An opinion of the solicitor authorizing election officers to be paid as follows for special election was accepted: Judges, $3.50 per day and mileage; inspectors, $3.50; clerks, $3. A protest from Street Commissioner Dinn in regard to last month's dockage was received and referred to the street committee.

A discussion on fire protection for the Hill followed and the matter was again referred to the fire committee. The publishing of an ordinance was the next subject to occupy considerable time. A motion to give the printing committee authority to publish the ordinance in one paper at not more than 5 cents a line finally prevailed.

Tracts of Anthracite Discovered.

The Tidewater Anthracite Coal Company, with a capital of $3,000,000, has just been organized in Philadelphia. The company has large tracts of land in West Virginia, which is said to be underlain with a good quality of anthracite coal. The mining of anthracite coal has been confined to a few counties in this state, though in recent years there have been discoveries of that kind of coal on the Canadian Pacific road, and for many years a small amount of anthracite has been produced in Wales.

Up to this time the Pennsylvania mines have had no competition since the discovery of anthracite in the Lehigh region more than a century ago. The owners of the West Virginia mines say they can supply contiguous cities and territory at $1.50 per ton less than Pennsylvania anthracite can be laid down and make money.

Grafting Operation Performed.

A very interesting operation was performed on Miss Kate Foy, at Mercy hospital, Wilkes-Barre, yesterday. Two weeks ago Miss Foy, who was employed at a laundry, had one of her arms torn from the wrist to the shoulder. The skin was entirely gone. It was decided to resort to the grafting operation. The fifteen girls in the laundry volunteered to give part of their skin to be grafted on the injured arm, and yesterday the first grafting was done.

Five of the girls went to the hospital and had portions of skin taken from their arms and grafted on Miss Foy's injured arm. Two sections were taken from some of them, and others three. In a day or two another five will undergo the same operation, and in a few days later the remaining five.

Found Dead Near Hazle Brook.

On Monday evening John Roshka, of Hazle Brook, aged about 60 years, was found dead near that village. August Baker and Andrew Enos drove to Freeland and notified Squire Buckley. The latter next morning notified Deputy Coroner Bowman, of Hazleton, who viewed the remains and decided that death was due to heart disease and that an inquest was unnecessary. The deceased was seen about five hours before the body was found.

At his boarding house the remains were refused admittance and they were ordered shipped to a Philadelphia medical college. Several of his countrymen of town later took charge and gave them a decent burial.

"Mr. Dooley" Creates a Girl.

The author of the famous "Mr. Dooley," Finley P. Dunne, has joined the literary forces of the Ladies' Home Journal, and will create this fall in that magazine a new character, called "Molly Donohue," who lives across the street from Mr. Dooley. Her creator says that Molly is a bright, pretty girl of nineteen, who has ambitions for the great world of women's clubs, Browning societies, golf clubs, woman's rights organizations, etc. Her mother and brother sympathize with her, but her father is hard to deal with in that he will insist on sitting at the table in his shirt-sleeves and in his stocking-feet.

J. E. Toole Company.

The J. E. Toole Company closed a three night's engagement at the opera house last evening. On Monday night "Killarney" was presented to an appreciative audience. The singing of Mr. Toole and Miss DeWolf and the work of the other members was pleasing to all who attended.

On Tuesday evening "The Bells" was given. In the character of Mathias Mr. Toole displayed unexpected ability. He was ably supported by John Doud. The play was interesting from start to finish. It was preceded by a one-act comedy, entitled "Whose Is It?" Rain interfered considerably with the attendance.

Last night Shakespeare's great play, "Othello," was given to a fair-sized audience. The title role was played by John Doud, and was well played. Messrs. Weaver and Fitzmaurice and Miss DeWolf also did justice to their parts. As Iago, Mr. Toole was rather weak at times, and a few of the minor roles were not very strong. On the whole, however, the presentation was equal to that given by the average repertoire company, and the audience showed its appreciation throughout.

That Remarkable Family Again.

Another child has been born to Mr. and Mrs. William Swartwood, of Mountain Top—the twenty-fifth. Of the twenty-five children, two are dead and the other twenty-three reside at home. One of the oldest sons and one of the daughters are married and reside, with their children, at the Swartwood homestead. The sons are employed as brakemen on the Central with the father, who is an engineer, and though all make good wages it takes all their earnings to keep the homestead going.

There are three pairs of twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Swartwood and one of them died in infancy six years ago. Another baby died last year.

Mr. Swartwood is about fifty years of age and weighs about 250 pounds, while his wife is about six years his junior and weighs about 175 pounds. Both are healthy and happy.

Thirty people gather about the table at each meal. The home is a decidedly happy one and there is a family reunion every day in the year.

WEDDED AT MT. CARMEL.

FREELAND YOUNG MAN WAS MARRIED ON TUESDAY.

Happy Couple Spending Part of Their Honeymoon in Town as the Guests of the Groom's Sister—Will Begin House-keeping at Mt. Carmel.

The Centralia correspondent of the Mt. Carmel Item had an interesting wedding notice in yesterday's issue. The groom is a well-known young man who resided here until a few months ago. The happy couple arrived in Freeland yesterday and will spend a few days with the groom's sister, Mrs. John McGeary. The Item said:

A pretty wedding was enacted yesterday morning when Miss Bridget Connors, one of our popular young ladies, and Mr. John Campbell, of Mt. Carmel, were made man and wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Hayes in the parish church at 7 a. m., many friends of the contracting parties being present. Miss Mary C. Lynch, a prominent young lady of town, acted as bridesmaid, while Christ Connors, the bride's brother, did the honors as best man.

The bride was daintily attired in a tailor-made suit of tan broadcloth and wore a hat of the same hue. The bridesmaid wore a gown of blue broadcloth with a hat to match, while the gentlemen were attired in neat fitting suits of the conventional black. The wedding group looked very beautiful as they gaily tripped up the main aisle of the church to the foot of the main altar, where the ceremony was performed, while the organ pealed forth the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.</
