Hoolley's Friend, Lord de la Warr.
Lord de la Warr, whose name has become well known through the Hoolley scandals, is not yet thirty years old, yet he has had a varied and in some respects remarkable career. At first he tried the inviting but difficult game of diplomacy, and failed. Then he went out as a commissioner on pearl fishing for a well-known jeweler. Then he tried telegraphy. But he has been signally successful in nothing. In person Lord de la Warr is tall, thin with a small, light mustache and slightly bent shoulders. When a boy he used to play with the duke of Clarence and York. Hide-and-seek was their favorite amusement. The Wates boys also wanted to win, and being bigger and older they occasionally found it convenient to use a little healthy coercion. And once the duke of York soundly thrashed Lord de la Warr because he would not let him win. From present appearances it looks as though Hoolley were also thrashing Lord de la Warr for not letting him win.

Just What He Said.

STRONG STATEMENTS.

Three Women Relieved of Female Troubles by Mrs. Pinkham.

From Mrs. A. W. SMITH, 53 Summer St., Biddeford, Me.:
"For several years I suffered with various diseases peculiar to my sex. Was troubled with a burning sensation across the small of my back, that all-gone feeling, was despondent, fretful and discouraged; the least exertion tired me. I tried several doctors but received little benefit. At last I decided to give your Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The effect of the first bottle was magical. Those symptoms of weakness that I was afflicted with, vanished like vapor before the sun. I cannot speak too highly of your valuable remedy. It is truly a boon to woman."

From Mrs. MELISSA PHILLIPS, Lexington, Ind., to Mrs. Pinkham:
"Before I began taking your medicine I had suffered for two years with that tired feeling, headache, backache, no appetite, and a run-down condition of the system. I could not walk across the room. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound, one box of Liver Pills and used one package of Sanative Wash, and now feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work."

From Mrs. MOLLIE E. HERREL, Powell Station, Tenn.:
"For three years I suffered with such a weakness of the back, I could not perform my household duties. I also had falling of the womb, terrible bearing-down pains and headache. I have taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel like a new woman. I recommend your medicine to every woman I know."

NEW YORK FASHIONS

THE LATEST DESIGNS FOR WINTER COSTUMES

New York City (Special).—The most radical change this season in all the array of fashionable garments has been made in the contour and general style of capes. The most approved models, like the golf cape shown in the large engraving, are longer than any we have worn for years, and the shawl shapes and other effects are wholly new, and in most instances very odd and striking. One model is formed like an open-fronted circular of three-quarter length, the lower dip of the cape in the back coming well over the length of the dress. To the entire edge of this cape is added a circular flounce, very wide at the back and graduating up to merely two or three inches as it nears the throat. Another somewhat shorter style, but entirely covering the lowest curve of the hips, is very much out away on the fronts, revealing nearly all of the dressy front of the bodice of the gown made en suite. The entire edge of this cape is cut in deep scallops which are bordered with either silk gimp or a line of narrow fur, and beneath these scalloped edges is set a gathered ruffle, which is likewise graduated in width.

This ruffle is made sometimes of silk the color of the cape, or of material matching the cape. A feature of very many of the capes, coats, over-skirts, redingotes and fancy jackets this season is the curved effect given to the fronts. Some of the models in coats arch directly toward the hips, like a man's very English cutaway.

No wardrobe is wholly complete without a wrap that can be slipped on and off with ease. The novel cape shown in the accompanying small illustration serves every need, while at the same time it is chic in the extreme, representing as it does the latest Parisian style. The model is in satin-faced cloth in soft mode, with yokes and bands of applique edged with velvet ribbon, but bangles and all heavy silks, as well as lace, are equally appropriate.

The foundation is circular and extends to the edge of the third ruffle. The yoke is faced on, and the two upper ruffles are stitched into place as indicated, but the third and last is seamed to the edge. All three are circular.

ular in shape and they, as well as the foundation cape, are lined with silk. The pointed revers are cut separate and attached to the fronts and are both faced with white mousseline de soie, which was purchased shirred ready for use. At the neck is a standing collar, within which is a double frill of mousseline, which is also white.

To make this waist for a lady of medium size five and a half yards of material twenty-two inches wide will be required.

Smart Frocks for Girls.
Many smart frocks for little girls are braided in straight and zigzag lines around the skirt above the hem. The majority of the bodices end at the waist in a band, and jacket bodices usually are held in place by a belt. Yokes are frequently elaborately braided and supplemented by caplike trimmings on the shoulders, uniting in the epaulettes, with a point falling on the fore part of the arm.

Girls' Blouse Reefers.
The combination of reffer collar and blouse jacket shown in the illustration is both novel and stylish. As here given, the material is covert cloth

LITERARY NOTES.

George W. Cable, who has just ended a somewhat lengthy visit to England, where he was very cordially received, promises to write a book of his impressions of England. Turn about is fair play.

The demolition of Furnival's inn, Holborn, is now almost complete. The last portion of the birthplace of Pickwick to fall under the destroyer's hand will be the gateway, which still stands forlorn amid the ruin—leading nowhere.

Surprise has been expressed that the Ashburnham first folio Shakespeare brought only $2,925 at a recent sale. It was supposed that not less than $4,000 would be realized from it. The reason given is that after it was catalogued two or three small blemishes were discovered, which were thought to detract from its value.

Mr. Swinburne left Oxford without taking a degree and takes pride in avowing his illiteracy. Notwithstanding this fact, he is a master of Greek and French. He grows more eccentric in his waxing years, now approaching three score and ten, lives near London, but is almost never seen in society, and is particularly fond of children.

Mr. Third Flat—Great Scott! Who is that thumping the piano? Mrs. Third Flat—Thumping, indeed! Perhaps you'd be surprised to hear that Gladys is practicing how to read music. Mr. Third Flat—Can't she learn without reading aloud?—New York World.

His Prophecy.
Gerald—If you don't marry me I shall go to the dogs. Geraldine—You won't have to go far. There's one waiting for you at the gate.—New York World.

Co-operation in England.
Distributive co-operation in England now embraces more than 1,800 societies, with a capital of $100,000,000 and a trade of close up to $350,000,000 annually.

Creeping Consumption

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you a sudden blow. It does not come that way. It creeps its way along.

First, you think it is a little cold; nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats.

The suddenness comes when you have a hemorrhage. Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping.

You can do it with

INBRED AMONG ANIMALS.
Monkeys, Apes, Huts, Birds and Insects Show a Likeness for Intoxicants.

It is a curious fact that there are toppers innumerable in the animal kingdom. Bipeds and quadrupeds alike are fond of alcoholic drinks, and although some display aversion when first tasting liquor, they soon acquire a craving for it. Chickens and ducks, after having once tasted brandy, become absolute slaves to the drink. They refuse to eat, grow thin, and exhibit symptoms of dejection when unable to obtain their favorite tippie. Monkeys and apes are passionately fond of spirituous liquors. Of these, Buffon's wine-bibbling chimpanzee was a shining example, and Brehm, the German zoologist, owned several mandrills that drank wine regularly and did not dislaid brandy. Herbivorous animals frequently become intoxicated, innocently enough, through eating decayed fruit. In orchards, oxen and cows, after eating overripe apples, have been seen to display all the symptoms of drunkenness. They stagger, their eyes lose expression and they grow sleepy. It seems that animals are susceptible to alcoholism in proportion to the development of their intelligence. Elephants are fond of wine and rum, and rats gnaw the staves of wine casks to get at the contents. Cats, however, rarely exhibit a fondness for intoxicants. Among birds the parrot takes first place as a habitual toper. Insects have many opportunities to become intoxicated, and it is the most active that most frequently avail themselves of the chance. There is an aromatic, intoxicating fluid in linden blossoms for which bees show an especial fondness. Instances have been observed where swarms of bees regaled themselves with the poisonous linden nectar until they exhibited all the signs of intoxication. Hundreds fell helplessly to the roadside, to be trampled under foot.—New York Herald.

How to Get Strong

A system which has become run down by the trying weather of the past summer is not in a condition to meet the severe winter of this climate and will easily fall a prey to disease unless a proper tonic is used.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best medicine in the world for building up and strengthening an enervated system.

Do not confuse these pills with ordinary purgative pills. They do NOT act on the bowels, thereby further weakening the body. They build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Major A. C. Bishop, of 315 Third Ave., Detroit, Mich., is a well-known civil engineer. He says: "When I had my last spell of sickness and came out of the hospital I was a sorry sight. I could not regain my strength, and could not walk over a block for several weeks. I read some articles in the newspapers regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which convinced me that they were worth trying and I bought two boxes. I did not take them for my complexion but for strength. After using them I felt better, and knew they did me worlds of good. I am pleased to recommend them to invalids who need a tonic or to build up a shattered constitution."—Detroit Free Press.
