"The Stowaway."

Apropos of "The Stowaway," which comes to the Grand opera house Monday evening, it may be truly said that "age cannot wither, nor custom stale its infinite variety" of gennine melodramatic action and situation; its striking scenes of the danger district in quaint, grim and griny old London town, and its wonderfully effective and sensational realism, of which a full-rigged, floating yacht, and the famous safe-blowing illustration, in which "Spike" Hennessey and "Kid" McCoy, the two notably expert ex-burg'ars, continue to appear with unqualified "professional" success. To these upper-ten cracksman has been now added a third, with a reputation for daring and desperate deeds, that has given him a terrible record from Mulberry street to Scotland Yards. This noterious terror to bankers and "bobbles" alike is "Big Bill" Boyd, alias "Bill the Brute," alias "Soapy the Con," who has been engaged as under-study to "Spike" Hennessey and has fully demonstrated to the police his conspicuous ability to fill the bill.

Now for Foot Ball.

This is the day of foot ball. The hero of the gridiron succeeds the heroes of Manila in the public gaze. Next Sunday's Philadelphia Press will be a foot ball and fall sport edition. The Press will keep up this season its national reputation for having the most complete and original sporting reports in the United States, and next Sunday's Press will emphasize that fact at the opening of the foot ball season. It will also contain many strong features not in the world of sports. Be sure to get next Sunday's Press.

Humphrey's Concert Company

Humphrey's Cosmopolitan Concert Company and Niver's Animatoscope will be at the Grand opera house Tuesday evening. The Cosmopolitans are unevening. The Cosmopolitans are unsurpassed by any similar organization before the public and they have a strong added attraction in Niver's Animatoscope, which has no superior as a moving picture exhibition. A pretty feature of the entertainment will be the illustrated songs by Genevieve and Maud. Ashley.
