DIED IN THE PHILIPPINES

Thomas Welsh a Victim of Typhoid Fever.

Another Freeland Boy's Life Sacrificed for His Country's Sake--News Received Yesterday.

James Welsh, of the Third ward, received a letter yesterday announcing the death of his son, Thomas Welsh, in the Philippines, on December 10 last. The young man was aged 21 years and was serving as a private in Company H, Nineteenth Infantry. He enlisted at Hazleton in May, 1899, and his late letters to his parents showed him to be confident of returning home safely next summer.

The announcement of the death came from Captain Thomas G. Hanson, of Company H, who states that he died from typhoid fever in the United States military hospital in Cebu. The remains were buried next day in Cebu cemetery with full military honors.

During his short service the young man's regiment participated in many battles against the natives, but these dangers he escaped, only to fall a victim to the fever which has taken the life of many other young Americans. The Welsh family is grief-stricken and much sympathy will be expressed for them.

An effort will be made to have the remains brought to Freeland.

In December the Tribune published an account of the death in the Philippines of a soldier by the name of the deceased. The Manila dispatches stated he was a member of Company C, Seventeenth Infantry. It is quite probable that the death was that of the Freeland volunteer, and that an error was made in giving his company and regimental number.

This death makes three young men of this vicinity whose lives have been sacrificed for their country since the Spanish troubles began. The first was John W. Jones, of Upper Lehigh, who was killed at San Juan, Cuba, on July 2, 1898. The second was Patrick Boyle, of Eckley, who fell in March, 1898, in the Philippines.

Freeland has still twelve of its boys on the army rolls--seven in the infantry, three in the artillery and two in the cavalry. The terms of enlistment of several will expire next summer.

Reports show a greatly increased death rate from throat and lung troubles, due to the prevalence of croup, pneumonia and grippe. We advise the use of One Minute Cough Cure in all of these difficulties. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Children like it. Grover's City drug store.

Mrs. E. I. Masters, at her home in Monitor, Ind., used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Pills to cure after effects of grip.

Death of William Jenkins.

Shortly after 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening William Jenkins, a well known and esteemed resident of Freeland, died at his home on the corner of Centre and Luzerne streets. For some time past the deceased had been in poor health, but few of his friends knew that his condition was dangerous.

Mr. Jenkins was a native of Llandilo, Carmarthenshire, South Wales, and was born July 9, 1842. Thirty-eight years ago he came to America. For some years he resided at Eckley and Drifton, and later came to Freeland. He had many friends and acquaintances throughout the region.

He is survived by a wife and the following daughters and son: Mrs. Thomas Richards, Mrs. August Stittmatter, Mrs. Richard Scott, Misses Elizabeth and Edith, and Robert Jenkins.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be in charge of Loyal Castle, Knights of the Mystic Chain. Services will be conducted at the residence by Rev. F. Marshall, and the interment will be made in Freeland cemetery.

One of the largest funerals ever accorded a Freeland young man was that of Patrick Gallagher, which took place yesterday morning. Notwithstanding the cold weather, hundreds of people attended and followed the remains from his late home on Adams street to St. Ann's church, where a requiem mass was read. The United Mine Workers and the Good Wills Club attended in a body.

At noon today the funeral of the late Rev. John Ireland took place at Eckley and proceeded via carriages to Hazleton, where the remains were interred in Vine street cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. J. P. Buxton, of Drifton, and Rev. F. Marshall, of Freeland, and many friends of the deceased were present.

The Birkbeck Estate.

Mrs. Mary Birkbeck, widow of the late Joseph Birkbeck, yesterday filed a statement with the register of wills giving notice that she proposes to begin proceedings to set aside the ante-nuptial agreement and claim against the will of the deceased such portion of the estate as she would be entitled to if the deceased had died intestate.

The estate involved amounts to about $300,000, consisting principally of stocks and bonds and other personal property and if the proceedings entered by Mrs. Birkbeck are sustained by the court she will receive about $50,000 more than she would receive by accepting the terms of the will.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Birkbeck entered into an agreement with her husband that she was to take in his estate only what he would leave her by will. After Mr. Birkbeck's death the contents of his will were learned and it was found that he gave to his wife $100,000 absolutely and the residence, the latter being in dispute as to whether he intended to give it to her or only a life interest.

Arrested on Another Charge.

The charge of murder against Thomas Boyle, of Highland, having shown signs of being unable to be proven, a warrant was sworn out a few days ago by Anthony Brezinski, a brother of the man who was shot here on December 15, in which Boyle is accused of voluntary manslaughter. The warrant was served on Wednesday, but Boyle was immediately released upon bail to the amount of $1,000 being furnished by Condy O. Boyle.

Surprise Parties.

Charles Riley, of Walnut street, was surprised on Wednesday evening by a number of his friends who called to pay their respects, the occasion being his sixteenth birthday anniversary.

Isaac Waldron and family were tendered a farewell party at Upper Lehigh last evening. They will reside at Mahanoy City.

A surprise party was tendered Wilmer Benner at his home in Upper Lehigh Wednesday evening.
