"Moral Sunsion."

Witherby—Biltherby had a great plan for punishing his son. He got a heavy whip, and every time the boy was bad he was going to hold out his hand and have the lad strike him instead of punishing the youngster in the usual way. Siltherby—How did it work?

Witherby—Biltherby's hand is so sore that he can't spank the boy for whacking him so hard.—Baltimore American.

His Usual Threat.
Hetty—I think Tom loves me with all his heart. Why, he actually threatened to shoot himself if I did not look upon him with favor.
Bertha—How like Tom! That's what he always says. Funny, isn't it?—Boston Transcript.

He Was Right,

Mr. Newlywed—I actually believe you like my pet poodle better than you do me.

Mrs. Newlywed—Nonsense, George!
You know I would do as much for you as I would for the dog.—Ohio State Journal.

HUNTING THE COON.

Lively Animal Is Treed.

"Did you ever go on a coon hunt?"
id a resident of Richmond at the Fifth Avenue hotel the other day. "It's really rever exciting and well worth trying. You hant them after dark, and the coon incariably covers a good stretch of territory before being compelled to take to a roc. It is almost half an hour to an abour from the time the coon is first started to the time he is compelled to take to he tree. ROUND THE REGION.

E. L. Fuller has purchased the entire interest of the Newton Coal Company. These mines include 1,500 or more acres and extend from the Clear Spring collery, at Pittston, to the Babylon breaker, at Old Forge. There are three breakers, the Seneca, Phoenix and Colmbia. The distance occupied by the company is something over two miles. Operations will be conducted under the name of the Seneca Coal Company.

Miles' Nervine and Pills.

George and Milton Vanocker, two youngsters, are the first victims of a coasting accident in Pittston the present winter. While enjoying the sport on Union street hill they lost control of their sled and it dashed into an approaching car. Milton went under the car and was caught by the truck. An arm and one leg were broken.
