

"He That Any Good Would Win"

Should have good health. Pure, rich blood is the first requisite. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by giving good blood and good health, has helped many a man to success, besides giving strength and courage to women who, before taking it, could not even see any good in life to win.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists; price 75¢ per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Tastes Differed.

In his entertaining biography of Lord Houghton, Sir T. Weyms Reid tells how when Carlyle paid his first visit to Fryson, Mr. Milnes (Lord Houghton's father), on hearing his guest express admiration of the prospect from the hall, pointed out the tall chimney of some manufactory on the far horizon and expressed his regret that it should recently have been erected and spoiled the rustic character of the view. "Spoiled the view!" said Carlyle, "why, sir, I think that is just the pleasantest feature in the whole bit of scenery. It shows us that somebody is doing something in this part of the world at any rate."

Like Finding Money.

The use of the Endless Chain Starch Book in the purchase of "Red Cross" and "Hubinger's Best" starch, makes it just like finding money. Why, for only 5¢ you are enabled to get one large 10¢ package of "Red Cross" starch, one large 10¢ package of "Hubinger's Best" starch, with the premiums, two Shakespeare panels, printed in twelve beautiful colors, or one Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, embossed in gold. Ask your grocer for this starch and obtain the beautiful Christmas presents free.

His Record Saved Him from Punishment. H. B. Ford was a member of company B, Idaho volunteers, which recently got home from the Philippines, with a splendid record of hard fighting to their credit. Ford went to Spokane after the regiment was discharged. There he was recognized as an escaped convict by Sheriff Tucker of Yakima county, whom Ford, then going under the name of Peamster, attempted to shoot several years ago. For the crime he was arrested at the time and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. He escaped from jail while his case was pending on an appeal and volunteered for service in the Philippines. When the sheriff heard his story he offered to ask for his permanent discharge, and the Superior court has just suspended his sentence indefinitely.

Too Small. Uncle 'Zekel' Watson was accustomed to seeing good-sized squares of cupcake, election cake or gingerbread on the supper table, and when he had his first plate of ice cream in a city restaurant he looked with some disfavor upon the macaroons and small sponge drops which accompanied it. "How do you like it?" asked his niece, who was doing the honors of the city for her uncle. "The ice cream is first rate," said Uncle 'Zekel'. "I call it extra good; but when you come to these things," he added, lifting one of the sponge "lady fingers" and surveying it doubtfully, "I presume to say they're all right enough, what there is of 'em, but there isn't enough of 'em—just nothing but gaud and swallow!"

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 94,398]

"I am so grateful to you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me that I feel as though I must tell about it. A year ago I was taken very sick. Doctors could do me no good only to leaden the pain which I had almost constantly. I got some of your Compound and took one bottle and received benefit from it at once. I have taken it ever since and now have no backache, no pain in my side and my stomach and bowels are perfectly well. I can honestly say that there is nothing like it. If I could only tell every woman how much good your medicine has done me, they would surely try it."—MARTHA M. KING, NORTH ATTLEBORO, MASS.

The way women trifle with health shows a degree of indifference that is past understanding. Happiness and usefulness depend on physical health; so does a good disposition. Disease makes women nervous, irritable and snappish. The very effort of ailing women to be good-natured makes them nervous. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, she will help you to health and happiness. It costs nothing to get Mrs. Pinkham's advice. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Designs For Costumes That Have Become Popular in the Metropolis.

NEW YORK CITY. (Special).—The deepest pitfall in the path of the amateur milliner is the messiness of prevailing styles. Amateur milliners tend to messiness, and when the professionals lean that way also the result is something to admire—"wonder at" is the original meaning. In their search for the picturesque the new hats are piled so high and swathed so deep with superfluous ornaments that all the symmetry of the head and figure is lost in these monuments of misdirected industry. While the large toque with rolling

A PICTURESQUE MODEL.

The Newest Form of Cloak.

The newest long cloak for theatre and general evening wear is crepe de Chine. It is lightly stretched around the shoulders to about the elbow, and from this point to the ground all the fullness is set into narrow little ribbons or tucks, doing away with all folds or flutes. This is a reversal of the usual order of things, tucks and straightness below the elbow instead of above it, as for a tall, slim woman the innovation is very becoming. The high collar of this cloak is edged with feathers and the edges of the front and all around the bottom are bordered with netted silk fringe.

Effect of a Well-cut Corset.

It is extraordinary what a transformation a well-cut corset will effect in a woman's appearance, and how, without any perceptible pressure, the waist may be lengthened even as much as two inches. This is really a very important consideration at the present time, when princess dresses and eelskin skirts are so popular, and any one who wishes to have an elegant and graceful appearance should first of all give consideration to the corset, otherwise the work of the dressmaker is likely to be lost.

Sequins Are Fashionable.

Sequins are to be seen on many things this winter, particularly on thin goods with lace effects. White gowns of net are covered with them, but they must be sewed on carefully, and home sewing is usually better than that of the shops. It is better to have no sequins at all than a sequin off here and there. It is a degree worse than a missing boot button.

Skirts That Are the Mode.

This season's styles fulfill a twofold mission. They make the stout woman look thinner, and the slender woman becomes a dream of loveliness and shapeliness when she dons a princess effect gown, a short jacket and Directoire hat. Every skirt is tight fitting about the hips and very much flared around the bottom, sleeves are small, collars high, some basques are shown, and fringe is the acme of novelty.

The favorite model in skirts will be a seamless circular shape, fitting like a glove over the hips and back, and flaring at the bottom to the width of from four and a half to five yards. This flare is very perceptible as the brim of velvet comes nearer than any other to being the prevailing mode, as almost invariably becoming to pretty hair, the small, close-draped velvet toque, worn over the face, is also a favorite to accompany tailor dress. It is trimmed with stitched bands of cloth or silk, and a bird or an airy butterfly is added for garniture.

A striking piece of headgear is the accompanying example taken from the Dry Goods Economist. It is a hat of brown and blue velvet, with roses merging from eury to dark-brown surrounding the brim. The butterfly shows both colorings on a cream ground. The collet is of velvet, mouseline de soie and renaissance lace with gold buttons and cord.

Waists, Bodices and Blouses.

None but flattering comments are to be made of dress waists as they now reveal themselves, and powerful as has been the effort to coax women to accept more decoration on their skirts, the waists, bodices and blouses of the majority of costumes continue to steal all the real glory and color.

Stitching is in high favor as a finish for wraps and costumes. A fine example of a waist trimmed with stitchings is shown in the large engraving. Several gowns were seen with no other trimming save rows and rows of fanciful stitching in some contrasting color. Blouses are now exactly like those of previous years. They are made tighter and over a very close fitting lining. The pleats, which used to be on the upper part of the bodice, and were widened at the breast, puffing out and enlarging the waist, are continued to the belt, kept flat, and sewed with lingerie stitch. These pleats are arranged in every possible way, longwise, horizontally, diagonally, as insertions, etc. Collars are still made upright.

The controversy about dressing for dinner at hotels appears to have spread to Switzerland, but those who favor it are not in the least likely to carry the day. Whatever English people may do, German travelers, who regard their 1 o'clock meal as dinner, and everything else as a secondary matter, neither wear dress clothes nor carry them about.

The Baltimore and Ohio lines west of the Ohio River present a very busy appearance these days, as there is scarcely a ten-mile stretch without a bridge or a construction gang at work. There are still a few of the 53 bridges purchased last January to be erected, and almost all of the 29,000 tons of 55 pound rails have been laid.

At several points between Belaire and Newark, O., sidings of 100 car capacity are being constructed, and between Newark and Chicago Junction thousands of men are working on extensive grade reductions, some of the cuts and fills being two miles in length.

Between Chicago Junction and Chicago nearly a score of passing sidings are being constructed and work on these is being pushed with unusual haste, in order to complete them for the heavy winter traffic. The sidings are being built with a view of a double track some time in the future. They are to be long enough in most cases to hold three 50 car trains. The new east bound yard at Garrett, Ind., is ready for the rails, and will be completed by the middle of November.

In one corner of the melting rooms at the New Orleans mint is a large iron tank in which the newly-cast silver bars are dropped, hissing, to cool off. At the end of a hard day's work the surface of the water shows a faint rainbow-hued scum, like the metallic luster of stagnant pools, seen near a dye house. It comes in part from microscopic flakes of silver that have scaled off in cooling.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

Retaining the Juice of Tart.

To prevent fruit juice from running out of tarts in the oven, make a little opening in the upper crust and insert a straw or little roll of white paper perpendicularly. The steam will escape through it as through a chimney, and all the juice will be retained in the pie.

How to Preserve Gooseberries.

A delicious preparation of gooseberries is made by gathering them before they are quite ripe on a sunny, dry day. Put into dry bottles that have been scalded, cork loosely and place in a pan of cold water. Put the pan on the fire and allow it to heat slowly, but not boil. As soon as the berries look white take the pan from the fire, but leave the bottles to cool in the water. When cold, fasten hermetically and put away in a cool, dry place.

A Way of Testing Eggs.

The old method of testing eggs by a candle is a relic of the days of the tallow dip, but a similar process of discovering their condition is still employed. If when held before the light the contents of the shell are clear, the egg is fresh; if opaque, it is stale, and if a black speck is visible it is unfit for use.

The best way to cook an egg is to put it into cold water and stand it on a hot stove. Just before the water boils the egg is "soft boiled," and the white and yolk will be found to be evenly cooked. This manner of cooking allows the heat to permeate the egg evenly, and does not bring the white to a leathery consistency while the yolk is still soft.

Stale eggs are lighter in weight than fresh ones. A newly-laid egg does not poach nicely, and it requires a half minute longer to cook than a stale egg.

Novelty for Lovers of Salads.

Cuban salad, which American women in Havana have learned to make, and which is considered a great delicacy by them, is recommended by them as an addition to Thanksgiving dinners.

It is made of the avocado pear, which is not a pear at all, but is so called because of its shape. To serve as a salad split in two lengthwise with a sharp knife and remove the brown, shriveled sac, which contains a black and bitter pulp that is used in making indelible ink. Slash the yellow pulp in the rind both ways and sprinkle into the opening salt and pepper, and perhaps a little cinnamon.

The Cubans use red pepper. Place a small piece of ice in the hollow of the fruit and pour over it a French dressing. Let it stand until cold, drain, and place two halves on each plate on a bed of light green lettuce leaves.

To Prepare Beef Tea.

For beef tea the juiciest part of the meat should be selected, the lower part of the round being the best. There should be no fat on the meat. Cut it into dice and put into the upper part of an agate or porcelain-lined farina kettle, using a pound of meat to a pint of cold water. A fruit jar or any wide-mouthed bottle may be used in place of the double kettle, and it should be placed on a stand of some kind in a kettle of hot water. Set the kettle over the fire and boil until the juice of the meat is extracted. Then strain the juice, pressing it out of the meat, and season to taste with salt.

In cases where a great deal of nourishment is needed, especially in consumption and kindred diseases, the juice should be squeezed from fresh meat and given warm, but never hot. The meat should be placed in an oven and warmed, as the juice flows more freely from it in that condition. It is then cut into pieces of an inch or two square and pressed until dry. The usual quantity is from two to three pounds a day, taken at intervals. A high temperature, the physicians say, coagulates the blood of the beef and destroys its beneficial effect.

One of the trials of those interested in the culture of flowers is the presence of destructive insects. Persons who have been discouraged by the trouble and often lack of success attending the use of insecticides will find the following simple and easily prepared wash entirely effective. It is the recipe of Mr. Eben E. Rexford, an authority of national reputation.

Shave a quarter of a pound of Ivory Soap in water sufficient to cover it and dissolve upon the stove, then add five gallons of warm water. Spray this solution upon the plants with a florist's syringe, or if they are small dip them bodily into it. In either case, be sure to reach every part. Let them stand half an hour and then rinse with clear water.

SHE WAS A BRAVE GIRL.

Kept Her Presence of Mind When Attacked by an Alligator.

Some days ago a little girl, a daughter of Mrs. Fields, living on Lake Gibson, near Lakeland, Fla., jumped off the wharf on the lake to take a swim. She is an expert swimmer, but had hardly touched the water before she was seized by the leg, between the knee and ankle, by an alligator. She was pulled under the water by the saurian, but managed to break away and started hastily toward the shore, only a few yards distant. The "gator" again came to the attack, this time seizing her in the fleshy part of the side, between the ribs and hip. The little one was plucky, however, and managed to again break away from the cruel jaws, this time reaching the shore, the "gator" following until she was on dry land; then he disappeared from view. The girl never lost her presence of mind, which probably was the reason of her escaping alive. She gives a very graphic description of the dangerous encounter, and has two very ugly wounds to vouch for her story. She says she could not see the entire length of the beast, but from what she could see would judge it to have been only about five feet long—a small "gator" to attack a person. The girl is 14 years of age.—Baltimore Sun.
