"Samson" on Saturday Evening.
"Samson" was played by J. Walter Kennedy and his company at the Grand on Saturday evening. The audience was far below the usual number which attends plays, partly because business people cannot be present on Saturday evenings and partly because plays of this character do not appeal to a majority of play-goers of this community.

this character do not appeal to a majority of play-goers of this community.

It is quite possible that the company could have given a better performance. At times the acting was of a high order, especially that of Mr. Kennedy in the title role and Miss Estelle Keen as "Melcah," but at other times during the evening the entire company descended to very ordinary stage work.

This may have been due to the small number present, as the actors seemed in no mood for their tasks, and "cut" the play heavily.

The constant prompting and directing which some those who filled minor parts required showed that the company has not been together very long and further rehearsing would do no harm.

Even as it is, however, the play is worth seeing, and when the members become more familiar with the characters they are engaged to portray the company will be able to please any audience that understands the story of Samson.

Another Murder at Duryea.

Michael Corcoran, a hetel keeper at Duryea, was shot and killed by burglars early Saturday morning, after which the invaders, four in number, blew open the safe and secured several hundred dollars. The murder was, from the accounts given by Miss Mary Monahan, the housekeeper, a deliberate and cold-blooded crime, and she barely escaped the same fate. The robbers intended also to kill her, but one took her part, and they contended themselves with binding and gagging ker.

On account of the prominence of the victim, the murder has created tremendous excitement in the upper end of the county. Mr. Corcoran was ex-postmaster of the town, and bore an excellent reputation. He was prominent in Democratic circles, and previous to the last convention was a candidate for the nomination of recorder. Later he withdrew in favor of Dolph Glennon for sheriff, and nominated him in the convention. The deceased enjoyed the acquaintance and friendship of many lower end people.

No clue to the thieves and murderers has yet been obtained.

Steam-Pipe Blown Down.

Heavy snow and rain storms, accompanied by high winds, passed over this region yesterday afternoon and ovening. The only serious damage reported was the blowing down at Dritton of the large steam-pipe leading from the boiler-house to the shops. Several hundred feet of pipe went down and the shops are idle today. It is expected the damage will be repaired in time to resume work tomorrow.

Several signs throughout town were torn from their fastenings during the storm.

Bold Robbers Succeed.

A daring and successful burglary took place at A. L. Davenport's store, Plymouth, during the early hours of Friday morning. The burglars, of whom there were five, gained an entrance through the rear door. They drilled a hole in the safe, giant powder was used and the explosion which followed tore the door from its hinges and hurled it a distance of four feet. The daring robbers than carried away the money drawers and contents. They also rifled a case in front of the store, which contained gold pens and holders. Mr. Davenport had a couple of hundred dollars in the safe. Money orders aggregating about $80 were also taken.

A. E. Williams, who conducts an establishment nearby, heard the explosion which burst the safe, and looked out of his bedroom window. One of the thieves saw him and told him to get in and shot at him at the same time. There is no clue.

An All-Around Man

An All-Around Man.

Harry Bocker, of Girardville, a man of considerable reputation in Schuylkill county, is the "angel" for the Kane Opera Company, which played a short time ago in some of the neighboring towns. This is the first operatic concern with which he has been connected, but not his first venture in the show business. He conducted a big circuit of eighty-eight houses several seasons ago, had two companies on the road, one of which toured the South, and last season had a house of his own in New York. He is now running the Girardville house. Besides all these ventures he has at the same time been in the lumber business

Which Was Tried in the Lehigh County Court Last Week.

All day Thursday the session of court at Allentown was taken up with a discussion of the case of H. B. Weiss vs. James J. Gillespie, who at one time conducted a collecting agency in Freeland and is now in the same business in Allentown.

Mr. Weiss conducted a creamery near Coopersburg and charges Gillespie with defrauding him out of $1,270.88, claiming that the defendant had cheated him out of that amount by misrepresentations and the substitution of worthless stocks for cash due him.

On July 1, 1897, he became a member of Gillespie's collecting agency by paying $50, to which he added another $50 one year later. He placed in the hands of the agency certain amounts for collection and agreed to pay a fee of 10 per cent on all money collected.

In answer to the charge the defendant stated that in each of the stock transactions the plaintiff inquired among his friends as to their value and only accepted them after he was satisfied; as to the other sworn statements, he made a sweeping denial.

The jury brought in a verdict of $1,177.64 in favor of the plaintiff.
