FACTS AND FANCIES.

No man is ever so friendless that he can't find some one to jolly him along. Cupid puts in a good deal of his time at target practice. The average woman acts first and thinks it over afterward. Woman's ruling passion crops out in her desire to rule a husband. Things are actually what they seem—about one time in a hundred. There's nothing new. Our grandmothers often took spins on chainless wheels. The floor walker says the girl in charge of the glue department is a counter-fitter. Those who go down to the sea in ships should see that the ships do not go down with them. Age rarely brings us wisdom; about the best it can do is to teach what particular brand of folly we like best. A marriage without love and a steam boiler without a safety valve indicate that some one is going to get blown up. Clubs are often detrimental to a man's welfare—especially those in the hands of policemen and expert poker players. Malay Shark Hunting. The Malays have a peculiar way of hunting the shark. A man will remain stationary on the water to invite attack. As the creature rolls over to bite, the wily Malay glides out of his way with a few deft strokes of the left hand, while with the right he deliberately plants a pointed skewer between the open jaws of the expectant shark. The result is simple, but surprising. The shark is, of course, unable to close its mouth, and the water just rushes down his throat and drowns him. It requires the greatest possible coolness and nerve to kill a shark in this way, but the Malays look upon it as a favorite recreation and an exciting sport. When the monster is dead its slayer dexterously climbs on to its back and, and then, digging his knife into the shark's head to serve as a support and means of balance, the Malay uses his own legs as paddles and so rides the carcass back to the boat.

Spain's Railroads.

Spain has only 1,548 miles of railroad in her whole territory, or a little over four miles to every 10,000 inhabitants.

Cafe Not Closed in 150 Years.

There is a cafe in Venice which has never been closed, night or day, for 150 years.

Prisoners Need Air.

It is said that 40 per cent. of the prisoners of Austria die of consumption, caused by the dark cell mode of punishment.

Air Syringes.

In many European galleries the pictures are dusted by means of air syringes.

Bartel's Is the Standard.

"As good as Bartel's" is the claim often made by persons who sell inferior beer, porter and ale. Bartel's is the recognized standard beverage for people who use judgment in selecting that which enters their bodies. Drink nothing but the best. Bartel's is always the best. Charles Bozckowski, agent.

Schools of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction, has presented his annual report to Governor Hastings. From this report the following paragraphs have been taken:

"The election of borough superintendents as soon as the population reaches 5,000, relieves the pressure of work upon the county superintendent and enables that officer to give more time and attention to the remaining schools under his jurisdiction. Nevertheless the number of schools to be visited and the territory which must be covered in many counties compels the superintendent to spread his energies over too large an area and prevents him from achieving the best results of school supervision.

"There has been a marked increase in the number and size in the libraries established and maintained in connection with the public schools. Comparatively few districts have availed themselves of the recent library legislation. Voluntary contributions, however, answer the same purposes as taxes, and indicate a growing interest in good literature on the part of the patrons and friends of the public schools.

"A table has been prepared to show the effect of the act of July 15, 1897, upon the distribution of the state appropriation. In most instances the increase in the amount received occurred in districts in which the average per school (not school house) was and still is lower than in the district which suffered a decrease.

"Taking for comparison the figures furnished by Cadwalder Biddle, secretary of the state board of charities, showing the average cost of keeping a pauper at the different county homes in the state and comparing these figures with the salaries paid to teachers in the school year 1896-1897, it is found that in more than a dozen counties there were teachers who received less per year than the average cost of maintaining a pauper. In a surprisingly large number of counties there are teachers who get only a small sum in excess of what it would have cost the county officials to keep the same teachers in their almshouses. One superintendent found that there were teachers in his county teaching for $4 less per year than it cost the county on an average to keep one pauper.

"No one will claim that the indigent and the unfortunate are too well cared for. It is self-evident that teachers who receive for the annual term a sum below or even slightly in excess of this amount can make very little preparation for their work. To expect first-class work of them is to expect impossibilities. The struggle for bread exhausts their energies; they can not buy books on teaching or other professional literature."

A Fair Proposal.

A reporter of the TRIBUNE gleaned the following in an interview with the general agent of Stetson's Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company, which will appear at the Grand on Tuesday evening:

"This company is the largest and best Uncle Tom Company traveling, comprising thirty first-class artists. They have a grand double band and an orchestra of ten pieces. The African mandolin students are the best and only colored people appearing in public and performing on the Spanish mandolin. The Lone Star Quartet is claimed to be without an equal, and the Toppies, there they have something that charms all. Two Marks, the best that a big salary can secure. If we do not give the best performance of this piece ever seen in this city we will cheerfully refund the price of admission. Will any other Uncle Tom Company do this? No, because they have not the show to do so. Stetson's Company have."

$100 Reward, $100.
