THE WORLD OF POLITICS.

COMMENTS AND CLIPPINGS ON THE COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

What Kind of a Man the Democratic Candidate for Sheriff Has Been and Is.

Carbon Opinions of Dan McCarthy, Controller Lloyd's Troubles, Etc.

There is no more deserving man before the voters of Luzerne county in the present canvass than Joseph J. McGinty. He has been tried and not found wanting. He is no uncertain quantity. The voters and taxpayers know him and know just what he can do. How do they know? From what he has already done. There is no better way of judging what a man will do than by what he has done under similar conditions. When he was recorder of the county he attended strictly to the business of his office personally. He did not, like many another public office holder of this county hire clerks to do the work he should do and bring this additional burden on the taxpayers.

He saved what he could by doing his duty, the duty for which he was elected and for which he was paid. He is a faithful worker and his years of experience have made him efficient. A sheriff ought to have a measure of experience for the trying duties that befall to his lot. Joseph McGinty brings these qualifications to bear. The average man who desires to see the right man in the right place will vote for McGinty.

The experience of Luzerne county has been such that voters ought to exercise the greatest care and caution in choosing a man who is likely to be called on in trying times to restore order and insure peace and quiet. No man who has ever stood before the voters is better equipped in this than the present Democratic candidate.—Wilkesbarre News-Leader.

Walter Melford, a writer in the Weatherly Herald, says: "Dan McCarthy, of Freeland, has flopped with sack and pack over the fence in the Republican camp. As long as good old Eckley Cox lived, Dan was a Democrat; now he is nothing. I remember well the last poor director election we held at Hazleton, how Dan told us in a loud and long speech, to some five or six hundred people, what a good Democrat he was and he would always abide by its principles, and how he did arraign, yea, mercilessly flail the Republicans in the district then existing. Now he is a Republican. Sometimes I wonder if the Republicans are not ashamed to stomp the county with him. He spoke at Mauch Chunk, and as a consequence the meeting was dry and dull. He was jollied and his words had no weight by reason of his actions. Every Democrat and thorough Republican is sorely disgusted with the likes of Dan."

A hearing was had on Thursday in the case of Dr. J. J. Smythe, who claims he was counted out at the Democratic county convention, where he was a candidate for coroner. Attorney Hines, for Smythe, contended that seventy-five delegates had voted for Dr. Smythe and the tellers had credited him with forty, while they gave Dr. Singer sixty. Attorney Strauss, for Dr. J. A. Singer, the party nominee, asserted that the court had no jurisdiction in the matter and also that Dr. Smythe had not complied with all the requirements of the law in preparation of his papers. Attorney McGinty, representing the Democratic party, argued that the court had nothing to do with the case. Judge Woodward instructed the attorneys to prepare briefs in the case and he would take the papers, then give his decision.

Controller Joseph D. Lloyd, whose first official act was to draw $9,400 from the county treasury for which money he never performed a moment's work, has been used for slander by M. J. Mulvey, of Miners Mills, and $5,000 damages are asked. In a speech at North Pond last month Lloyd accused Mulvey of trying to fleece the county out of $100 by presenting exorbitant bills. This Mulvey denies, and in addition to bringing suit for the slander is preparing copies of records in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties which will show Lloyd's personal character in an unenviable light.

There is a hot fight on for the common pleas judgeship, made vacant by the death of Judge Bennett. Governor Hastings is expected to make the appointment at an early day. George S. Ferris, who has been urged by his many friends to allow them to press his claims as a candidate, has decided not to enter the contest for appointment. This narrows the race to Frank Wheaton and Gaius L. Halsey, each of whom has a host of friends.

The Republicans of Carbon county had a flag raising in Mauch Chunk last Saturday evening. Among the speakers was Daniel McCarthy, of Freeland, who took one hour and twenty minutes to tell why he left the Democratic party. It could be told in twenty seconds. He left because, like the Hessian of the revolution, he is out for the coin.—Lansford Record.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The little peep which the people are getting at the real meaning of Quayism, through the arrest of Senator Quay, his son Richard and Charles H. McKee, has given them an appetite for more information on the subject, and many Republicans in the Fourth legislative district will vote for the Democratic candidate for assembly, in the hope that a thorough and complete exposure of Quayism in all its forms may be made.

The Democratic Press Association of Pennsylvania will meet at Philadelphia on Friday next. The Democratic press of the state is united as it never was before and is doing effective work for local and state reforms. The coming meeting will plan the work to be done during the remainder of this campaign.

Jack McCarthy, who was in Hazleton last week and predicted a sensation in Luzerne county politics, spent yesterday in Philadelphia in conference with members of the Business Men's League, with whom he is allied. Something is in the wind.—Plain Speaker.

Schnylkill Prohibitionists failed to file their nomination papers correctly and the names of their candidates cannot appear on the official ballot. They had a complete ticket, from congressman down, and expected to poll many votes.

The several committees having in charge the arrangements for the meeting of the Democratic societies in Wilkesbarre on October 18 are all hard at work, so that nothing will be left undone to welcome the delegates.

The Republican district committee met here Saturday evening. There was a small attendance and little interest taken in the gathering.

BRIEF ITEMS.

FOSTER SCHOOL BOARD.

All members of Foster township school board were present at the regular monthly meeting Saturday evening, except Director Ziestloft. The supply committee reported a list of supplies ordered from the Kross Stationery Co. The superintendent reported an enrollment of 963 pupils, with an attendance of 88 per cent, and 19 in the high school. He also read the minutes of the teachers' institute at which a committee was appointed to map out on a course of studies for the schools. The text book committee reported a list of books ordered and asked what books they were to take in exchange for Ward's Rational Method of Reading. A discussion arose as to the course teachers were to take in teaching the method. Directors Lesser and Knyrim thought the method a poor one since it would require all pupils now in second reader to start in the primer of the rational system. The matter was referred to the committee on course of studies.

Director Knyrim made application for two recitation seats and two desks for Eckley schools and Director Evans asked for four rear seats for Hazle Brook. Tax Collector Oberrender spoke about the duplicate and asked whether the board or the county is to receive the dog tax.

The following bills were ordered paid: Upper Lehigh Coal Co., coal, $6.01; L. V. R. R., freight, $3.03; Chas. Rickert, hauling, $3.80; John W. Davis, wood, $4.50; Henry Rudolph, labor, $2.50; Mrs. Henry Rudolph, cleaning, $14; Mrs. Thos. Kessel, cleaning, $28; Geo. C. Farrar, labor, $3; Ervin Eunase, labor, $7; Mrs. Robert Jenkins, cleaning, $7; Mrs. Eliza Weaver, cleaning, $11; Pond Creek Coal Co., coal, $11.65.

In regard to the Lafayette monument the board decided to observe October 19 as Lafayette Day in the schools of the township, at which time a collection will be taken up.

MINES AND RAILROADS.

The September production of anthracite is reported at about 4,250,000 tons, or 200,000 tons more than in September last year, making the output so far this year, about 400,000 behind last year. It is estimated that 4,500,000 tons will be mined in October, but the actual result will probably be greater than this. In October last year the production was 5,120,000 tons.

Commencing today all the collieries of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company started to work full time. It is said full time will be worked at this company's mines until December 1. At some of the collieries there is said to be a scarcity of skilled labor.

The coroner's jury in the case of the five men who were suffocated in the Middle colliery, Wilkesbarre, on October 1, met on Friday and returned a verdict, saying that the men came to their deaths by an unavoidable accident.

PERSONALITIES.

Misses Mary McGill, of town, and Marie Breslin, of Jeddo, left on Saturday for New York city.

Miss Annie Sweeney, of Lehighton, is visiting at the residence of H. E. Sweeney, Drifton.

Miss Maggie Perry, of Ridge street, is spending a few weeks with Wilkesbarre relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fackler are spending a few days with Philadelphia friends.

Miss B. V. McTigue is visiting friends at Mountain Top, this county.

A. Oswald sells three bars of grand-ma's butter milk soap for the small sum of 5c.

BRIEF ITEMS.

Nine properties belonging to W. D. Kline were sold at sheriff's sale on Saturday at the courthouse. Some were purchased by Mathias Schwabe and others by Joseph Birkbeck, of Wilkesbarre. Mr. Kline's financial troubles are regretted by his many friends and they hope he will soon be in a position to reclaim what he has lost.

Remember the big ball of the Young Men's Temperance Corps will be held tonight at Yannes' opera house. The committees have completed arrangements for a large attendance. The music will be furnished by St. Patrick's band, which will use its new instruments for the first time to play dance music.

Hugh Malloy on Saturday captured two large weasels on the ridge between Freeland and Sandy Run. Both were caught in the same trap. Weasels are the greatest enemies of rabbits in the woods and destroy hundreds every season. Several traps have been set through the brush near town.

Lewis S. Jones, one of the most prominent Welsh-Americans of the Wyoming Valley, died on Friday in Wilkesbarre, aged 71 years. He was a Republican and served as a member of city council three terms, a part of which time he was its president.

A meeting of the borough school board will be held this evening to consider the condition of the basement of the E. B. Cox school. The Board of Health has notified the directors that the cellar requires immediate attention.

The Conyngham Herald is less than a year old, but it is learning rapidly. Listen to this from its columns: "William Heisel raised the largest sweet potatoes in the region; some too large to be placed in a half bushel."

The Saturday Telegraph, of Hazleton, owned and edited by William Joyce, has ceased publication after an existence of three months. Editor Joyce will locate either in Wilkesbarre or New York city.

Driving vehicles over the cycle path is becoming a common practice with some teamsters. The Associated Wheelmen intend to make some arrests unless the practice ceases.

Miss Rose Polle, of town, was married on Saturday at St. Ann's church to Fortunato Derinied, of Beaver Meadow, by Rev. Peruzzi, the Italian priest of Hazleton.

United States Commissioner C. F. Hill, of Hazleton, has received notice that he has been reappointed to the position for four years, dating from October 4, 1898.

Hazleton councils have resolved to permit no more tar sidewalks to be laid in that city, and property holders are up in arms against the resolution.

Burgess James M. Gallagher will remove this week from Walnut street to one of his father's dwellings, on Ridge street, above Walnut.

Patrick O'Donnell, of Ridge and Front streets, has received information that his father died recently in Ireland.

The teachers of Freeland borough held an institute on Saturday afternoon.

FOUND DYING ON A BACK STREET.

Chief of Police Hartman, of Shick-shinny, found a well-dressed woman lying unconscious on a back street of that town on Thursday night. She was dying, and despite the efforts of Dr. Hughes to arouse her, she breathed her last at 1 o'clock next morning. The physician does not know what the cause of death was. The woman was of medium height, quite good looking and well dressed. There was nothing about her by which she could be identified, however. In her pocket was some money and a railroad ticket from Danville to Kingston.

The Shickshinny police have received a message from Danville saying the woman might be a Mrs. Maury, who had disappeared from her home at that place.

Cut Off the Little Leaks.

The Hartford (Conn.) Post gives the following sensible advice to advertisers: "Save money on your advertising if you can, of course, but save it in the right way. Cut off all the little leaks—the programs, the bills of fare, the directories, the wall charts, the pages in 'souvenirs' Cut them all off and your trade won't feel the difference. Cut off the inconsequential papers if you have to, but always keep your ad. In the best papers, big enough to do you justice. It is better to convince a few people than to talk to many."

There is much sound advice to every advertiser in the above.

Another Crooked School Board.

The taxpayers of Norwegian township, Schuylkill county, started in to investigate the school board of that district on Friday. A suit was brought against five members of the board for fraud. The defendants were Edward Seymour, James Redington, William Kenny, John Phaelen and Edward Hanny. They were charged by Nicholas Madara and Charles Kull, representing the taxpayers of the township, with drawing fraudulent orders on the treasury. The defendants were released upon their own recognizances for a further hearing tomorrow night.

Young Man Killed in the Mines.

James Bowden, of Jeddo, was killed at the bottom of No. 4 slope, Oakdale, on Thursday morning by a car leaving the track and striking him against the timbers on the side of a narrow passage. The young man was 22 years of age and leaves a wife, to whom he was married a short time ago. He is also survived by his parents, a brother and two sisters.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon. The deceased was a member of the J. O. U. A. M., of Freeland, and a number of the members followed the remains to their last resting place in Hazleton cemetery.

A Large Excursion.

Twenty-two well-filled cars left the lower end for Wilkesbarre this morning. The Hazleton and South Side excursionists filled the first section, which went via Highland and consisted of fourteen cars. Eight were required to accommodate the Freeland people. The beautiful weather today induced many to attend, and the indications are that a fine parade of the Catholic temperance societies will take place at the county seat. Returning, one excursion train leaves Wilkesbarre for the lower end at 6 p. m. and another at 8 p. m.

Another Band.

St. Patrick's Beneficial Society at its meeting yesterday decided to reorganize the band connected with the society. The names of eighteen new members were enrolled as members of the band, and a committee of five was appointed from the society to have the instruments placed in good condition and have supervision over the band.

$1.50 a year is all the TRIBUNE costs.

LOCAL WAR NOTES.

The mustering out rolls and discharge blanks for the Ninth Penna. regiment were received at Wilkesbarre on Thursday, and must be properly filled out by October 19, the day on which the thirty days' furlough expires. The date of mustering out has not been made public.

John McKinley, whose serious illness has been noted in previous issues, has been removed by his brother James from the general hospital at Camp Wik-off, Montauk Point, to St. Peter's hospital, Brooklyn. He is improving rapidly since leaving the army camp.

Thomas Newcomb, the young recruit of Wilkesbarre, in whose case the court was asked to interfere, has been sent away to join his regiment. The case will have to be appealed to the United States court, as the local courts have no jurisdiction.

C. F. Haganey will return to Philadelphia on Friday to be mustered out of service with his regiment, the First Penna.
