higher and more ideal life craved by youthful nature, which in the past was not to be found in the monotonous existence which was a boy's lot in the coal region.

With this object in view, to make their evenings and leisure hours more pleasant than heretofore, club-houses and rooms are being built in the mining towns, wherein the younger employes can meet and derive, to a limited extra at least, the advantages to be gained by associating with one another, each giving to his fellows the benefit of his knowledge in some particular branch of education or sport, all reaping something from the whole, and the result tending to bring them nearer to those attributes which go to make man better and nobler.

A room of this description has for some years been maintained at Jeddo by the Progressive Club. Jeddo today has triple the number of young men of any town in the coal fields, in proportion to population. The desire of wander off has been reduced to a minimum, and this fact has not escaped the attention of John Marklo, the head of the firm at that place. To assist the boys in their elevating work he has offered to build the organization a club house which will meet their demands more fully than their present quarters. Work upon the structure will soon begin. It will be a two-story building, with basement, A steam-heating plant will be installed, and the club will add largely to its present library and furnish the house though the club work, this form of raising money will heretage be dispensed with, and a donation of $50 will be made to the Progressive Club building at the boil park in that town.

This interest which the coal companies of our vicinity are taking in oncouraging the young to stay here is truly commendable, and with a little more humanity shown all their employes during working hours, will go farther to establish friendly feelings and harmonious relations between capital and labor in our midst than any person can predict. Every such movement of the corporations, having the advancement of man as one of itsobjects, even though the main incentive in inaugurating it may be a personal one, will redound to their credit and will be appreciated by heir credit and will be appreciated by the beneficiaries.

A Great Attraction.

The Red Cross nurse, in her desire to ease the pain and quell the agony of the wounded sufferers, did no small damage to-faithful hearts, during the late war. In "A Daughter of Cuba," which comes to the Grand opera house, Hazleton, tomorrow evening, Miss Jean Mawson, in her petite, graceful way portrays the loving, gentle, sympathetic nurse. The play deals with the love of two people who have met on the field of battle, wherein a tent has hastly been erected. The nurse tremblingly prepares for the treatment of the first of the wounded. She has followed her lover to a fever-ridden country after the usual lover's quarrel and with hopes of a reconciliation adopts the custom of the Red Cross. Among the first, who in that awful battle of Sibony, were wounded nigh unto death, is Jack Price, her lover, who had joined the New York Seventy-first.

The performance will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, so as to enable the people attending to ride to their homes.

tion at St. Ann's Catholic church closed yesterday morning. On Monday evening Rev. Burke, of Hazleton, delivered the sermon, and on Tucsday evening Rev. Dever, of Beaver Meadow, addressed the congregation. During the services the following priests were present: Revs. Fallihee, Mack and Stas, Freeland; Revs. Phillips, Leonard, Burke and Berzinni, Hazleton; Rev. Bergrath, White Haven; Rev. Rahilly, Audenried; Rev. Dever, Beaver Meadow; Rey. O'Rielly, Wilkesbarre, and Rev. Ward, of Allegheny. Officially, Whitesourie, and Allegheny.

A Hearty Laugh Will Do You Good.

If you want a good hearty laugh go see the famous Bros. Royer in their roaring, rolicking spectacular production "Next Door." There is very little plot in the plece, it is simply a conglomeration of farce comedy, singing, acrobatic feats, chases through trick houses and walls, and overything else in the theatrical line. It is excellently put on and played with great vim and realism. The Bros. Royer are without a doubt the funniest performers in their line and the audience is kept in a roar of laughter from start to finish. At Grand opera house, Freeland, tomorrow evening.

Democrats Name Two Candidates.
The Eighth congressional district
Democrats have now two candidates for congress before them. The conference composed of five conferees from Northampton county and the three Barber conferees from Carbon nominated Laird H. Barber, of Mauch Chunk, at an adjourned meeting on Tuesday.
Monroe and Pike were not represented.
Those counties stand by Lauer, whom they nominated at Lansford last week.
The Dauphin county court will have to decide which is the regular candidate.
In the event of Barber winning in the court, it is probable that Pike and Monroe counties will name Lauer on nomination papers.

Rotisky was arrested and was held under $700 ball to appear at court but being unable to furnish ball, was taken to jail. The woman's condition is not serious, but she will be distinct the serious property of the serious property.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

Arthur T. Crocker, one of the most popular and promising young men of town, died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. Death was caused by blood poisoning, which was contracted in a very simple manner. While at work a short time ago developing photographs, in which art he took much interest when at leisure, his fingers were saturated with the developing solution. Unthinkingly, he touched his lips with one of his fingers, and the poison of the solution immediately entered the young man's system. Two weeks ago he took to his bed, and despite medical care succumbed to the inevitable. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Crocker, of town, and was aged 19 years and 8 months. He was employed in the office of the Upper Lehigh Coal Company and had a bright future before him. The funeral will take place on Saturday. Rev. J. W. Bischoff will hold services at 11.30 a. m. at the residence, after which the funeral cortege will proceed to Rockport in charge of Undertaker Warner, of Weatherly, where services will be held in the Reformed church at 3.15 p. m.
