SACRIFICES TO KING COAL

Several Serious Accidents This Week.

Resumption of Work Followed by Many Fatalities. Dockage, Semi-Monthly Pay and Other Matters.

More lives have been crushed out as the result of mine accidents. This time the victims are William Shepherd and his stepson, Calvin Conner, well known residents of Hudson, a little town in the upper end of the county. While the men were working in their chamber in the Pine Ridge mine of the Algonquin Coal Company, near Miners' Mills, there was a sudden fall of top coal and the men were buried under it. Other workmen were at once put to work to clear away the fall and in a few hours they came upon the body of Conner, and that of Shepherd was found soon afterwards. Both were badly crushed. Shepherd was about 67 years old and was a prominent resident of that vicinity. His stepson, Calvin Conner, was 45 years old.

While telling a story to a party of six men, George Osborne, a driver boy, was instantly killed in the Cayuga mine at Scranton. The men were in a circle around him listening to Osborne's story, when a "bell" of rock fell. None of the men were injured.

Frank Macallosky, who was burned by the explosion of gas in Kingston colliery on Tuesday, died yesterday.

Matthew Freeman, aged 55 years, a fire boss employed at Luke Fiddler colliery, Shamokin, was fatally injured. While making his rounds he came upon a mine car which had been derailed. He tried to lift it on the rails, with the assistance of several other workmen. In doing so his body and head were caught between the car and the top and side of the gangway, and before he could be released from his perilous position his skull was fractured, his back horribly crushed and several ribs broken by the car starting to run.

Want the Law Enforced.

The mine employes of VanWickle's colliery at Coleraine and Pardon's colliery at Harwood have presented demands to the operators for the enforcement of the semi-monthly pay law. It is stated that the law will be complied with without legal compulsion.

Similar demands are being prepared throughout the anthracite region wherever the employes are paid only once a month.

Excessive Dockage.

In some of the mines in the Wyoming valley where the men have returned to work there is much complaint of excessive dockage. The docking question was not settled in the agreement between the operators and the men, although the evil has been a crying one for years.

At Hudson the employes at the Delaware and Hudson Company mine, to the number of 300, struck because of excessive dockage. The company officials say the men attempted to cut down the size of the cars they sent to the breakers.

The miners of the Dorrance and Prospect collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company struck yesterday against excessive dockage.

New Coal Prices.

The new tidewater circular of the anthracite mining and carrying companies, issued yesterday, announces an advance in the price of coal of 50 cents a ton over that demanded by the July circular. The prices quoted for a ton on board are as follows: $4.65 for stove and nut, $4.40 for egg and $4.15 for broken.

The city retailers will reduce their prices to the following figures on Monday: $5.75 for white ash, $6 for pink and $6.25 for red ash. These prices, while averaging $1 a ton less than was demanded during the strike and 50 cents less than is now being asked, are still 75 cents higher than those quoted prior to the strike. There is no likelihood of a further reduction during the winter.

There has been no general advance in prices at the mines for local consumers, but an increase in the probabilities of the near future.

Deputy Shot by Comrade.

Captain Daniel Christian, of the coal and iron police, has discharged all of the deputies. One of the number, Walter Phillips, of Pottsville, is a patient in the Pottsville hospital, where he was admitted early yesterday morning with a wound inflicted by Charles Unneweller, one of the force. The bullet entered the cheek bone and lodged on the back of the neck. The surgeons failed to remove the missile.

Unneweller deliberately pointed his revolver at Phillips and fired. He said that he did not know his revolver was loaded.

Mr. Mitchell's Itinerary.

President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, and his headquarters staff have about ended their business in the anthracite region. On Wednesday night Mr. Mitchell addressed the McAdoo miners and left next day for New York city, where he made an address in Cooper Union in the evening. This evening he will address a mass meeting at Nanticoke, and on Saturday he will leave for his headquarters at Indianapolis. Next week he will go to his home at Spring Valley, Ill., for a few days of rest.

Incorrect Reports.

"No accidents during October" is the report of Mine Inspector Davies, of this district. While it is true that comparatively few men were at work in the Lehigh region last month, there were mine accidents in October and some serious ones at that.

The incorrect reports furnished each month by Mr. Davies have been noticed by the mine employes and others for some time past, and what purpose is being served by these untrue statements is a matter of speculation among people who keep tab on mine statistics.

McHughs Return to Work.

School Director Frank McHugh, of Foster township, who was employed on the survey corps at Eckley and who was suspended by Cox Bros. & Co. presumably because he granted the use of the Eckley school house to the United Mine Workers, has been re-instated. His brother, John, who had charge of the miners' supply store at Eckley and who was discharged because he refused to pick slate during the strike, has also been re-instated.

Silk Mill Strike.

The female employes of the Freeland silk mill struck on Wednesday for an increase in wages and the removal of the forewoman, Miss Johnson, of Jeddo. About two-thirds of the 150 girls employed at the mill joined the strike. Strenuous efforts are being made to induce the balance of the force to join them, but they are only partially successful, and the mill continues working, although badly handicapped by the strikers.

The girls claim that Miss Johnson's methods of overseeing are obnoxious and unbearable. They deny the report that her removal is asked for on account of her step-father having worked during the miners' strike. The wage question is a secondary matter, although the girls claim they are entitled to higher pay.

The scenes in the vicinity of the mill are exciting every morning, noon and evening, and hundreds of people line along Birkbeck street at the hours when the employes go to and from the mill. Those who are working are jeered, and every new recruit to the strikers' ranks is applauded.

Yesterday at noon a scrimmage occurred which looked serious for awhile, but in the end no one was badly hurt and the borough police prevented any harm being done.

Four out-of-town special officers are guarding the mill today and escorting the workers from their homes and return. The Jeddo and Drifton employes were brought to the mill today in busses. A team was also sent to Upper Lehigh, but the striking girls of that town prevailed upon all who live there to keep out of the bus and it returned empty.

Election Ballots Burned.

The Raeder printing, lithographing and binding establishment, Wilkesbarre, was totally destroyed by fire last night, causing a loss of over $150,000. The ballots for the First, Third and Fifth legislative districts of this county, about 50,000 in all, were destroyed, and the county commissioners are busy today making arrangements to have them reprinted. There is barely time to have the work done, and they will not be distributed before Monday.

The fire started from the oil room in the cellar and spread up the elevator shaft to all the eight floors, burning them all after a stubborn blaze of three hours.

Clergymen Ordained.

Seven young men were ordained as clergymen in the Central Pennsylvania diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church yesterday, the ordination services being conducted in St. Stephens' church, Wilkesbarre, by Bishop Ethelbert Talbot. The candidates were Rev. Herbert H. Powell, Wilkesbarre; Rev. William Evans Kunkle, Milton; Rev. Norton E. Houser, Bloomsburg; Rev. Francis Jarnall, Connersport; Rev. Sidney Winter, Stroudsburg; Rev. Frederick A. Lyne, Mt. Carmel, and Rev. George A. Green, Catasauqua.

Poverty Causes Suicide.

Dependency resulting from poverty and ill health brought on by her over-exertions in trying to support her six fatherless children, drove Mrs. Emma Garvis, a miner's widow, to suicide, at Scranton. She was found yesterday suspended from the hinge of a door with a stout wrapping twine noose about her neck. An overturned chair near by told how she accomplished the deed.

Election Returns.

The Bell Telephone Company has made arrangements to receive the election returns on the night of Tuesday, November 6, and will distribute the same to subscribers. The local exchange will be closed to the public on that night, but all subscribers and others calling from any station for information will be cheerfully and promptly supplied.
