FREELAND, PA., OCTOBER 12, 1899.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, October 10, 1899.

That imperialism is costly will be shown by the estimates which will be submitted to congress for appropriations necessary for the army and navy for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1900. Althongh all the estimates of the war department are not complete, enough is known to make it certain that the aggregate amount that will be asked for the support of the army and navy for the coming season of congress will reach, and probably exceed $200,000,000, which will be about $2.65 or $2.70 per capita. War department officials say the total amount will be considerably reduced, if the war in the Philippines is brought to a close, before the appropriations are made, but that is very doubtful, in a double sense. It is doubtful whether the war over there will be ended by that time, and doubtful, even if it should be, whether the American army on the islands can be materially reduced for a long time afterwards, if our present policy is to be continued. Every government which has tried to govern alien people by force has found it expensive, and there are no good reasons for believing that the experience of this country will differ in that respect from that of others.

‡ ‡ ‡

Ex-Secretary John Sherman has given out a vigorous interview against the suggestion that the United States should attempt to mediate between England and the Transvaal republic to prevent the war which now seems almost certain to come, which shows that his intellect is still in good working order. The Transvaal authorities thought they made a shrewd move when they selected Colonel J. R O'Beirne, a prominent Republican politician of New York, to be their diplomatic representative in Washington, but it hasn't accomplished anything, because of a rule of the state department, forbidding the recognition of an American citizen as the diplomatic representative of a foreign government. O'Beirne is in Washington, but he has received no official recognition. He expresses the belief that Mr. McKinley will overrule the state department and recognize him in his diplomatic capacity. If he does, look out for squalls.

‡ ‡ ‡

There is a possibility that Admiral Dewey will be the Republican candidate for president, next year, instead of President McKinley. A movement has been started by prominent Republicans which has that object in view. Admiral Dewey has not been consulted and has nothing whatever to do with it. The men in this movement are not after honoring Admiral Dewey or turning Mr. McKinley down. They are after keeping the Republican party in power for another presidential term. They are afraid that Hannaism and Algerism will handicap Mr. McKinley to such an extent that it will be impossible to re-elect him. The success of this movement will depend largely upon the outcome of the next campaign against the Filipinos; if the war over there isn't ended soon, Mr. McKinley will be still further handicapped.

‡ ‡ ‡

Although he has more than once declared that he would not accept the nomination for vice president, it has all along been believed in Washington, that Governor Teddy was after that very nomination, and that Boss Platt, who is anxious to get him out of New York politics was actively assisting him. The announcement that Roosevelt was to make a flying trip through Nebraska, speaking almost continually from the rear platform of his train, has added strength to that belief. Republicans who know the situation in Nebraska are preparing a soft spot to fall on by saying that state pride in Colonel Bryan may cause the state to go anti-Republican. In view of Colonel Bryan's enthusiastic reception tn the state, the use of "may" is really considerate on the part of those who know that the Republicans are practically certain of defeat in that state.
