W. H. DAVIES ELECTED,

WILL BE DELEGATE TO THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

In a Three-Cornered Fight the Mine Inspector Won on the Tenth Ballot—A Hot Convention—Heelers Were Numerous and Boodle Flowed Freely.

William H. Davies, mine inspector of this district, was selected on Monday as delegate from the Fourth legislative district to the next Republican state convention. His election was accomplished by the lavish use of money and the influence of his position and that of James E. Roderick, chief of the state bureau of mining.

The convention was the most corrupt gathering that has ever been held in the Fourth district. Bribery and boodle stalked triumphantly through the hall and but little effort was made by the heelers to mask their nefarious work.

The two factions of the Quay machine fought a money fight. The Roderick faction was too strong for the Kline crowd, consequently they won when the price demanded by certain delegates was paid. The anti-Quay people apparently had but a limited amount to invest in votes, and they made very little headway for Drake after the balloting began.

All the Republican politicians of lower Luzerne and some from Carbon county were on the ground early and badgered and bulldozed obstinate delegates from the time of their arrival in town until the winning ballot was taken.

The firemen's committee again appeared in regard to the use of the park on July 4. The matter of giving permission to erect a dancing platform was given to the park committee, with instructions to procure an opinion from the solicitor.

The property committee was ordered to have hose house lock repaired and the chief of the fire department was ordered to again test the plugs.

DEATH OF M. E. FRITZINGER.

Milton E. Fritzinger died on Monday in Pittsburg, where he was stricken with typhoid fever five weeks ago. He was a resident of town from boyhood until shortly over a year ago, when he accepted work as trainman on a railroad at Pittsburg. When he became sick the Railroaders' Brotherhood did everything within the scope of human power to save him, but failed.

The deceased is a son of Owen Fritzinger. He was familiarly known as "Ell," and is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: William and Jerry Fritzinger, and Mrs. Daniel Shelhamer, Mrs. William Birkbeck and Mrs. George Jacquit. He was aged 27 years.

The remains arrived here on Tuesday evening and the scene at his father's home was heartrending when the corpse was brought in. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Freeland cemetery.

This is the second son which was brought home dead from the West to Mr. and Mrs. Fritzinger. Six years ago Wesley, while employed at railroading in New Mexico, died there and was brought here for interment.

TO INCREASE THE BUILDING FUND.

At a meeting of the directors of the Mining and Mechanical Institute last evening the following gentlemen were selected as a committee to wait upon the citizens of Freeland and solicit subscriptions for the building fund of the institute: R. J. Dever, Jonah Evans, A. Oswald and W. E. Martin.

As the town will reap considerable benefit, financially and in prestige, by the erection of a building which will be used as a seat of learning for all the young men of the anthracite coal field who desire to increase their knowledge of mining and mechanical works, it is but proper that the town should contribute its share toward establishing the institute in a home of its own.

It is the intention to model the institute on the lines of the Lehigh university and to give education free or as nearly free as possible. It is also provided that in case the institute should fail in its work the building and land shall become the property of Freeland borough, to be used forever for educational purposes.

The committee will call upon the citizens in a few days.

Manufacturing a New Coal Jig.

Work has been commenced by the Eagle Iron Works on a new coal jig which has been invented by Samuel Nevins, of Summit Hill. The jig has been thoroughly tested and the results attained were beyond the greatest expectations of the inventor.

The trial of the new jig proved three points of superiority over all others now in use: It will clean more coal in a given time; it will reduce the amount of sludge from 1 to 1½ per cent and it works smoothly, causing but little wear on the breaker or the machine itself, whereas other jigs almost tear the joints of a building apart, besides wearing themselves out in a short time.

In a short time it is expected that their demand will cause a big increase in the working force of this industry and another impetus will be given the prosperity of our town.

Associated Wheelmen.

The annual meeting of the Associated Wheelmen of Freeland was held at the Central hotel on Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Eckley B. Cox, Jr.
Vice president—E. H. Albert.

Financial secretary—George J. Rippe.
Treasurer—J. S. McDonald.

Directors—Eckley B. Cox, Jr., H. C. Koons, M. H. Hunsicker, Edward Mochamer, George Welch, James McHugh, Charles Farrell, F. H. Albert.

It is said that the Wheelmen have employed two detectives to arrest illegal riders.

A parade will take place in the morning, headed by St. Ann's band.

WILL LIFE BE WORTH LIVING?

Prof. C. Colos, editor of Kingston Storms and Signs, makes some weird and dreadful predictions for June. Here are a few of the terrible calamities which will overtake the earth this month:

"We have reasons to believe that the general health of the people will be bad; that malaria and fevers will predominate; that discontent, rumors of wars and great discord generally will prevail; that the cereal markets will be subject to bad breaks; that the first part of the month will prove a very unfavorable time to start new enterprises; that great conflagrations, accidents and awful crimes will surprise the people; that rabid animals, diseases of horses and cattle will annoy the farmer; that plant lice, caterpillars, locusts, grasshoppers and army worms will overrun vegetation in many sections of the country; that heat waves and cold waves will surprise us; that destructive storms of rain and hail will destroy fields of grain; that high winds and electrical storms will cause much damage; that cyclones will sweep the Western and Southern states, and hurricanes will sweep the seas; that the foreign countries will give birth to many evil depressions, and great floods and earthquakes may be recorded."
