THE CLOSING EXERCISES.

The large audience filed out thoroughly pleased with the good work accomplished during the year which has just ended.

The officers and directors of the institute are as follows: President, A. C. Leisnering, Upper Lehigh; vice president, Owen Fowler, Freeland; treasurer, John Rowland, Drifton; secretary, William B. Fry, Drifton; directors, Eckley B. Cox, Jr., Harry E. Sweeney, E. A. Oberrender, Drifton; Harry B. Price, Upper Lehigh; W. H. Smith, Jeddo; W. H. Davies, Hazleton.

The faculty is composed of the following instructors: William E. Martin, principal; C. E. Edmunds, Harry McClelland, John J. McBrierty and Edward F. Hanlon.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh, being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

THE CLOSING EXERCISES.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL YEAR PASSED BY THE M. & M. INSTITUTE.

Founder's Day Address Delivered by Ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison—Cash Prizes of $130 Distributed Among the Students—Well-Delivered Orations.

The sixth annual closing exercises of the Mining and Mechanical Institute of the Anthracite Coal Region of Pennsylvania were held at the Grand opera house on Friday evening. As in former years the stage was profusely decorated with the national colors and potted plants, which gave an inviting appearance under the curtain rose.

Hon. George D. McCreary, of Philadelphia, ably filled the position of chairman of the evening. He has so often acted in this capacity in behalf of the institute that the exercises would not seem complete without his presence.

On the stage sat such students of the institute as were assigned to take part in the exercises, the members of the faculty, the board of directors and the speaker of the evening, ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison, of Philadelphia.

The auditorium, balcony and gallery of the opera house were filled when St. Ann's band opened the exercises with a selection, and the large audience remained seated to the conclusion and gave strict attention to the several speakers during the rendition of the program.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

The distribution of $130 cash in prizes to those of the students who, in the judgment of the directors, distinguished themselves in their studies during the year just closed was made Principal William E. Martin. The fortunate students were as follows:
Roger Dever, Freeland, $20.
Patrick Green, Jeddo, $20.
William Lesser, Jeddo, $10.
Charles McElwee, Drifton, $10.
George Donnenny, Freeland, $10.
Charles Dever, Freeland, $10.
John Dusheck, Freeland, $10.
Walter Davis, Freeland, $10.
Charles Mietke, Freeland, $10.
John Lindsay, Freeland, $10.
William Dinn, Freeland, $10.

SPEAKER OF THE EVENING.

Ex-Governor Pattison was greeted with rounds of applause when he rose to acknowledge the introduction given by the chairman. He was on the program to deliver the Founder's Day address, and, without intent to disparage in any way the work of the several talented gentlemen who previously have delivered the addresses of the evening, the words of Mr. Pattison in his references to the founder, the late Hon. Eckley B. Cox, undoubtedly had a deeper significance and meaning than those of former speakers, for few men in Pennsylvania had a better opportunity to study the man, in one certain respect, than was given to Mr. Pattison.

For this reason, in particular, Mr. Pattison's words in eulogizing the founder were received by the audience as coming from one who knew him most intimately, not in the lines of work in which Mr. Cox's reputation was greatest, but from their associations in the legislative halls and the politics of our state, where man's nature invariably receives its most severe test.

AS HE KNEW MR. COXE.

His ability, his genius, his philanthropy, have all been told of at institute exercises by men competent and qualified to speak upon them; it remained for Mr. Pattison to tell of him as he found him in those paths of life where so many of our seeming great men have had their steps diverted from that which is just, honest and right.

Mr. Pattison, at the outset, acknowledged himself as somewhat embarrassed by the thorough covering by the students of all the fields of appropriate talk. However, he began his address with a few humorous anecdotes, which captivated the audience, and prepared them for the more serious words that followed.

He feelingly referred to the fact that had Mr. Cox lived he would be sixty years of age on the 4th (yesterday) of this month.

His acquaintance with the founder, he said, extended over a period of twenty years.

He knew him as a patriotic citizen, whose course in life could not by any means or inducements be swerved from what he believed to be right.

PATRIOTIC AND CONSCIENTIOUS.

As a member of the legislature, the ex-governor stated, he knew him to be one of the most conscientious men who has ever represented the people.

His efforts as a law-maker were at all times directed to the public good.

His incorruptibility and his determination to do what he thought was his duty to his constituents, while in the legislature, made the name of Senator Cox a most respected one among his colleagues and among men in public positions.

Politics, said the speaker, did not control Mr. Cox in those matters which concerned the public weal.

He arose above partisanship and the FIGHT OF THE FACTIONS.

Luzerne Republicans Donned War Paint on Saturday Evening.

The Republican primaries of Luzerne county were held on Saturday evening. Today the district conventions will be held to choose delegates to the state convention, and all kinds of claims are being made by the various factions.

Reports indicate that the county has gone half for Quay and half for the anti-Quay people.

In the First district Frank W. Wheaton, anti-Quay, will have no opposition and will doubtless be elected.

In the Second district Representative E. A. Coray, anti-Quay, will very likely be made delegate without any contest.

In the Third district the Quay man, Samuel Salsburg, is expected to win.

Ambrose Reese, of Parsons, in the Fifth, and Arnold Williams, in the Sixth, both Quay men, have no opposition.

FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS.

Mr. Cox, the speaker continued, endeavored to give to the generation in which he lived the best thought of his brain and the fruit of his education, and before his death he laid at least one foundation of character for future generations by his founding of this institute.

The ex-governor then traced the history of our system of education back to the days of the landing of the Mayflower pilgrims, who came ashore with a spelling book in one hand and the bible in the other; then later came William Penn, who shortly after his arrival opened the famous Philadelphia school known as the Penn Charter School, which is still in existence, and whose seal of incorporation, dated 1703, bears the motto, "Good instruction is better than riches."

EMPIRE OF OPPORTUNITY.

Education in America is so fully recognized and encouraged by every state that while other nations are known as the empire of the mountains, empire of the lands, empire of the seas, etc., the United States has earned for itself the title of the empire of opportunity, for the greatest opportunities of life come through that education which will mould character and make of men better men.

That prosperity and advancement of civilization depend upon education was instanced by the territory our town and surroundings occupy today; a century ago it was in the hands of the red man, who lacked the necessary education to make use of the countless wealth of the region.

The speaker exhorted the young men of the community to take advantage of their opportunities. He assured them that the circle of success is precisely the same in small things as in those of greatest spheres of action—that the man who when life's work is about over can look back and say he embraced his opportunities and did his work well, and that he was true to himself and true to his fellow men, that man is a triumph, a success, let his field be ever so small.

ORATIONS OF THE STUDENTS.

The orations of the students selected to represent the institute at the exercises were up to the high standard attained on previous similar occasions. The young men, several of whom appeared on a stage for the first time, delivered their addresses with confidence and assurance, and in a manner that convinced the audience that they are familiar with the subjects which had been assigned them or selected by them.

With "Pluck" as his subject, John Lindsay delivered the salutatory, followed by Charles Mietke on "Science, the Light of the Material World." An oration on "Expansion," by Walter Davis, was well received, and his views were appropriately followed by the subject, "The Future of America," by John Dusheck, Jr.

Patrick Green gave an interesting address on "The Importance of Theory to the Miner," and Charles Dever on "Small Things" showed the necessity of paying great attention to little matters of life.

"Anti-Expansion" was the title of George Donnenny's oration and his remarks received much applause. Charles McElwee gave an interesting biographical sketch of the "Life of George Washington." William Lesser on "The Right Start for a Young Man" presented his opinions in an able manner.

THE VALEDICTORY.

Roger Dever delivered the valedictory and won many congratulations on his success. His difficult assignment was handled in an original and entertaining style and gave pleasure to the audience, faculty and directors. After reviewing the causes which led to the founding of the institute and the work it has so far accomplished, he called attention to the success which has crowned the efforts of its former pupils who have entered Lehigh and other leading universities. He appealed to the community to continue its moral and financial support of the institute, and promised that the institution would well repay the interest taken in it by the people.

Chairman McCreary closed the exercises with his usual good humor and advice. He also announced that the building fund has received a subscription of $5,000, also that another subscription of $1,000 for the furnishing of the building when erected has been given the institute. The names of these benefactors were not made public.

BUILDING FUND COLLECTION.

A collection for the building fund was taken up during the exercises and $146.83 was realized. It is the intention of the directors to erect a home for the institute in Freeland as soon as the funds will permit.

The exercises, as a whole, were probably the most successful yet held, and

DEATH OF MISS SARAH DEVER.

At 4.30 o'clock on Friday morning Miss Sarah Dever died at the late residence of her aunt, Mrs. Sarah Gallagher, on West Main street. In Thursday's issue it was announced that she was not expected to live through the following night, and such was the case, death appearing before morning had dawned.

The deceased took sick in Philadelphia last spring and on April 13 last was brought to her aunt's home here for treatment. On April 24 her aunt died suddenly and this had a depressing effect upon the young woman, and she never fully recovered from the blow.

Miss Dever was aged 25 years and 1 month. She is survived by one sister, Miss Mary, who cared for her during her illness, also by two sisters, six brothers and her parents in Ireland.

The funeral took place at 9.30 o'clock this morning. A requiem mass was read over the remains at St. Ann's church, after which the internment was made in St. Ann's cemetery.

Jersey Central Trouble.

It is possible that there will be a big strike on the Central Railroad of New Jersey if President Maxwell adheres to the course which he has marked out. About a month ago blanks were sent to the employes, which, when properly filled out, would give a history of each man and an account of his duties. This was held to be a step in the plan of wholesale discharges and a committee called upon President Maxwell and protested against the order. It is said that Mr. Maxwell refused to discuss the matter with the committee and announced that he would deal only with the men as individuals.

Bids for New Bridges.

County Controller Lloyd is advertising for bids for the erection of an iron bridge across Green Mountain run, White Haven, for which $2,000 has been appropriated.

Also for bids for the erection of stone arch bridges as follows:
Across Loug run, Butler, $450 appropriation.
Across Pond creek, Foster, $800 appropriation.
Across Black creek, Hazle, $1,200 appropriation.
Across Big Nescopeck creek, Sugarloaf, $1,350 appropriation.

Death Was Not Accidental.

The suspicious and mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Thomas Davis, whose body was found on the Lehigh Valley tracks at Sugar Notch, were sufficient to convince the coroner's jury that Davis met death by violence. Dr. E. Williams testified that Davis' wounds could not have been caused by his being struck by a train. The jury returned a verdict that Davis came to his death by violence at the hands of a person or persons unknown. His friends think he was waylaid and robbed.

A Death and a Wedding.

Kate Hawk, aged 14 years, died at her parents' home in Sandy Run Thursday morning. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawk. Death was due to a complication of diseases. The young girl was buried in Freeland cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

On Thursday afternoon a sister of the deceased, Miss Mary Hawk, was quietly married to George Hoodmacher, of Freeland, by Rev. W. W. Hartman, of town. The marriage had been postponed twice before on account of illness.

A Well-known Brewer Dead.

Charles D. Kaler, a pioneer resident of Mahanoy City, died on Wednesday in Philadelphia, where he had been ill for some months past. Besides being the wealthiest individual in the town, he was a great benefactor, and the most progressive business man. He was owner of an extensive brewery, the opera house and a dozen leading hotels, together with the prettiest residence in town. For years he was vice president of the leading bank and prominently identified with the G. A. R.

Returned From General Synod.

Rev. J. B. Kerschner and Mr. and Mrs. A. Oswald arrived home at 6.34 o'clock Friday evening from Tiffin, Ohio, where they attended the triennial general synod of the Reformed Church in the United States. The synod was largely attended and many interesting matters connected with the church were ably discussed and acted on. The sessions of the Women's Missionary Society were also held at Tiffin at the same time. The business people of the city royally entertained the visiting delegates. The city has about 18,000 population. It is the county seat of Seneca county and has numerous handsome buildings, including a fine jail which is at present without an inmate. The Freeland people enjoyed their ride of 1,600 miles very much both ways, as the scenery along the B. & O. is unsurpassable at this time of the year.

At St. John's Reformed church last evening Rev. Kerschner delivered a very entertaining lecture-sermon on "The Echoes of the General Synod."
