Hitterate Russia.

The general illiteracy of the Russian country people has one curious result. A writer in Serthner's who has traveled widely in their country notes that the shopkeepers announce their wares by pictures rather than by names. The attention of customers is sought by paintings of the articles on sale—as of coats and trousers in the clothing stores; bread, butter, cheese and sausages in the line of provisions; knives, forks and carpenter's tools at the hardware dealer's, and so on. Even in the barracks the sentry is taught the proper military motions by a series of pictures. It all seems like dealing with children—as it is, "There are millions on millions who read no books or newspapers and write and receive no letters."

DAN RICE'S LAST NICKEL.

"Circus people as a rule are the best traveling class railroads have to deal with," said a railroad man who has had much to do with such combinations. "They are always found to be close figurers, presenting a million and one contentions, asking as many, if not more, courtesies, but in the end the results are generally satisfactory to both parties. "It is only within the last few years that railroads began handling circus outfits. The country road and wagon once afforded a cheap method of transportation between small towns, where nickels, dimes and quarters rarely ever failed to be taken in by the hatful. Those not on country roads were found on the large rivers, shifting their dates to suit the seasons all the way from St. Paul and Cincinnati to Cairo, Ills, and New Orleans. The late Colonel Dan Rice, who probably pleased more people as a clown than any other sawdust king, was a striking figure among the performing river craft and one of the first to put his show on the rails. "This was back in 1873, when a panic swept over the country and river towns had hit the sky, right and left, for the show business. Rice and his animals were tied up at St. Louis, waiting for times to grow better, when a trading firm offered agood lump sum for his boats. He figured it was go broke in almost any event, so he sold, and then began to tour eastward with a train of borrowed cars. It was a big undertaking, even for Rice, who was about the richest in the business in those days, but everything went reasonably well until he started to enter Indiana. The last Illinois town was 'rotten'. The show had hardly made 'animal meat,' to say nothing of the money to get to another stand. As a last resort Colonel Rice,' they began, 'we have always heard of you as a very charitable gentleman and unfortunately our church has been damaged and needs a new roof. We thought you might be willing to subscribe toward it."

"The kwe was a man who had just stood up a railroad asked to give money away, but he was equal to the occasion, when he pulled fro

Played a Joke on the Good Man.

A good story is told on the Rev. Mr.
Hageman. At the annual meeting of the Congregational church the question of hiring a preacher comes up. At one,
when the question came up, Hageman was rather anxious. The chairman, a good old deacon, arose, saying:
"All those in favor of retaining Elder Hageman for another year, at the same salary, will please rise."
Not one rose, and Hageman felt about as mean as mortal man could feel. But the chairman rose again, putting this question:
"All those in favor of keening the Rev.

the charman rose again, putting this question:

"All those in favor of keeping the Rev. Mr. Hageman at an increase of salary will please rise."

Every one rose. When it dawned upon the good elder that they had been only joking with him, the scowl on his face broke away into a broad grin—as an icide breaks away in sparkling water before the beneficent rays of a warm sun. Some of his best friends had planned the scheme, which worked to perfection.—Oxford (Mich.) Leader.

Orders Ahead of IIIs.

An irritated customer in a down town restaurant recently called his waiter to him. "Here, take this steak back to the kitchen," quoth he, "and when you get there give the cook my compliments and cram that blankety blank apology for a steak down his throat."

"All right, sir," said the waiter as he disappeared with the steak. In a minute or two, hewever, he was back again still carrying the steak upon his tray.

The customer glared at it. "What do you mean by bringing that thing back here?" he demanded. "Why didn't you do with it as I told you?"
"Very sorry, sir," replied the waiter, "but there were two orders ahead of yours, sir,"—New York Tribune.

A Look Into the Future.

When all freight traffle has been banished to underground railways and the automobile has displaced the horse for surface travel, nearly the entire street between the pavements can be devoted to green turf. Cities of the twentieth and following centuries may be free from dust and the vile odors arising from animal traffle. The automobile mowing machine may be substituted for the sweeping machines, to the great improvement of health and increase of enjoyment of citizens.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
