The Republican party is pledged to bimetallism. Were we blunderers when we shouted over and over again for remonetization. I want the double standard. So do 1,300,000,000 of people of this world of ours, while only 200,000,000 want the single gold standard. We want the real money of the world to be $8,000,000,000 in coin. They want it to be only $4,000,000,000. The difference means injustice, injury suffering and distress to millions of God's poor people the world over, while the gold class is to wax fat at the cost of their helpless victims.—Senator Chandler, Rep.

New York is on the threshold of a Democratic redemption. In 1896 the Black majority was 246,000. It was Clevelandism that did that. In 1897 it bleached to 80,000. In 1898 it whitened out still further, and stood as 18,500. In 1899 the Republicans in their superiority fade and pale to a trifle above 9,000. In 1900—mark "The Verdicts" word—that superiority will have died and disappeared—buried under a Bryan plurality of 50,000. And all this makes the morose and sulky reason of present Republican gloom. The farther they travel the darker it gets.—The Verdict.

Attorney General Griggs declared in his speech at Quincy, Ills., referring to the Philippine war, that "the Flilipinos of Luzon who have attempted to drive the lawful authority of the United States from the island, comprise not one-tenth of 1 per cent of the people of these islands." This is very thrilling, but let us figure a little. If there are 8,000,000 people in the Philippines and less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of them are opposing our authority we are confronted by not more than 8,000 enemies. Yet the secretaries of war and navy announce that within the six weeks they will have 70,000 troops and 50 warships on or about the islands to suppress the 10,000 insurgents. Some of the end men of the McKinley caravan have no sense of proportion. Deriding the Filipinos as cowardly savages, they profaim it takes nine Americans to down one Filipino.—Pittsburg Post.

Digraves Showing Cost of Our Important Showing Cost of the expenses of the federal government ranged between 50 and 60 millions a year, and only in one year reached as high a figure as $73,000,000. During the Mexican war the highest yearly outlay was $31,000,000. The year the civil war commenced the expenditures were only $40,550,000, but they mounted up yery rapidly after Fort Sumter, reaching their maximum in 1865, the year the war ensed, with over a million soldiers in the field, the enormous total being 1,295 millions of dollars. There was a big drop after the war closed, and in 1865 the expenditures were 519 millions, then falling to 242 millions in 1885-86, the first year of the Cleveland.

millions, an increase over the current year in both branches of the service of 12 millions.

Our army, navy and pension expenditures for the coming year foot up the enormous sum of $111.812.772, leaving from the grand total the sum of $219.-269.221 for all other purposes of goverament. We are not only nearing but passing the totals of European imperialism, Nearly two-thirds of the enormous aggregate of national expenditure goes to war and navy and the pensions of past wars.

President McKinley's national book-keeper figures up that he will need for the closing year of the McKinley administration the neat sum of $631,000.000. The average rate of expenditure of Cleveland's administration was $270,000.000 a year, and for his second administration $365,000,000, the increase resulting mainly from the dependent pension law, which he vetoed his first term and became a law in the Harrison interregnum.

To state the case fully, the appropriations and expenditures of the four years of the McKinley administration, accepting Secretary Gage's estimates for the closing year, will be as follows: 1897-998 $443,865,883 1898-99 700,093,564 1899-1900 600,955,112 1900-01 631,081,394 The difference between 631 millions dollars a year represents the difference in cost between Cleveland's American policies and McKinley's imperialist rage. Are we not paying a little too much for our whistle? And yet President McKinley at the outset of his message declares that the conditions of the country 'are of unusual prosperity, of universal good will among the people at home and in relations of petce and friendship with every government of the world." We are paying at the rate of six and seven hundred millions of dollars a year for it, for every penny is drained from the pockets of the people by taxation it is their substance that is being thrown away on anti-American policies.

INDIA'S AWFUL DISTRESS.

The Great Area In Which the Famine Is Raging.

THIRST CLAIMS VICTIMS

Drought Has Spoiled the Crops and the Natives Suffer the Pangs of Hunger-Sufferers Numbered by the Million.

The shaded portion of this map shows the vast region in India in which the prevailing famine is most severely felt. Some districts outside this area are suffering to a less extent, but their position has not been clearly indicated, as attention is centred upon the regions where relief is most imperatively demanded. As a rule, the famines which mow and then afflict India are most severely felt in regions which in normal years have a sufficient supply of rain, and those regions that are always deficient in rainfall are more likely to escape famine because they are supplied with irrigation canals fed by streams coming from the mountains and very often have enough water in years of drought to raise crops.

The famine-affected area, marked on The famine-affected area, marked on the map, includes about three hundred and fifty thousand square miles, or over a tenth of the area of the United States. It embraces the central prominces, the southeast and central Punjab and Rajputana, and though none of the most densely peopled regions is embraced in this territory, its population is about thirty millions. The famine is due to the fact that throughout last year there was scarcely any rain in that part of India. Many thousands of people began to suffer the pangs of of people began to suffer the pangs of hunger in September last and there is now no possibility of relieving the dis-tress by the growth of local crops till a year from that time. Thirst also claims many victims, for

Thirst also claims many victims, for in some large districts drinking water has almost entirely failed. Crops were sown as usual, but after peeping through the ground the young blades turned yellow and perished. Grain has been imported from more fortunate parts of the peninsula, but in December last the price had risen to four times the usual cost, and the poor,

How She Escaped a Punishment fo Drunkenness.

Drunkenness.

A funny old Irish woman by her presence of mind and the natural gifts of her race got off without a penalty from the Southwark magistrate. She courtesled deeply to His Worship as she entered the dock, charged with being intoxicated. For answer she said:

"Sure, Your Worship, I couldn't help it, I had a little drop, and, begorra, was singing:

It. I had a little drop, and, see singing:
"While English and Irish fall fighting together, their blood gets mixed up in one red red stream, ochone!
There is hope for this country when English and Irish
Are fighting together away from their home."

Are fighting together away from their home.'
"Sure, how could I help singing that? You can't prevent the Irish singing."
She then said she would very much like to be sworn and give evidence, as she would rather "kiss the Book than the blarneystone." Paul Taylor, however, told her he would not put her to the test, but under the circumstances would discharge her. The old lady clapped her hands in delight, wished the magistrate good luck, and commenced crooning: "The English and Irish fall fighting together," but she was hurried from the court before she could complete the quatrain.—London Telegraph.

Limits to His Gratitude.

"I feel that I ought to make some acknowledgement to the people who were so kind to us during my late wife's last sickness," said Mr. Phroogle, "and I would like to have you insert this card of thanks in a prominent place in this week's paper."

"We are obliged to make a charge for these notices," replied the editor of the Weekly Bilzzard, looking over the manuscript, "and this will cost you $1."

"Then you needn't publish it," re-Joined Mr. Phroogle. "I am not quite as grateful as all that comes to."—Chicago Tribune.

The Ruse That Failed.

The Indians had bound their captive to the stake when the conventional harpy thought struck the latter.

"If you burn me," he exclaimed, "the sun will be darkened to-morrow."

"You will find," replied the Indian, "if you calculate the parallax to the forty-third decimal place, that the cellipse does not take place until the day after to-morrow."

Shall I, wasting in despair,
Die because a bonnet's fair?
For my own no longer care,
'Cause less chic and smart they are?
Be the Joneses' Sunday hats
Made in Paris—freckled cats!—

If they be not made for me,
What care I how smart they be?

Shall my foolish heart be pined
E'en if Worth their freeks designed?
'Cause their fortune seems too high,
Shall I rage with jealouss?
Jealous of the Joneses! Oh!
Jealous of sun persons! No
If they be too smart for me,
What care I how smart they be?
