Make all money orders, checks, etc., payable to the Tribune Printing Company, Limited.

FREELAND, PA., JULY 13, 1900.

If in Doubt, Buy It.

In a Philadelphia newspaper, devoted entirely to the interests of those who deal in stocks and corporation securities, there appeared a short article the other day on the political situation.

As concerns the political outlook the average Wall street speculator thinks the presidential race is all over but the shouting.

BREVITIES.

Rev. J. O. Schlenker, of Hazleton, addressed the Freeland branch of the Luther League at St. Luke's church Wednesday evening.

Baker B. C. Laubach has placed another new and up-to-date wagon on the road. He has also placed a new wagon on his route at Nuremberg.

The five-horse-power boiler which supplies steam for the Tribune's machinery was treated to a new set of flues and given a thorough overhauling at Drifton shops yesterday.

George Fagan's home on Washington street has been improved by the painters.

Smoke the John Smith. At Kelper's. Mrs. Philip Dickson, of South Heberton, while burning some old shrubbery in the yard yesterday morning, was quite severely burned about the hands and face.

August Mattis, the Highland jigger-runner who was injured on Tuesday, is out of danger at the Miners' hospital.

Peter Janski and Michalina Burzynska, both of town, will be married next week in the Polish church at Hazleton.

Tomorrow evening the Chester Base Ball Club will run a trolley excursion to Hazle Park.

ROUND THE REGION.

Through information furnished by the United Mine Workers, Joseph Parchorite, of Shamokin, is under bail on the charge of working as a miner under another man's certificate.

At a meeting last night of the employees of the Connell Coal Company, of Duryea, it was decided to return to work at the same prices that were paid when they went out on strike, four months ago, for an increase of wages.

The constable's sale of the furniture and furnishings of the Republican League of Luzerne county took place on Wednesday at Wilkesbarre and realized $29.65.

Early next month Bishop Hoban and a number of upper end priests of the diocese of Scranton will go to the Paris exposition and then to Rome, this being jubilee year.

Mrs. Needham, mother of Attorney Frank Needham and James Gaughan, died yesterday, aged 71 years. She will be buried Saturday morning at Hazleton.

Vestina Bevato, an Italian, was injured so badly at Honey Brook stripping by a premature blast on Wednesday that he died a few hours later.

After falling thirty feet Maggie Cunningham, a waitress employed at the Exchange hotel, Wilkesbarre, broke through a skylight and landed on the floor in a barber shop. She was severely hurt.

The school directors of East Mauch Chunk have decided to bond the district in the sum of $8,000, the fund to be used for the erection of an additional school building.

Michael E. McGinley, of East Mauch Chunk, has successfully passed the civil service examination, and upon the recommendation of Congressman Laird H. Barber has been appointed to a $1,200 a year job in the census department at Washington.

The property of Mrs. William Williamson on Walnut street is undergoing repairs.

Mrs. Peter Gallagher, of South Heberton, is on the sick list.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Kresky, North Centre street.

Huckleberries are down to 4 cents a quart.

Gentlemen, for hats and caps go to A. Oswald's. He has a nice variety.

The Sisters of Mercy of St. Ann's convent enjoyed a day's outing at Mt. Yeager yesterday.

The people of South Heberton appreciate the Tribune's carrier service. Nearly every person in town subscribed to the paper when our agent called.

From the Supreme Court. The supreme court has handed down decisions in a number of important cases from this county.

The case of Lonzer vs. Lehigh Valley Railroad Company was a damage suit, Lonzer was an engineer and was fatally injured in an accident at Stockton, the engine running off the track into a cave.

In the case of Kerrigan vs. Pardee proceedings were brought by Mr. Kerrigan for money he believed he was entitled to according to agreement.

Kerrigan was a miner in the employ of Pardee & Co. and the breast which he worked caved in. He claimed that a lot of loose coal in the breast belonged to him and he should be paid for it.

The coal never was taken out for the reason that the mine was abandoned after the cave. He obtained a judgment in the lower court, which is now reversed.

Register Tomorrow. All pupils interested in the Freeland School of Music and Languages will kindly register for the summer course tomorrow at the Tribune office.

The People's Newspaper. The Freeland Tribune now brightens our sanctum thrice a week, instead of only twice as heretofore.

Minnesota schools cost about $5,000,000 annually, and that is one third the money raised by the taxes in the state.

The evolution of the bicycle is about complete. There are no violent innovations in the models for wheels this year.

Minnie, the eleven-year-old daughter of General Gotha, of the Transvaal army, is a pupil in a school in Highgate, England.

It is not many years since Governor Wells, of Utah, was a newspaper reporter in San Francisco, on a salary of a few dollars a week.

William Gregory, Republican nominee for Governor of Rhode Island, is one of the best yachtsmen in that state and owns two handsome boats.

A new ordinance in Philadelphia prohibits the placing of loose circulars under doors, in vestibules, on doorsteps front porches or around door-knobs.

There are now 214 transports engaged by the British Government. They aggregate 1,050,329 tons, and the largest is the Cymic, which is of 12,552 tons.

THE DELAWARE, SUSQUEHANNA AND SCHUYLKILL RAILROAD.
