INSOMNIA is a forerunner of nervous prostration; what organism is strong enough to stand up under the strain of sleepless nights? It is plain that nothing in the world can possibly take the place of restful sleep, yet many try to elude out an existence without this sustaining power. Their nerves are in such a state of tension that sleep is an impossibility, or at best is a series of hideous dreams. It is not strange that physical and mental weakness, amounting soon to complete prostration, follows inability to sleep. There is no let-up to the strain. Vital forces are drawn upon, confirmed invalidism results.

Insomnia Wrecks the Nerves.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA Makes Health.

The recuperative power of natural sleep is wonderful. Complete physical and mental exhaustion gives place, after a few hours of quiet slumber, to a full renewal of energy. The fatigue of body and mind disappears entirely while all the muscles are strong and the nerves absolutely calm.

Sleep is the indication given by Nature as a guide to human plans to restore health. It shows that there are inherent in the wonderful human organism powers of recuperation which must have opportunity to assert themselves. Based on this clear demonstration, Dr. Greene's NERVURA blood and nerve remedy was constructed by Dr. Greene to help Nature combat the ills that attack men and women. What no amount of powerful drugs could possibly accomplish, can be successfully and promptly effected by healthy blood and nerves, the kind of blood which flows in strengthening flood to every portion of the body, the condition of nerves which permits awakened Nature to seize its opportunity to restore to perfect health.

Mrs. FLORENCE TAYLOR, of 4 Courtland Place, Bridgeport, Conn., writes:

"For four years I was troubled with nervous debility and hysteria in a most aggravated form. It caused sleeplessness and mental depression, and for months I was confined to my bed. My constitution wasted and I totally lost my appetite. I had many doctors, but they failed to give me any relief. I was advised to try Dr. Greene's NERVURA blood and nerve remedy. I was in a terrible condition when I began its use, and almost immediately there was a wonderful change came over me. I regained my appetite, the dizziness in my head cleared; it renewed my interest in life and made me feel, in fact, like another person. After taking six bottles I thankfully proclaimed myself strong and well. These six bottles did for me what hundreds of dollars and numerous physicians failed to do."

POPULAR SCIENCE.

No wonder the fish crop is never "short." The flounder lays 7,000,000 eggs annually; several others from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000, while the turbot is credited with depositing from 11,000,000 to 12,000,000 during each breeding season.

Honey dew has been a subject of recent investigations which show it to be a sugary substance obtained from the juice of the trees—such as sycamore, ash and lime—on which it is found. The statement that honey dew is sometimes produced by other insects than aphides seems to be ill founded, as reports indicate that the insects noticed are prisoners that have been caught by the sticky honey dew.

The largest hothouses in the country devoted exclusively to the cultivation of orchids are in New Jersey. Four hundred varieties may be found there, from Colombia, Venezuela, Brazil, Ecuador, Bolivia, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras and Mexico, the principal supply sources; also from every other tropical and sub-tropical country, including one from the Philippines, which has taken kindly to American soil.

A new method has been discovered whereby balloonists may communicate while at an altitude of over 6000 feet with those on the ground. The method consists of a huge drum placed some fifty feet below the car which is beaten by electricity. The dots and dashes of the Morse telegraphic code have been adopted with complete success. This will prove a great advantage in warfare. Hitherto balloons have been limited to an ascension of 1000 to 1500 feet on account of their telegraphic wires, and have thus been unable to escape the range of fire.

Between Formosa, and the coast of China lies a group of twenty-one islands, interspersed with innumerable reefs and ledges, which are called the Pescadore Islands. According to the investigation of a Japanese geologist, these islands have suffered in a remarkable manner from the northeast winds, which blow with savage violence there during nine months of the year. The original area of the islands has been greatly reduced by erosion, and their surfaces are barren and desolate, so that the wind whipped group forms "a quasi desert amidst the green island world of Southeastern Asia."

Several years ago members of the Geological Survey suggested that in former times the Tennessee River, instead of joining the Ohio, as at present, flowed into the Gulf of Mexico through the channels of the Coosa and Alabama Rivers. This conclusion has recently been corroborated in a singular manner by Mr. Charles T. Simpson, of the Smithsonian Institution. The original suggestion was based on the appearance of the land, but Mr. Simpson's confirmation depends upon the distribution of a particular form of fresh-water mussel which, although it is peculiar to the Tennessee River, is also found in the Coosa and Alabama. As these creatures cannot traverse the land, the inference is that formerly the waters of the Tennessee flowed southward into the streams above named.

The White Wings' Drinking Cup.

Some thirsty "white wing" has invented an emergency drinking cup of the knowledge of which 's spreading among the city laborers rapidly. It is not an uncommon sight now to see a street cleaner taking a long and satisfying draught by the use of an ordinary paper bag as a drinking cup. The bag is begged from any peanut vendor who happens near. The thirsty one opens and fills the bag in the usual way with water from one of the street hydrants. Lifting the bag full of water so that one corner of the bottom rests in his mouth, the drinker simply bites out the corner of the bag and the drink begins. He can make the flow as slow or as fast as long as he pleases. But it takes a new bag for the second drink.—New York Sun.

The Odor of the Kudzu Vine.

The kudzu vine, which has become so valuable in rapidly covering trellises, pillars and buildings, has been esteemed mainly on this account. Its growth of over 100 feet in a single season is truly amazing. It was distributed at dolicho-japonica, though it is now said its proper baptismal name is pachyrhizus thunbergianus, derived from its enormous roots. It appears that where the plant has become strongly established all the branches of the last year do not die back to the ground. From these enduring stems spikes of bright purple, bell-like flowers issue. They are so hidden by the foliage as to be unobserved, but soon make themselves known by a delightful odor that is wafted to long distances around.—Mechanics' Monthly.

Five Acres in Cotton.

Mr. William Love, on Judge John Youmans's plantation, made on five acres four bales of cotton, netting him 2100 pounds of lint and 800 bushels of cotton seed. The cotton at ten cents brought $210, and the seed, at twenty-five cents a bushel, bringing $200. Thus it will be seen that the seed the farmers used to throw away in this country are bringing nearly or quite as much as the lint.—Swainsboro Pine Forest.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous, nervous trouble. Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It builds up the weakened nervous system, and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.

"I was a very sick woman, caused by Change of Life. I suffered with hot flashes and fainting spells. I was afraid to go on the street, my head and back troubled me so. I was entirely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. JENNIE NOBLE, 5010 Keyser St., Germantown, Pa.

Lived Before the Pharaohs.

There has been brought to the Hall of the Dead in the British Museum, says the New York Press, the body of a man who lived in Egypt in time long before the days of Menes, the first king of the United Egypt. It was probably 7000 years ago that this man roamed about hunting on the shores of the Nile with his weapons of flint. When he died his body was treated to a preparation of bitumen and placed in the tomb from which the explorers took it. The tomb was hollowed out of the sandstone on the west bank of the Nile, in Upper Egypt, and the body rests in the British Museum in a model of the tomb. The mummy lay on its left side with its knees drawn up and its hands over its face. The grave was covered with a slab of unworked stone, and in it, beside the body, were disposed flint knives and several vases partly filled with the dust of funeral offerings. The indications are that the man belonged to a light-skinned, fair-haired people. He was of the race which came into Egypt in the earliest times, when the setting of the Nile made a land capable of cultivation. These people might be called the aboriginals of Egypt, and remains of their settlements are found on the west bank of the Nile.
