Tonight's Attraction.

Tonight's Attraction. The attraction at the Grand tonight will be Howard Hall's "Kidnapped in New York." with Barney Gimore, formerly of Gilmore and Leonard, as the star, with a strong supporting com-pany. Heart Interest, an important element in plays, predominates largely while the scenic effects are realistic reproductions of places in Greater New York. The plot reveals some life-like pictures in the metropolis. Mr. Dooley, a journalist and detective, (filmore's character): Mary, the governess of Baby Elsie; John Clarke, a wealthy man, and signor Mazziotti, an Italian nobleman, and the villain of the play, are charac-ers which are in able hands, and must wally be seen to be fully appreciated.
