

The Whole Truth!

There's nothing so bad for a cough as coughing.

There's nothing so good for a cough as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

The 25 cent size is just right for an ordinary, everyday cold. The 50 cent size is better for the cough of bronchitis, croup, grip, and hoarseness. The dollar size is the best for chronic coughs, as in consumption, chronic bronchitis, asthma, etc.

SANDOW ON EXERCISE.

Says Dumbbell Practice, if Not Overdone, Is the Proper Thing.

"Dumbbell practice gives strength to every sinew, from the finger tips to the elbow, from the top of the head to the sole of the foot." Sandow, the strong man, said in a recent interview. "The young can be kept in perfect health, and older people are helped and improved even when suffering any ailment which appears to them to be quite hopeless, but, of course, great care must be taken not to overdo the practicing, and it is wiser to increase the number of movements very gradually and not on any account to get over-tired at first," he advised. But he does state most emphatically that dumbbell exercises, taken in moderation, give grace and suppleness to the figure and that perfect ease to the carriage that comes from having the muscles under control. He makes a strong point of an easy beginning, which does not expect too much at first, but gains strength by degrees. Such exercises send the blood through the veins with new life, which gives pleasure and joy to every individual.

Like Finding Money.

The use of the Endless Chain Starch Book in the purchase of "Red Cross" and "Hubinger's Best" starch, makes it just like finding money. Why, for only 50c you are enabled to get one large 10c package of "Red Cross" starch, one large 10c package of "Hubinger's Best" starch, with the premiums, two Shakespeare panels, printed in twelve beautiful colors, or one Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, embossed in gold. Ask your grocer for this starch and obtain the beautiful Christmas presents free.

Soldier and Courtier.

Lord Kitchener of Khartoum is a straightforward soldier, but he does not scorn the art of turning a compliment gracefully. It has long been said of him that he is proof against all feminine charms, and when he waited upon her majesty at Windsor, the queen was curious enough to put a pointed question, "Is it true, my lord," she asked, "that you have never yet cared for woman?" "Yes, your majesty," replied the sirdar, "quite true—with one exception." "Ah!" said the queen, "and who is she?" The sirdar bowed. "Your majesty," said he.

BANKERS AND GOLD.

THEIR CHIEF INTEREST IN MONOMETALLISM.

In Order That They May Retain Their Clutch on the Throats of Producers—The Money Lender Knows No Country, Loves No Flag.

From Jeffersonian Democrat: The great bankers of Wall street, and of others of our great cities besides New York, are financially in close sympathy and business relations with the bankers of London, Berlin and Vienna, and all of them, as a class, have placed their principal interests in gold-bearing bonds, for the plain reason that such bonds are, and will be, the most profitable stocks for them to keep, or to deal in, if they can only be made the ruling stocks of the world, through the influence of gold monometallism.

If gold can be made the basis of all financial operations it will reduce the basis of all currency to the narrow limits of the one metal, gold, instead of the double basis of both gold and silver, and make gold worth, for currency purposes, the two metals combined. This policy would double the value of the holdings of all the gold owners and gold-bond holders, and in like proportion would increase the profits of bankers to the extent to which they might own or handle gold, while, at the same time, it would lower prices and lower wages to the advantage of the rich, increase the burden of debts, widen the division between the rich and the poor, and build up a ruling moneyed class that would subordinate everything to its interests.

As the gold of the world is already in the hands of comparatively few people—such as the great bankers and their allies—of whom the English ruling aristocracy of merchant manufacturers and land-owners form an influential part, it will be seen that here is a powerful class that will strive for and maintain the gold policy as long as possible. Thus every species of artifice that wealth and station can command will be used to maintain the class interests that center around gold monometallism. On the other hand, there is a vastly larger and hitherto less organized body of people, comprising the workers in the world's myriads of industries, who are the principal authors of the world's industrial wealth, and among whom are to be found the principal inventors, discoverers and leaders in all material advancement. And as political economy means political or public policy, and as this policy is viewed from different standpoints, and varies in its application to different classes and conditions of people, we see why different and opposing views of public policy are so strenuously urged by gold monometallists on the one hand and bimetalists on the other. We see why the great body of bankers and financiers are numbered among the falsely-called "sound money" men; why our currency has been chiefly under the management of bankers, as from this class have been taken most of the government controllers of the currency, and we see why nearly all of the gold monometallists. Their wishes are very definitely expressed in the avowed belief of Mr. Trenholm, a former controller of the currency, and a writer of one of the "sound currency" pamphlets of the New York "Reform Club," who says at the close of his article: "Gold monometallism is the unavoidable destiny of this country. Bimetalism is for us a snare and a delusion." Moreover, the bankers do not want any international bimetalism whatever, but they demand, and are determined to enforce, gold monometallism pure and simple, and this they allow when they confer among themselves and throw off disguises. Thus the president of the New York State Bankers' association, Mr. Wm. C. Cornwall, said recently: "It is time to tear off disguises. International bimetalism is a traitor in the camp. [In our camp.] It is a false friend. It can never be accomplished [We will prevent it.] It is a will-o'-the-wisp dancing over the deadly marsh." No doubt Mr. Cornwall reasoned correctly from the standpoint of the most profitable banking. There is no use in dallying with the banking fraternity on the subject of international bimetalism.

We shall be asked: Are not bankers, as a class, honest in their advocacy of gold monometallism? Honest in their advocacy of what they call "sound money" as the best money? Yes, the best for their purposes. From all over the land banking conventions are adopting resolutions in favor of "sound money"; and they are denouncing all who argue for free coinage of both gold and silver—that is, bimetalists—as "silver lunatics." And when the bimetalists hold a convention the refined, the courtly, the rich monometallists characterize the convention, in advance, as a "silver pow-wow!" We are asked, Why this kind of most uncourtly opposition by this class of usually respectable people? We are forced to answer, it is because "the craft is in danger!" for they say, "Sirs, by this craft we have our wealth." And, therefore, "Alexander the Jew, and the craftsmen with him, and Demetrius, the silversmith, and Alexander, the copper-smith, all shout with one accord," "Great is gold monometallism!" "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" And thus these craftsmen make many people believe that it is a shame "that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be despoiled and her magnificence be destroyed, whom all Asia and the world worshipeth."

We think it very proper to offset the views of champions of the banking interests by those expressed by the distinguished United States Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama in the Arena of November, 1895. Mr. Morgan iterates the views of able, conscientious and worthy men when he says: "The whole body of our productive interests is as completely under the control of the bankers and other financiers as a locomotive is under the control of the engineer." Mr. Morgan thus expressed the beliefs founded on knowledge of all intelligent bimetalists.

Not all the banks, or the men who control them, would be subservient to the plans and plottings and practices of the great metropolitan bankers who lead in the gambling for wealth, for the country banks and other minor banks are often made to suffer, the same as the people, by the financing of those who fill the high places in the craft. It was so in the great financial panic of 1893, brought on by a few of the leading banks for a political object, when ninety-eight of the minor dependent banks were run down in that tornado of ruin.

MONEY IS CHEAP.

We often hear the expression made that money is cheap; that the banks are full of it; that one can get all the money he wants at 5 or 6 per cent, if he will only furnish the necessary collateral.

Yes, but how many are there that can furnish the necessary collateral to get this cheap money out of the bank? Not one in fifty. While those who can not furnish this collateral, and who must have the money, are compelled to go to a loan agency, give a chattel mortgage on their household furniture and other personal property, and pay from 5 to 10 per cent interest per month to get the money.

Besides, under the gold standard of money all kinds of human property except money and bonds and notes and stocks and other investments that fetch a fixed and certain income in money, are constantly falling in purchasing power; and hence, money lying idle in a bank or safe deposit vaults is a better and safer investment than it would be if invested in property or business.

For this reason, those who are able to give the necessary collateral to get the money out of the banks, even at the low rate of 5 or 6 per cent interest per annum, do not want it, for the good and sufficient reason that under the gold standard of money and a constantly falling market, they cannot re-invest it so as to make the low interest they have to pay the bank, and still make a profit on the property bought or the legitimate labor-employing business entered into.

Therefore money piles up in the banks. But this is not an evidence that times are good or that money is cheap, but an evidence that times are hard and getting harder, and that money, not the use of money, is higher. The use of money is cheap, because men cannot take it even at the present low rate of interest for the use of it, and make a profit on it by reinvesting it in property or business. But money itself is not cheap, but high. If you go to a bank and get $1,000 for ninety days, at say 5 per cent, you do not buy the money, but only the use of it.

You must return the $1,000 at the end of ninety days, with the accumulated interest, if, indeed, the interest has not been taken out in advance. If you go to a bank to buy $1,000, not to buy the use of it, you must leave the value of the $1,000 in property or labor, and when you have done this you will find that instead of money being cheap, it is really the dearest $1,000 you ever bought in your lives.

This shows conclusively that the use of money, not the money itself, is indeed cheap, and for the reasons above stated. Gold standard men do not see this distinction, or appear not to do so. In fact, as a rule, gold standard men are notably and pitifully ignorant upon the history, the economy and the purpose of money; but men who understand the money question do see the distinction, as they also see the sophisms of the gold standard, and this is why the silver men are so enthusiastic in the cause, and are so anxious to see the money of the constitution restored to the place it occupied in the monetary system of the republic nearly a hundred years ago.

H. C. BELL.

What Mac and Mark Have Done.

"The McKinley administration has made most disgraceful appointments to office at the behest of unscrupulous politicians. It has betrayed the civil service to the spoilsman, paralyzed the organization of the army, violated its pledges as to currency reform, humiliated its most efficient servants and discredited American intelligence and valor in the eyes of the civilized world. In a time for courage it has quailed. In a time for decision it has hesitated. In a time for action it has delayed. In a time for honest dealing it has faltered and equivocated. Its policy has been to drift; its aim has been to placate everybody, however unworthy, and cater to everybody, however mischievous; its course has been to sacrifice any and every vital interest of the nation on the altar of partisan and personal politics."

It was not a Democrat who said this, but the Portland Oregonian, the leading Republican paper of Oregon.

To expect the Republican party to destroy the trusts, says the Central Kansas Democrat, is as absurd as to expect a parent to kill his child.

The devil too often gets the boy by getting his father first.

UPSTARTS AND POST STAMPS.

Amusing Follies of One of the Nouveaux Riches.

They were telling snob stories, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, and the demure-looking woman said: "The most amusing upstart I ever met had a horror of any one suspecting that she ever practiced economy. She was very fond of walking and loved to walk in the park, but she seldom permitted herself this pleasure, always going in her carriage—for fear some one she knew should meet her and imagine she did not have a carriage. Her household was conducted on the same principle. She knew few people whom she thought worth entertaining, so her dinner parties were small, but so anxious was she to be thought rich and liberal that she would have a butler and three or four assistants to wait upon half a dozen persons. Of course, they got in each other's way and often collisions and crashes occurred. Then she would sigh and say she didn't understand why she couldn't get good servants. She paid enough, goodness knows. Her follies were many and very funny before she finally entered the sacred portal and was given a throne of her own and a scepter to wield, but one of her pet extravagances was really quite original. It was in her early days, when money didn't seem to be able to buy everything, after all. She gave a dinner to which she had reason to think several grandees would come. And when she sent out her invitations she put a five-cent stamp on each envelope!"

Cats Made Over.

"If you want a Persian cat bring me any common kitten you like, and within six months I will return it to you with a coat which would put to shame that of the shah's favorite pussy," said a cat fancier to the writer. "No torture or fake is employed. Some time ago it was brought to my notice that the cats living in refrigerating chambers got coats of enormous thickness, and also that they grew to nearly double the size of the ordinary pussy. The idea being given, the rest was easy. I had a small refrigerator fitted up in my premises, and made an experiment. It was so successful that I have since made a profit, by turning common pussies into genuine Persians, of $2,500 a year. Again, I now have only one cure for cats, never mind what disease they are suffering from. I freeze them, and am by this remedy able to return them to their owners, within a week, perfectly happy and well. Again, for the last two years the majority of show cats have come to me in the early autumn to have their winter coats made by my method, so that they shall not catch a chill owing to any sudden change in the weather."

A Notable Silver Anniversary.

With the close of the present year Mr. David C. Cook, of Chicago, will celebrate his first quarter-centennial as editor and publisher of Sunday-school literature. Starting twenty-five years ago, without reputation or assurance of support, he has become one of the most widely and favorably known publishers in his line. Beginning in 1875 with two small publications, his periodicals have grown in number and favor until there are now schools in this country that do not find it to their interest to use some of his pure and helpful publications, while many in distant lands pay tribute to their merits. The past quarter of a century has witnessed many changes among Sunday-school publishers, and much less time than this has sufficed for some to outlive their usefulness. On the contrary, Mr. Cook is preparing to celebrate the beginning of another quarter-century with additional improvements and new publications. Among these may be mentioned THE NEW CENTURY SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER'S MONTHLY, a large and thoroughly up-to-date magazine for superintendents and teachers, the first issue of which will appear in December. Among the most remarkable of his publications is THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEEKLY, which has attained a circulation of nearly a quarter of a million, being a successful attempt to furnish a high grade of religious story for boys and girls. To avoid the "gooey-gooey" style of the Sunday-school story as we remember it in our childhood days, and furnish something natural, interesting and ennobling, has been its aim, and we are not at all surprised at its popularity.

The restraining influence of the Christian home and the Sunday-school on our growing community of young people, some of us may not appreciate as we should—until we see the same sometimes fall to restrain. This paper should be a most welcome necessary in this work, and one which all should appreciate. Boys and girls will read and the story book and paper are their first choice. There seems a plentiful supply of religious papers for older people, but this is a most successful effort to furnish a non-sectarian religious story paper for young people.

The paper is profusely illustrated, beautifully printed, and contains as much or more reading matter than the most expensive regular young people's story papers. The price, seventy-five cents per year, should bring it within the reach of every home. Mr. Cook is now making a special effort to give two paper orders, each valued at one dollar, to every subscriber for a year's subscription before Jan. 1st will receive a beautiful premium picture entitled "The Boy's Awakening." It is exactly the same size (13 by 18 inches) and style as those on sale at art stores for $1. Orders should be addressed to David C. Cook Publishing Co., 28 Washington St., Chicago.

Probably no man living has done so much to improve and cheapen Sunday-school literature as has Mr. David C. Cook. Through his aid thousands of schools have been encouraged, improved and made self-sustaining. Mr. Cook is yet a comparatively young man, and it does not appear at all improbable that his field of usefulness may extend over yet another quarter-century.

Why Changes Are Needed.

Change of scene, change of occupation and frequent changes in furnishings and diet are all important at this season, and the time of rest may be secured from these changes even when an expensive outing, or the usual summer vacation, has not been afforded. No woman who has ever tried it can conceive of the rest and pleasure resulting from a change of some sort. Make such changes as are possible by rearranging rooms in the matter of furniture, pictures, ornaments, etc. Do something, anything, to rest the eye and brain from dead-level monotony. It is said that marked cases of insomnia have been cured by changing from one sleeping-room to another. The wise woman will also change her family dietary as completely as possible as the seasons change.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. Children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O is that rich, soft brown of Mocha or Java, but is made from pure grains; the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. At the price of coffee, 15c, and 25c, per package. Sold by all grocers.

A Treat.

A little girl who was being taken into the country for a day's outing by the Chicago vacation school committee was observed to be very sedate as she sat in the open street car, says the Youth's Companion. "Have you ever had a ride on the cars before?" the teacher asked. "Yes, I've hitched, but I never sat up straight like this before," she answered.

The first five persons procuring the Endless Chain Starch Book from their grocer will each obtain one large 10c package of "Red Cross" Starch, one large 10c package of "Hubinger's Best" Starch, two Shakespeare panels, printed in twelve beautiful colors, as natural as life, or one Twentieth Century Girl Calendar, the finest of its kind ever printed, all absolutely free. All others procuring the Endless Chain Starch Book, will obtain from their grocer the above goods for 5c.

"Red Cross" Laundry Starch is something entirely new, and is without doubt the greatest invention of the Twentieth Century. It has no equal, and surpasses all others. It has won for itself praise from all parts of the United States. It has superseded everything heretofore used or known to science in the laundry art. It is made from wheat, rice and corn, and chemically prepared upon scientific principles by J. C. Hubinger, Keokuk, Iowa, an expert in the laundry profession, who has had twenty-five years' practical experience in fancy laundering, and who was the first successful and original inventor of all fine grades of starch in the United States. Ask your grocer for this Starch and obtain these beautiful Christmas presents free.
