By what subterfuge Mr. McKinley expects to be re-elected in 1900 nobody seems to know, but year the devil has a persuasive way of quoting scripture which deceives the children of light, and it is presumable that some great fraud, or fake, will be dressed up in attractive colors like circus posters to draw the crowd. Forestalling an evil is better than repenting for its exist-ence, and a political evil must be fore-stalled. This is an occasion when the personnel of Mr. McKinley is involved, and he is too much mixed up with grievances that go to the destruction of the public welfare to make him a desirable candidate on any platform. This, with $141,000,-000 in the banks and about $500,000,-000 in the country, in circulation, is as-sumed to be a splendid showing, and to elevate the United States to the front rank as a gold equarty. But now comes a circular from the directors of the mint to the manufacturers of jew-elry, gold leaf supply houses, and all dealers and manufacturers who use the precious metal in their work. The Chicago Tribune gives the substance of the circular in the following succinct language: "Lost or strayed=$300,000,000 in American gold coin. Any person who has information of its whereabouts will please communicate with the director of the mint." The truth is cropping out that we are short of our gold cir-culating medium the enormous un of $300,000,000; we have a shortage of $300,000,000 of gold coin on our total stock of gold coin. Apparently Desirt Take Mish to Lead Join Bull to Fight. A English paper has the following to say on the reasons for some British wars: "From all appearances it does not take much provocation to set John Bull at war. William the Coxqueror made war on France because King Philip had made a slighting allusion to his embonpoint. More recent wars have been brought about by trivial in-cidents. In 1840 a large trade in oplum was done by British traders in China, and the Chinese government at length forbade the importation of the per-nicious drug by our sallors. The delct, bowever, had little or no effect, and the war scond war, in 1856, ought never to have come about if its origin is taken into account. A Chinese pi-rate holsted the British flag at his mainmast, and was afterward seized by his capture would have been re-garded as a good thing here, but as it was taken as an insult, and we made war on the Chinese for refusing to aploigte. The horrors of the In-dian mutiny will still be remembered by a minity of our readers, and the fause which led to it is a matter of history. Cartridges greased with cow's fat were served out to the Sepoys, who refused to use them on the ground that the cow was a sacread animal. We in-sited, and almost without any warn-ing, the terrible massacres followed, which were only avenged at an enor-mous expenditure of lives and money." If there is one thing on which the house-wife prides herself, it is that of having her laundering done nicely, so that the wear-ing apparel may be the admiration of all. The washing is a small matter, anyone al-most can do that, but to have the lineas present that factible and glosay appear-ance after belog fronc. requires a fine quality of starch. J. C. MILLIONS OF WOMEN USE CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes, for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors.
