ROSY OUTLOOK FOR ANTHRACITE.

The June letter of the Anthracite Coal Operators' Association says: "Calculating on the June basis, 4,153,000 tons, and applying the same percentages, the output for each month from July to December would be as follows:

July	4,153,004
August	4,051,604
September	4,254,584
October	5,176,010
November	5,063,837
December	4,008,871
Total	26,708,000

"It may be granted that these figures are not convincing proof that the shipments will reach the figure named. Indeed, one cause more than any other will tend to retard production—the difficulty in securing miners and laborers.
"Even now, while mining only 3,000,000 tons per month, both the companies and individual operators are finding it difficult to secure a full force of men, and in some instances, collieries have been unable to mine their full quota.
"Unless a marked change occurs it will not be surprising, therefore, if the months of October and November, instead of producing over 5,000,000 tons each, will fall considerably short of this amount, and it is questionable whether the production in any of the other months could be increased enough to make this good.
"With firm prices and a tonnage anything near that calculated, the year will show the greatest prosperity the anthracite industry has ever known."

PENNSYLVANIA POLITICS.

HUMILIATING POSITION OF THE GREAT KEYSTONE STATE.

Great State, But a Small Factor in National Affairs, "Except on Election Day or When Volunteers Are Called." Scored by the Washington "Post."

Pennsylvania's humiliating position in the national game of politics now being played for the organization of the next house of representatives is recognized and commented on in Washington. The sorry figure the state's big delegation cuts in the matter of influence in the Republican house has been observed since Mr. Reed took himself out of the speakership proposition.
The following paragraph in an ultra-Quay organ furnishes a text to the Washington Post for some observations in its issue of Friday on Pennsylvania's place in national politics. The paragraph reads: "Pennsylvania has made herself felt in this speakership question, and has been a very large factor."
QUAY METHODS SCORED.
The Post, which by the way is an independent paper, but a thick-and-thin supporter of ex-Senator Quay, scores the methods of the latter boss in the following comment on the above quotation: "Funny as that looks and sounds, it was not intended as a joke. However provocative it may be of laughter—and we think it will send a snicker clear across the continent—it was written into a solemn leader on 'Pennsylvania and the Speakership,' the object of which was to prove that the result of the Bingham movement has been that the delegation has been rounded up for Henderson, and because of this attitude New York has dropped her own candidate and the thing is settled. And, therefore—and here is the pith of the article—"Pennsylvania will be powerful in the important committees, and with a friendly speaker in the chair should be able to carry through those great projects which are so necessary for her commercial prosperity. We must have a deep-water channel in the river, and we must make League Island the great naval center."
"The Post will not envy Pennsylvania any good thing that she may get. However affluently she may be endowed with committee chairmanships, however deep may be her water, and whatever prominence League Island may attain, the Post will rejoice in all that makes for the welfare of a great-hearted, generous, patriotic commonwealth."
PENNSYLVANIA'S GREATNESS.
"Great as is the Keystone state in many respects, vast as is her influence in the business world, she is but a small factor in national affairs on all the days in the year except those on which elections are held or volunteer soldiers called for."
"She has great men in manufactures, in finance, in railroad management, in mining, and in the professions. She shows up grandly in the census, and her part in the world's philanthropic work is well performed. But the comparatively small and poor state of Maine has been a greater national power in the sense of having greater men and holding higher places than Pennsylvania, ever since Hannibal Hamlin and Lot M. Morrill left the Democratic fold to take part in and build up a new party.
"Almost half a century ago Simon Cameron transferred the Democratic political machine under his control to the Republican party. Since that time Pennsylvania's vote has been cast for every Republican presidential candidate. But the list of really great men whom she has contributed to the public service in any or all the departments of the national government would occupy small space. Why this is we shall not attempt to explain, but it is a notorious fact. And that is the main reason why that great state has little influence in politics aside from her vote. And the fact that her vote may be depended on really reduces her influence."

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES.

The event of the season occurred on Wednesday at the residence of George Wilmot, Sr., when his youngest daughter, Mary, was united in marriage to James W. Shaw, of town. The bride entered the parlor accompanied by her niece, the maid of honor, Miss Lulu Krommes. She was met there by the groom and his brother, Edward Shaw. The latter acted in the capacity of best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Bischoff, of this place, and was witnessed by the immediate friends of the young couple. The bride was attired in a traveling dress of tan-covert cloth trimmed with white satin and cream colored lace and the maid of honor wore organdie. After a bounteous repast Mr. and Mrs. Shaw left for an extended trip to the seashore. They will be at home to their many friends in their newly furnished house on Main street after this week.
John Hudish was instantly killed in the mines on Thursday by a fall of coal. The unfortunate man began work only a few days before the accident. He was 34 years of age and resided at Brivanton, Freeland. He was a Pole and was buried on Saturday morning at St. Ann's cemetery.
Ex-Congressman Monroe H. Kulp, of Shamokin, visited ex-Congressman John Leisenring yesterday.

ANOTHER MINE FIRE IS RAGING.

The big empire mine of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company at Wilkesbarre caught fire Friday night, and in examining its extent four of the most prominent officials in that region were overcome by gas and had a narrow escape from death. The men were General Superintendent W. J. Richards; Morgan R. Morgans, inside superintendent; Reese Morgan, superintendent of the Hollenback colliery, and G. M. Williams, mine inspector of the district.
When the fire was discovered a force of men with 2,500 feet of hose entered the mine and proceeded to an abandoned working about two miles distant. Here they encountered dense smoke and heavy gases. The men could make no headway and so decided after a consultation. The officials decided to enter the mine later, and in their efforts to locate the scene of the fire were overcome by gas.
The officials were rescued with difficulty and for some hours were in a serious condition.
The fire is above the main gangways that connect with the Hollenback, Stanton and South Wilkesbarre collieries, and it will be impossible to drown the fire without flooding all of the workings of these collieries.
Inspector Williams expressed the opinion that the only way the progress of the fire could be retarded would be to close it in on both sides with brick and masonry, and in that way extinguish it.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

In the smallest type used in the Tribune's columns appeared an advertisement on Thursday giving notice of an estray dog. A few hours after the paper was out the owner, Joseph Fenstermacher, read the ad and recovered his hound from the advertiser, M. Pottochny.
On Friday there appeared a claimant for the overcoat which was advertised three times in these columns. An Upper Lehigh gentleman proved ownership and the overcoat was delivered to him by the finder, Thomas Evans, of South Heberton.
Advertising pays when it is placed in a live newspaper.
May Get No Public Building.
The supervising architect of the treasury department, after examining the sites offered for the new government building at Wilkesbarre, has come to the conclusion that the property is all held at too high a figure. The valuation of property in that city is something like that on Broad or Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. The appropriation made by congress is not large enough to permit of purchasing such expensive sites.

MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS.

ESTATE OF MARGARET O'DONNELL.

Letters testamentary upon the above named estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make payment, and those having claims or demands to present the same, without delay, to Mary Woodring.

MINES AND RAILROADS.

The annual examinations for mine foreman and assistant mine foreman certificates for the Fifth anthracite district will be held in the Pine street school building at Hazleton on June 22 and 23, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. each day. The board of examiners consists of Inspector W. H. Davies, Superintendent James E. Roderick, Robert Monroe and Patrick Kelley.
The Weatherly Herald states that that town has been decided upon by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company as the distributing centre of that company for all its collieries in the Lehigh and Schuylkill regions. If this proves true, Weatherly will fare better than ever before.
Pay days in this vicinity this week are as follows: Today, Lehigh Valley Railroad Company; Tuesday, Drifton and Eckley; Thursday, D. S. & S. Railroad; Saturday, Jeddo, Upper Lehigh, Sandy Run, Pond Creek and Hazle Brook.
The United Mine Workers are prospering in the Schuylkill and the Lackawanna regions. At Mt. Carmel a brass band, composed entirely of members of the order, helps to infuse enthusiasm in the rallies held by the organizers.
A ton and a half of stolen brass has been found by Hazleton police in that city. It was stolen from machinery at different collieries in the region. Over 1,000 pounds are said to have come from Sandy Run.
The local railroaders did not observe Railroaders' Memorial Day yesterday. Owing to a delay in completing the arrangements, the celebration has been postponed.
All collieries supplied with cars by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company will work five days this week. This will continue until the end of June.
Miners everywhere are asking one another why their wages are not increased. Operators will do well to take heed of this matter.

THE FUNERAL OF M. E. FRITZINGER.

The funeral of the late Milton E. Fritzinger took place on Thursday afternoon, and the esteem in which he was held by the community was attested by the large number of people who assembled at his parents' home to show their respect. Services were conducted in St. John's church by Rev. J. B. Kerschner, after which the remains were laid in the family plot in Freeland cemetery.
The funeral was also attended by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Knights of Pythias and a large delegation of D. S. & S. Railroad employes. The floral offerings were beautiful and numerous.
