POLITICAL POINTERS.

There is no longer any doubt that Judge Woodward has lost his hold upon the masses, and that it would be folly to nominate him to succeed himself on the bench. Sentiment among voters is very pronounced on this subject, and the fact is beginning to be realized by those who have been especially desirous of retaining Judge Woodward's services for another term.—Wilkes-Barre Democrat.
The anti-machine leaders of this county have been looking about them for a man to place in the field for state senator, on whom they could rely to fight against Quayism at all times. They have practically agreed on Attorney Thomas H. Atherton, of Wilkes-Barre. He is a prominent lawyer and has always been opposed to Quay methods.

Bentley; general secretary, Rev. S. T. Nichols.

A matter of interest to the local congregation was the adoption by the conference of a set of resolutions thanking Mrs. Margaret Johnson and family, of town, for their gift of land to St. Paul's congregation, for a site for the new church which will be built after disposing of the present edifice on Fern street.

The resolutions were offered by Dr. Bateman, of Pittsburg, and were unanimously passed.

The cause of death is given as a complication of diseases, from which the deceased had been suffering for more than a year. She was aged 68 years and is survived by her husband and the following children: Thomas Reed, Shenandoah; Mrs. Jennie Beisel, Upper Lehigh; and Mrs. H. C. Hooks, Hackensack, N. J.

To Restrain a Water Company.

White Haven people are having an interesting contest with the water company of their town. They are asking the county court for an injunction to restrain the company from increasing the water to a price of more than $10 for a private family, and from collecting such excess in any case, and from cutting off the water from private families who refuse to pay such increased rates. It is alleged that $10 is the limit allowed by the charter.

The Mauch Chunk News has announced that it will do no kind of political advertising unless such advertising is paid for in cash in advance. Politicians are very ambitious but also very forgetful, especially after election. If elected they frequently become arrogant and flunk out of their promises made before election. Defeated candidates are swamped altogether and are not heard from after election for months. They are generally inaccessible to collectors.

Suit has been begun at Easton against J. P. Correll, editor of the Sunday Call, published in that city, for violating the blue laws of Pennsylvania in printing, publishing and selling and offering for sale his paper on Sundays.

Pittston Resident Drowned.

On Friday morning men working on the river bank a short distance below Pittston were attracted by some one coughing, and looking around noticed that the sounds came from a body floating down the river. They secured a boat and rescued the man. As the body was taken ashore the man coughed several times. Physicians were hastily summoned and for almost an hour several doctors tried to restore life, but without success. Whether the dead man jumped into the river or accidentally fell from the bridge is not known. The deceased was identified as a Mr. Sutton, of Pittston. He was a butcher by trade and at one time kept a shop in Pittston. He served in Battery M, 2d Pennsylvania artillery, during the civil war. Mr. Sutton's wife died about a year ago and since that time he has been dependent. The deceased is survived by four sons and one daughter. A coroner's jury was empaneled and an inquest will be held this afternoon.

Beat Their Boy Inseparable.

The neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Werke, of Plymouth, on Friday morning told them to leave the town within the week. This action was caused by the Werke's brutal treatment of their twelve-year-old son, whom they had beaten into insensibility, and, thinking him dead, had thrown him into a freight car. There he was found unconscious Friday morning by some boys. He has been revived, and is now at the house of a sympathizer. His body is covered by bruises, and he is in great pain. The beating continued from Monday last.

The boy was discharged from the breaker where he worked on Monday afternoon, and says both his father and mother beat him every time since then that he returned home without getting work. Thursday night they kicked him, and that is the last he remembers.

The Lutz Murder Trial.

The jury in the case of John Lutz, charged with the murder of his wife, had failed to return a verdict up to Saturday morning. Just before court adjourned Friday evening the following note from the jury was received by Judge Halsey: "We are unable to agree. We stand now as we stood on the first ballot, 10 to 2."

The note was shown to the attorneys for the commonwealth and the defendant, but they would not agree to have the jury discharged and word was sent to the jury room that a verdict must be rendered. The case was given to the jury at noon on Wednesday.

The jury, it is stated this morning, has not yet been able to agree on a verdict, and it is probable the court will take some action today.

Heavy frost on Friday and Saturday mornings sent a cold chill down the back of the spring enthusiasts.

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

NEWS AND NOTES FOR THE WORKERS OF THE VICINITY.

D. S. & S. Employees Will Observe Rail-roads' Memorial Day on June 10. Anthracite Coal Going to Europe—The New Coal Road to Be Built.

Notwithstanding the official report of the chief of the mining bureau, and the "amens" to it sang by the mine inspectors, all accidents in the mines are not caused by the ignorance and carelessness of the miners. Last week a coroner's jury, which is a good thing when an impartial investigation is made, in the case of John Burnett, who was covered by a rush of culm at the Delaware and Hudson mine, at Plymouth, found a verdict to the effect that "the accident was caused by the collapse of the culm chute or pocket, due to rotten timbers, and the company is to blame for not examining the timbers more frequently."

The announcement of the independent anthracite coal operators' indorsement of the new Delaware and Kings-ton Railroad project has badly rattled the coal trust. The Pennsylvania Coal Company is very largely interested, and it will not be wise to ignore its new scheme as a factor in the anthracite situation. It may turn out that some very important railroad magnates who do not love Mr. Morgan are interested to a large extent.

The employees of the D. S. & S. will observe Railroads' Memorial Day, June 10, by having a parade and then decorating the following graves: Eckley B. Cox, Sr., Daniel Cox, Drifton; Michael Boyle, John McHugh, Frank P. O'Donnell, Thomas Tully, St. Ann's cemetery; John Chambers, Catawissa cemetery; Edward M. Hughes, Jonas L. Stewart, E. F. Fritzinger, Freeland cemetery; Wm. Wallace, Hazleton cemetery.

One of the first large shipments of anthracite coal by the Reading Company from Philadelphia to Russia will be made early in June. A vessel has been chartered and will carry a cargo of 3,500 tons. The rate fixed is seventeen shillings per ton. Of late years American stoves have been finding their way into foreign countries, and it is predicted that further shipments will follow.

An examination of candidates for mine inspector for the Sixth anthracite district, to serve for five years, commencing September 22, 1900, will be held tomorrow at Pottsville. Mine Inspector Stein is a candidate for reappointment and will likely be without opposition, the tip having gone forth that his political pull is strong and sound.

The D. S. & S. is having ten new cabooses built at Drifton shops for use on the Amboy runs. They are shorter than the old cabooses used by this road, but are so arranged that the crews have more room for bunking in them during the lay over at Perth Amboy. The new cabooses are similar in design to those used by the P. and D.

Speaking of the exodus of foreigners from this region, the Hazleton Sentinel estimates that before the movement is over, 1,000 men will have departed for the West and Northwest. They are going in groups of from twenty to fifty a day.

The town of Maltby, this county, is almost depopulated. The miners are on strike. Hundreds of them have left the place for the soft coal region, taking their families with them. The schools are empty and business is paralyzed.

The number of accidents occurring in this anthracite district, according to the report of Mine Inspector Davies, were nine. Two of those proved to be fatal, leaving two widows and three children.

Indications are that the excursions to Glen Onoko will be revived this summer by the Lehigh Valley road. The place is being put into better shape than ever.

Prominent officers of the United Mine Workers will visit town next Saturday evening and a mass meeting will be held to discuss the questions of the day.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad began the erection yesterday at Jersey City of an $800,000 grain elevator, the biggest on the Atlantic seaboard.

The breaker boys at Nos. 5 and 7 mines of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke are on strike and the collieries are thrown idle.

Now for the Great Circus.

The Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Union of greatest menageries, circuses and hippodromes, which comes to Wilkes-Barre on Wednesday, after a second season's overwhelming success in Madison Square Garden, New York city, seems to be fully justified in its advertising by the many good and impartial things said of it. Every newspaper in New York praised it to the limit, and Senator Chauncey M. Depew voiced the general opinion in saying: "Your show is novel, brilliant, up-to-date, exhilarating and absolutely clean." "The biggest circus that New York ever saw," says the World, and that is just what everyone, everywhere, who has seen it says.

The listed living wonders and high-class acts and races supply enough entertainment to astonish and amuse a nation. The biggest canyons on earth are filled with the biggest collection of rarest wild beasts, the biggest herds of performing elephants, the biggest troupes and schools of trained quadrupeds and amphibia, and the biggest circuses and hippodrome companies, who present a hundred splendid acts and races in three rings, on elevated stages and pedestals, overhead, and on the biggest course ever canopied.

To particularize would be impossible, but an idea of the stupendous scale upon which the aggregation is conducted may be gathered from the fact that it employs a thousand men and horses, introduces nineteen male and female bareback equestrians, has a whole comic circus of twenty-five world-famous clowns, and, altogether, some three hundred noted representatives in every branch of arctic art, from sprites and bicyclists in mid-air to supple Samsons on the ground. The daily morning street parade presents many wild beast displays and magnificent spectacular effects.

The summer timetables will go into effect on Sunday.
