Consolidated Flizz Stock at $11 a share and, with $1,100 in his pocket, he attempts to lord it over his entire establishment but is foiled in his attempt by Whitem O'Rourke, the dandy copper of the force, and by the woman who scrubs the office floor, Kitty Malone. Kitty's father dies, leaving a small farm on which is discovered a most marvelous gas well, and Kitty becomes heir to five million of dollars.

The efforts and antics of Bluff, O'Rourke and Noisè E. Howell to win the heart of Kitty Malone, who, when she learns of her acquired wealth, changes her name to Katherine Malone, furnish the fun-y complications for the other two acts. Mr. Girard will appear as Whitem O'Rourke, his original character, and will have the assistance of an all-star cast.

Seats can be ordered by the Anthracite telephone and electric cars will leave after the performance.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

BRITISH SMUGGLERS.

CAVES ON THE COAST WHERE CONTRABAND GOODS WERE STORED.

The Goods Were Stowed Away in the Caves and Removed Under Cover of the Night—Their Pretended Constancy for the Donkeys.

A very curious feature of the coast of England, where rocky or wild, and trenced and banked up paths for the caves along the coast. These are noticeable in Devon and Cornwall and along the Bristol channel. That terrible sea front consists of precipitous walls of rock, with only here and there a dip, where a brawling stream has sewed its course down to the sea, and here there is, perhaps, a sandy shore of diminutive proportions and the rocks around are pierced in all directions with caverns. The smugglers formerly ran their goods into these caves, when the weather permitted, or the preventive men were not on the lookout. They stowed away their goods in the caves and gave notice to the farmers and gentry of the neighborhood, all of whom were provided with numerous donkeys, which were henceforth sent down to the caves, and the kegs and bales were removed under cover of the night or of storm. As an excuse for keeping droves of donkeys it was pretended that the sea sand and the kelp served as admirable dressing for the land, and no doubt so they did. The trains of asses sometimes came up laden with sacks of sand, but not infrequently with kegs of brandy.

Now a wary preventive man might watch too narrowly the proceedings of these trains of asses. Accordingly squires, yeomen and farmers alike set to work to cut deep ways in the face of the downs, along the slopes of the hills, and bank them up so that the whole caravans of laden beasts might travel up and down absolutely unseen from the sea and greatly screened from the land side. Unquestionably the sunken ways and high banks are a great protection against the weather. So they were represented to be, and no doubt greatly were the good folks commended for their consideration for the beasts and their drivers in thus at great cost shutting them off from the violence of the gale. Nevertheless, it can hardly be doubted that concealment from the eyes of the coast guard was sought by this means quite as much, if not more, than the sheltering of the beasts of burden from the weather.

How the Chinese Do Things.

The Chinese do everything backward. They exactly reverse the usual order of civilization, says the Richmond Christian Advocate.

Note, first, that the Chinese compass points to the south instead of the north.

Men wear skirts, the women trousers.

The men wear their hair long, and the women wear it short.

The men carry on dressmaking, and the women carry burdens.

The spoken language is not written and the written language is not spoken.

Books are read backward. What we call foot-notes are inserted at the top of the page.

The Chinese dress in white at funerals, and in mourning at weddings while old women always serve as bridesmaids.

The Chinese launch their vessels sideways, and mount their horses from the off side.

The Chinese begin their dinner with dessert and end with soup and fish.

In China the hands of the clocks are immovable; it is the dial that revolves.

Tattooed Royalty.

Foreign gossip says that Queen Olga of Greece has an anchor tattooed on her shoulder as a token of her affection for her father, the late Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, and the Princess Waldmar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christian, is also marked in like fashion, with the addition of a crown.

Memorial tablets have been placed to mark the headquarters of Prescott and Rochambeau at Newport.

Wanted Privilege of Sending Warships to the Philippines.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The Spanish government has requested of this government the privilege of sending a few small gunboats to certain of the Philippine islands, where the insurgents are particularly active, with a view to maintaining her sovereignty there.

The matter was discussed at to-day's Cabinet meeting. No announcement has been made as to the result of the consideration of the matter, but it is understood that the request will not be granted.

Peace Proposals Under Discussion in Spain.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day Lieut-Gen. Correa, Minister for War, declined to comply with several requests for the production of documents referring to the war, basing his refusal on the ground that production would be "inimical to public interests."

The Senate appointed commissions to study the various peace proposals.

264 Men Killed in Battles.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The official records of the War Department, as far as completed, show that there were thirty-three officers and 231 enlisted men of the army, 264 in all, killed in battle during the war with Spain. These casualties include all the lives lost by the army in the battles in the Philippines, as well as those in Cuba and Porto Rico.

Filipinos Want Annexation.

Manila, Sept. 8.—Twenty leading public men, representing all factions of the Filipinos, have held a conference to consider the future fate of the islands.

WOMEN AGE QUICKLY

WHEN MARRIED THEY STAY AT HOME AND WORRY.

The "Worry Habit" is One Cause—Physical Inferiority to Man is Another—How to Retain a Youthful Appearance Until Late in Life.

That women age—that is, become old in appearance—more quickly than the members of the sterner sex, is a matter of every-day observation; it is a matter of such common knowledge that very few of us stop to ask why it is so. Yet it is surely a question which deserves more general attention, seeing that it touches us all very nearly. The son regrets to see his mother, who has lavished such care upon him, looking "old before her time," and the husband naturally likes his wife to preserve the freshness of youth as long as possible.

What, then, are the causes of this rapid ageing, and can they be removed?

The most important factor in this fading of the bloom of youth among women is worry. Woman is more delicately constructed than man, her nerves are more highly strung; hence the effect of worry upon her organization is always greater than upon man. And woman has far greater opportunities for worry than the lord of creation.

Speaking generally, a woman has to depend upon a man for her living. A man, if he be worried, has to throw it off and turn his attention to current business duties; the wife's duties are confined to the household, and are chiefly mechanical, thus leaving her mind free to occupy itself with any subject of uneasiness that may arise.

For instance, the wife at home—confined within the four walls of her dwelling—worryes over the fact that her husband's business is not prospering; whereas he, although just as much interested, has his mind occupied with the transaction of current affairs, and has not the same opportunity to indulge in disquieting reflection. Moreover, the worry acts more disastrously on her finer nerves than upon his. It is woman rather than man who "goes round the corner to meet trouble," as some one has expressed it. Everybody knows that worry kills more people than work does.

Another reason why women fade more quickly than men, is that they develop more speedily. Take a boy and girl of the same age and watch them; you will find that at the end of a given period that the girl has learnt more and is developed to a greater extent than the boy. The natural result of this rapid development is a correspondingly earlier loss of freshness.

Physical inferiority is another cause of early decay; the wear and tear of existence tells upon her sooner than a man.

Of these three causes it is possible to do something to counteract two at least. It is possible to increase their physical strength and to find mental occupation which will prevent them from worrying so much. Both objects may be attained to a great extent by the same means.

If a woman is to protect herself from the ravages of worry, and so retain her youth for a longer period, she must come into more frequent contact with other people—as her husband does—and read good books; she must relieve the monotony of her duties and the limiting influence of confinement within four walls by taking outdoor exercise—a walk every day or a spin on a bicycle; in short, she must exercise the body and mind in a healthful manner, and she will find the bloom of youth and health remain with her for years after it has faded in other women of the same age.

"The ordinary woman," says a celebrated physician, "leads such a monotonous existence that her mind has no occupation but worry; she is almost made up of worry upon worry. What she needs is to come out of herself much more than she does. She must have intercourse with more people and take more exercise. This can be done without neglecting the home, and every right-minded man will do his best to secure for his mother, or his sister, or his wife these aids to the retention of youthfulness of body and mind."

Home-Made Koumiss.

Even in town milk may be had so thoroughly fresh and rich that it is an easy matter to make koumiss at home. Lager-beer bottles, with the patent crockery-tipped corks, are the best for keeping this drink, but if those are not at hand the ordinary sort may be tied down securely with fine wire, if they taper properly and fit well. To make, put one-third of a cake of compressed yeast in half a teacupful of warm (not hot) milk, add two teacupfuls of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved, pour into the bottle, fill with hot milk, shake well, cork, put in a cool place, and it is ready to use the next day.

The value of koumiss as a building-up food is little understood in this country. On the Russian steppes "koumiss-cures" are frequented by persons out of health or unduly delicate. It is also a refreshing summer drink.

Compte of Pears.

Pare and cut one dozen nice, ripe pears, into halves; remove the core and put the pears in cold water with the juice of one lemon; place a saucupful with one pint water and one cupful sugar over the fire; add the thin peel and juice of one lemon; when it boils put in the pears and boil till a straw will pierce through them easily, then pour them in a dish; when cold drain off the liquor and boil it down to one-half; remove, and when cold pour the syrup over the pears and serve.

How to Prolong Life

No man or woman can hope to live long if the Kidneys, Bladder, or Urinary Organs are diseased. Disorders of that kind should never be neglected. Don't delay in finding out your condition. You can tell as well as a physician. Put some urine in a glass or bottle, and let it stand a day and night. A sediment at the bottom is a sure sign that you have Kidney disease. Other certain signs are pains in the small of the back—a desire to make water often, especially at night—a scalding sensation in passing it—and if urine stains linen there is no doubt that the disease is present.

There is a cure for Kidney and Bladder Diseases. It is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has been for thirty years, and is today, the greatest and best medicine known for these troubles.

Mr. WILLIAM W. ADAMS, cor. Jefferson Avenue and Clifton Street, Rochester, N. Y., says:—

"Three years ago I was taken with Kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that a day was set for the doctors to perform an operation upon me. Upon that day I commenced the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it was not long before I was entirely cured, and I have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased, and I never was so well as I am now. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy saved my life."

Favorite Remedy acts directly upon the Kidneys, Liver and Blood. In cases of Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Ulcers, Old Sores, Blood Poisoning, Bright's Disease and Female Troubles it has made cures after all other treatments failed. It is sold for $1.00 a bottle at drug stores. A teacupful is a dose.

Sample Bottle Free! Send your full postoffice address to the Dr. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, RONDOUT, N. Y., and mention this paper, and a sample bottle of Favorite Remedy will be sent free. Every sufferer can depend upon the genuineness of this offer, and should send at once.
