She may not be versed in history, theology and that.

She has never paid attention to a B sharp or a flat;

I know it's very certain that the planets in the skies

Have not bothered with her skill in making luscious pumpkin pies.

She has never worried over questions called obtuse.

The mysteries of cycling she has had strength to refuse;

She would out a sorry figure in the social paradise—

But she looms a perfect paragon concocting pumpkin pies.

Her mind has never waded through the literature of gush.

Her cheeks have never crimsoned other than with nature's blush.

She isn't versed in subtle ways and fashionable lies—

But she's queen of all creation when she builds up pumpkin pies.

She has not applied for membership in any cooking fad.

She has never murmured politics to make all nature sad—

But she's mighty intellectual in wrestling with the ties

Surrounding the arranging of Thanksgiving pumpkin pies.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Often an excuse is worse than the offense.

Life after all is 'but a big bundle of little things.

Responsibility that carries no weight is not responsible.

Genius produces the inventions, while talent applies them.

No artist, however talented, has succeeded in painting a fragrant flower.

Money cannot buy an ounce of love, but it will purchase tons of sympathy.

When a man gets in a hole he is always willing to be done by as he should do.

When a woman reaches a certain age there is no longer any uncertainty about it.

It's not what the player does in a baseball game, but what the umpire says that counts.

There is a peculiar fascination about many things whose origin is attributed to his satanical majesty.

It never makes much difference to a woman where a man falls from, just so she is permitted to reign over him.

No Silent Clocks for Them.

Pearson's Weekly: A clock manufacturer of Birmingham found that a rival was doing a large trade in cheap clocks sent out to the wilds of Africa.

He got hold of a sample clock, and, finding that there was a heavy profit in the enterprise, invested a large sum of money in making a still better clock, thousands of which were shipped to the same market.

Strange to say, sales were slow, while his rival, turning out a cheaper and far less accurate timepiece, was selling all he could make. Investigation showed the cause.

Savages like noise. The clocks made by the original exporter had a particularly loud and aggressive tick; his imitator made a better clock, but it was almost noiseless, and the savages would have none of it. The remedy was simple. The next shipment of clocks to the Guinea coast ticked more loudly than anything previously heard there, and all went well.

There'll Be No Parting There.

First Turkey Gobbler—"I hear your son had a terrible experience on Thanksgiving Day."

Second Turkey Gobbler—"Yes; he was all cut up by it."

The Kid's Harvest.

Now he is as pleased as pleased can be, And has no cause to sigh.

With all his heart he says: "To me Thanksgiving time is pie."

A Double Misfortune.

From Today's Hazleton Standard.

Between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening Jonas Miller and John Evans were struck by a train at the Lumber Yard, cutting both Miller's legs off and injuring Evans very badly. Miller died before reaching the hospital.

The two men came to this city on Tuesday, and during the day imbibed so freely that at nightfall they were given a berth in the lockup. They were given a hearing yesterday morning and after paying their fine were released. During the day they again spent their time in the saloons of this city, and between 5 and 6 o'clock started on their homeward journey. Everything progressed without any mishap until they neared the Lumber Yard, when they were struck by a train before being able to reach a place of safety.

The men were promptly picked up and removed to the hospital but before reaching there Miller expired. Evans' condition, while serious, is not considered critical and he will recover. Miller leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss.

Marcy Directors Are Guilty.

The jury in the case against the members of the Marcy township school board returned on Tuesday at Wilkes-Barre a verdict of guilty of conspiracy as charged. The treasurer of the board, Mr. Curley, who was the prosecutor and the star witness for the commonwealth, testified that the defendants and himself had divided $400 of the funds of the district which had been drawn on account of the heating and ventilation plant which had been placed in one of the schools. Both Joyce and Healey, the two defendants, testified in their own behalf and made a general denial of everything. They emphatically denied any division of the $400 between them and Curley in Joyce's saloon, as Curley had testified.

Died in the South.

John Davis, of Drifton, died on Monday at St. Augustine, Florida, where he was spending the winter in the hopes that his health would improve. He was a son of George Davis, of Drifton, and, having lived here all his life, was known to nearly all the people of the vicinity. Mr. Davis was a bright young man, and his relatives have the sympathy of their neighbors in the loss they have sustained. The remains arrived at Drifton last evening and will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Freeland cemetery.

Recovered His Power of Speech.

Patrick Dougherty, of Pittston, became ill and lost his power of speech. He was in this condition for three weeks, when Drs. Mulholland and Barrett, after trying several devices to relieve the afflicted man, adopted the plan of telling the patient something that shocked and sent him into a rage. Immediately his will power overcame the strange defect, and he berated the doctors for maligning him, as they had pretended to do.

Not Up to Expectations.

"Joshua Simpkins" was played by a very weak company at the Grand on Tuesday evening. The acting was far below the expectations of the audience. A ten-cent concert followed the play. The management of the Grand contracted with this company on the strength of the good reputation made by it in past seasons, and were not aware that the former good actors had been replaced by people of inferior ability.

Bernard Kennedy and Miss Catherine Hanlon, of Oregon, were married on Tuesday morning at St. Ann's church. Miss Mary Conahan was bridesmaid and Thomas Conahan was groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will remain here until about the first of the year, when they will leave for their home in the West.

The ball of the Jeddo base ball club last evening was all that could be desired in the way of attendance and pleasure, and at a late hour this morning the dancing was still on. The grand march, led by Master of Ceremonies Bernard Phillips and Miss Annie McHugh, was well done.

BRIEF ITEMS OF NEWS.

PARAGRAPHS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF THE REGION.

Synopsis of Local and Miscellaneous Occurrences That Can Be Read Quickly. What the Folks of This and Other Towns Are Doing.

The first snow storm of the winter struck town this morning.

An entertainment will be given by St. Patrick's band at the Grand opera house on Christmas Eve.

A large delegation of Freeland Odd Fellows visited their Hazleton brethren on Tuesday evening and were royally entertained.

The Italians of Hazleton are organizing a band—the third of this nationality in the region, the others being located at McAdoo and Latimer.

The cold weather of the past few days has caused the sick of town to improve, except in the case of Charles O'Donnell, whose condition at present is very serious.

While assisting in hanging decorations in Yannes' opera house yesterday, Anthony McNelis, of Jeddo, fell from a ladder and broke his left arm in two places. He also injured his spine.

A. Oswald sells three bars of grand-ma's butter milk soap for the small sum of 5¢.

The coroner's jury which investigated the cause of Peter Lynch's death at Hazleton rendered a verdict last evening which stated that death resulted from a fracture of the skull. How it was done the jury could not tell.

The annual fair of the Young Men's C. T. A. B. Corps will open on December 17 in the hall of the Grand opera house building. The committee in charge proposes to make this the banner fair ever held in the region.

Bishop Talbot, of the Central Pennsylvania Protestant Episcopal diocese, will hold services at St. James' chapel, Washington street, on Sunday evening. He will be at St. James' church, Drifton, in the morning and at Eckley in the afternoon.

James Jennings, father of Hugh Jennings, the well known ball player, and one of the men who took the total abstinence pledge from Father Matthew himself, died on Sunday at Avoca. Mr. Jennings was personally acquainted with many of our townspeople.

A large, well-located store room can be rented at a reasonable rate. Apply to H. M. Breslin, South Centre street.

P. R. Cross, the inventor of the combination axle-box and burr and ball-bearing axle, who is trying to place his patents here and have a factory erected, says he has received an offer from Freeland capitalists. He is anxious to locate here however.—Wilkes-Barre Leader.

The Miracle Manufacturing Company filed articles with the secretary of state of New Jersey last week. It proposes to manufacture a preparation which a man can put on his face and remove his beard without the aid of a razor. The company is capitalized for $200,000.

Patrick McNelis, until lately a resident of Highland, was badly injured on Monday by being thrown from the delivery wagon of the Columbia Brewing Company. His collar-bone was fractured and he was severely cut about the face. He was taken to his home on Washington street.

The Citizens' band ball on Monday evening was one of the most enjoyable held at Yannes' opera house for some months past. The attendance was large and the receipts were in proportion. The grand march was participated in by seventy couples. It was led by Master of Ceremonies Morgan DeFoy and Miss Mary Dougherty.

PERSONALITIES.

George Boyle, whose expected return home from army life was mentioned in previous issues, arrived in Freeland on Tuesday from Buffalo, where his regiment, the Sixty-fifth New York, was mustered out of service last Saturday.

Robert Kerschner, an employe of Drifton office, was stricken on Tuesday afternoon with apoplexy and his life was in danger for quite awhile. He is improving.

Fred Kuntz, son of Rev. J. J. Kuntz, another of Freeland's representatives in the volunteer army, arrived home yesterday. He served with the hospital corps.

Harry Johnson, a son of Charles Johnson, Washington street, is seriously ill at Fortress Monroe, where he is stationed as a member of the regular army.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Owens are preparing to visit California, where the former expects to regain his health.

Andrew Higgins and family have removed from Adams street to Foundryville.

J. B. Laubach made a business trip to Philadelphia this week.

School Directors Sentenced.

In Carbon county court on Monday Judge Grant Herring, of Bloomsburg, specially presiding, sentenced the Banks township school directors to pay a fine of $5 and the costs of prosecution. The school board consisted of William Richards, George W. Koons, John Carr, John Thomas and Stephen Farrow. All were by the sentence ousted from office, except Farrow, who is now a director in the borough of Beaver Meadow. They were prosecuted by the Taxpayers' Association and charged with misappropriating the building tax fund and receiving pay for attending the county institute and for work done on the district school buildings. The members of the board were convicted at the October sessions. They asked for a new trial, but the motion was overruled. Directors Richards and Koons will appeal to the superior court.

An Electrical Display.

Superintendent Myers and the officials of the Electric Light Company are preparing plans for the rewiring and lighting of Yannes' opera house for the evening of December 30, the date of the tenth annual ball of the Tigers Athletic Club. If the intentions of the club can be carried out, Freeland people on that date will witness the greatest electrical display ever seen in northeastern Pennsylvania. For some time past the members of the organization have been working to give the people something original on the occasion of their tenth ball, and in calling electricity to their aid it is believed they have solved the problem. The cost of conducting an illuminated ball is considerable, but this feature is seldom allowed to stand in the way when the club decides to try new ideas.

Rails for the New Coal Road.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the New York, Wyoming and Western Railroad Company, the new independent steel rails were placed with the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, of Scranton. The rails are to be 95-pounders and the number ordered will be sufficient to build the road from Wimmer's, twelve miles from Scranton, to the Delaware river. From Wimmer's to Scranton the tracks of the Erie and Wyoming Valley road will be used. All of the routes surveyed for the new road, which is to run from the Lackawanna coal fields to New York, have been discarded with the exception of two and a choice between these will be made in a few days.

Salvation Army Losses.

Judge Woodward on Saturday read a lengthy and interesting opinion in the case of the Salvation Army against the city of Wilkes-Barre, to test the legality of the ordinance which prevents the army from boating a drum on the streets. The judge finds that the ordinance is valid and holds that the Salvationists cannot legally beat a drum on the streets without permission from the mayor. There has been considerable trouble with the army for some time on this question, and two weeks ago a test case was made and submitted to the court.

A Fair Proposal.

A reporter of the TRIBUNE gleaned the following in an interview with the general agent of Stetson's Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company, which will appear at the Grand on Tuesday evening:

"This company is the largest and best Uncle Tom Company traveling, comprising thirty first-class artists. They have a grand double band and an orchestra of ten pieces. The African mandolin students are the best and only performing in the Spanish mandolin. The Lone Star Quartet is claimed to be without an equal, and the Toppies, there they have something that charms all. Two Marks, the best that a big salary can secure. If we do not give the best performance of this piece ever seen in this city we will cheerfully refund the price of admission. Will any other Uncle Tom Company do this? No, because they have not the show to do so. Stetson's Company have."

THE TURKEY ON THE WALL.

HE opening of the chestnut burs, The leaves yellow and sere, Told beyond a peradventure That Thanksgiving Day was near.

But, to my childish fancy, The surest sign of all, Of the nearness of Thanksgiving, Was the Turkey on the wall.

It plainly told the story That we had not long to wait, For the path from wall to table Was very short and straight. It hung all plump and golden In the pantry near the door For a day or two before the feast. And then was seen no more.

This Face All So Glum.

But it and sauce it and give us all some, From lean skinny Joe to Tom Fat; For 'tis Thanksgiving Day and this face all so glum, Was never cut out for one hat.

That Terrible Kid.

Mrs. Smith—Did you give your mother the invitation to take Thanksgiving dinner at our house?

Tommy Jones—Yes, ma'am.

Mrs. Smith—And what did she say?

Tommy Jones—Said she supposed we'd have to go, but she'd rather stay at home and get a square meal.

O heart, give thanks for strength, to-day.

To walk, to run, to work, to play! For feasts of eye; melodious sound; Thy pulses' easy, rhythmic bound; Ten servants that they will obey;

A mind clear as the sun's own ray; A life which has not passed its May; That all thy being thus is crowned, O heart, give thanks!

Feet helpless lie that once were gay; Eyes know but night's eternal way; Souls dwell in silence, dread, profound; Minds live with clouds encircling round;

In face of these, thy blessings weigh! O heart, give thanks!

On Desert Air.

Winthrop—"If Freddie is going to spend Thanksgiving with his grandmother, perhaps you'd better buy him that tin horn."

Mrs. Winthrop—"I spoke to him about it, my dear, but he said it would do no good to him, as grandmother is deaf."

Johnny's Thanksgiving.

Of course I didn't quite forget To be polite—at first; And then, I eat and eat and eat, Until I thought I'd burst.

But Grandmamma was awful nice, She had seen boys before; She said: "Run round the table twice, And come and eat some more."

Bartel's Is the Standard.

"As good as Bartel's" is the claim often made by persons who sell inferior beer, porter and ale. Bartel's is the recognized standard beverage for people who use judgment in selecting that which enters their bodies. Drink nothing but the best. Bartel's is always the best. Charles Beckowski, agent.
