Large Crowds in Town.

Freeland was visited yesterday by numbers of people from Wilkesbarre and other Wyoming valley towns. The Lehigh Valley Railroad excursion rate of $1 for the round trip from the county seat served as an inducement to hundreds of upper denizens to spend the day at Freeland. Ten cars were filled here shortly after 12 o'clock from the county seat. The majority of the excursionists were base ball admirers, but there were also many others who took advantage of the low rate to spend a day with relatives and friends here. The train returned at 8 o'clock last evening.

During the afternoon trolley excursions were run from McAdoo and South Side towns, which further swelled the crowd here, and it is safe to say that there are many more thousand dollars in town today as a result of the visitors' presence.

Wilkesbarre Man Murdered.

From the Bluefield, W. Va., Telegraph.

Early on Sunday morning, near Thacker, William McNeals, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was shot and instantly killed by Peter R. Hall. From the information at hand it appears that for some time young Hall and McNeals have been working together at a lumber camp. Their relations have never been friendly, and on Saturday they had a violent quarrel, but no blows were exchanged.

Saturday night Hall lingered long over the flowing bowl and in the small hours of the early morning the liquor, which was of the fighting kind, began to get in its work. Hall became boastful of his prowess, and avowed his intention to "kill somebody before the day was done."

About a week ago another Hall, a brother, killed a man near Dry Fork and was arrested and lodged in jail. Peter announced to the public that he was bloodthirsty and was anxious to join his brother in the Williamson jail.

About this time McNeals appeared on the scene, and Hall, we are informed, without warning, shot him twice, one ball passing through the lungs and resulting in instant death.

Hall attempted to escape but was taken into custody by a posse of citizens and turned over to the authorities.

Latest Ballot Mark Decision.

Chief Justice Sterret, of the supreme court, has handed down an opinion in the Gearhart township election contest from Northumberland county which will be of interest to the voters of the entire state. Judge Savidge decided some time ago that a voter making a cross in the circle at the head of the column on the ticket, not containing the names of the candidates for all the offices to be voted for could not vote for another person who is a candidate for an office for which no nominee was contained in said column, by marking a cross in the square opposite the name of such person in another column.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Savidge were taken and the case appealed to the supreme court. That court reversed Judge Savidge and sustained the election board of said township and directed the contestants to pay the costs.

By the decision of the supreme court a voter may vote for all the candidates contained in the column by placing a cross in the circle at the top of the column and he may also vote for a candidate for an office for which no nominee appears in said column, by making a cross in the square opposite the name of such candidate in another column.

Greek Priests Organize.

The Greek Catholic priests of the United States met on Friday in Philadelphia to form an association to counteract the work of the Greek orthodox missionaries in this country. An election of officers resulted in the choice of the following: Very Rev. Theofanus Obuskivich, Mayfield, president; Rev. Theodore Damianovich, Brooklyn, vice president; Rev. Peter Keselyak, Lansford, secretary; Very Rev. Cornelius Laurin, Shenandoah, treasurer; Rev. John Szabo, Jersey City, and Rev. Gabriel Martzyk, Freeland, compose the board of directors.

After the election a committee was appointed to write a letter to Rome asking the pope to send a bishop from Austro-Hungary to the United States in order that the Greek Catholic priests of this country might be under his jurisdiction. At present there are fifty-three churches and chapels for the thousands of Austro-Hungarians in this country, and their spiritual wants are attended to by thirty-eight Greek priests.

Outing on August 19.

The several committees appointed by the Tigers Athletic Club to make preparations for the trolley excursion and outing of the club at Hazle park on Saturday, August 19, have begun work. As is customary with this club, the event will be marked with the energy and enterprise for which it is famed, and should fair weather prevail Hazle park will certainly be the Mecca for all the pleasure-seekers of the Lehigh region on that date.

Every available car owned by the Lehigh Traction Company will be chartered for the occasion, and Tiger trolley excursions will leave every town on the North, South and Lattimer branches of the line.

Hazle park has been leased for that evening, and the club will take complete charge of the grounds. The members propose to make the outing an occasion of pleasure in which all the people of the region may participate.

Edward Gorman, a native of Hazleton, and father of G. D. Gorman, of that city, was drowned while bathing in California on Thursday. He was aged 54 years and resided in California the past two years.

John Fey, aged 48 years, a cupola tender, employed in the moulding department of the Pottsville shops, dropped dead from the heat on Friday. He leaves a widow and two sons.

YESTERDAY'S BALL GAME.

FIRST ATLANTIC LEAGUE GAME ON THE LOCAL GROUNDS.

In a Pretty and Exciting Contest at the Tigers Park the Wilkesbarre Club Defeated Reading by a Score of 9 to 7—A Large Audience Was Present.

Of the vast throng of people in town yesterday none of those who found their way to the Tigers park to see the ball game between Wilkesbarre and Reading, the main attraction of the day, had any cause to regret their choice of spending the afternoon. All the accompaniments of base ball, in the order of succession, enthusiasm, interest, delight, excitement and final satisfaction were there to please the large audience.

The game, which ended in victory for Wilkesbarre by a score of 9 to 7, was such as the people of this section like to witness. It opened up briskly with sharp playing on both sides. Gradually it warmed into a heavy-hitting but better fielding game, and closed with the playing and the excitement at its highest point.

This constituted the chief pleasure of the home people, but it was doubly appreciable by the followers of the county seat team, who were present in large numbers, from the fact that Wilkesbarre took the lead in the third inning and succeeded in winning out two runs ahead of their opponents.

The crowd was the largest that has gathered in the park since the famous county championship game between Wilkesbarre and Hazleton a few years ago, when the high-water mark of base ball in Freeland was reached.

Fully 1,600 people were on the grounds yesterday. Many of these arrived early. The grand stand was filled almost in a single rush, and the choice places along the side lines were speedily occupied.

When the crowd began to jostle one another good-naturedly for position the players appeared. It was noticed that some of the players and a good many of the visitors were disposed to criticize the field. They seemed to be surprised to find a few small stones on the diamond and a little unshaved lawn in the outer territory.

But before the game was over the opinion prevailed generally among the audience that a few irregularities in the field do not prevent first-class work.

Both teams took considerable preliminary practice, so that all the men were thoroughly warmed up when Umpire Betts, at 3 o'clock, put the ball in play. Reading batted first, but could not make anything.

Wilkesbarre was blanked in the first two innings, but opened the run-getting in the third by scoring two. They followed up the advantage in the fifth by lighting on to Ferch for four straight hits, which with the help of an error by Cockman, netted them five runs.

Reading was put out in one-two-three order for the next five innings. They could do nothing at all with Goodwin's cannon ball delivery. But an accident occurred to the Wilkesbarre man in the sixth inning, which weakened him for the rest of the game and gave Reading their opportunity to score.

Goodwin sent one of his speediest balls into Snyder. Quick as a flash it was returned from Snyder's bat and struck the pitcher a little below the heart. The ball rebounded from his body a few yards. Goodwin followed it, picked it up and threw the batter out at first. Then he reeled and fell full length on the ground.

He lay there motionless for several minutes, suffering considerably, but finally revived and resumed the game. The mishap was one which is seldom met with in base ball, and sent a shiver through the whole audience. Goodwin's nerve in putting the man out was loudly applauded, but when, instead of being carried off the field seriously injured as everyone expected, he began to pitch again, he received an ovation.

The plucky pitcher, however, was weakened by the hard blow. His shoots lacked the speed which attracted general attention in the early part of the game. Five hits were made off him in the last three innings, whereas only two hits, without a run, were made in the first six.

Reading made a dash to win in the last inning, but fell short. Wilkesbarre had the game well in hand throughout and finished victorious.

A sensational fly catch by Clymer and the over-the-fence home run hits of Clymer and Drauby were the features of the game.

Following is the complete score:
