

Any one can Tell

The man or woman with an irritable temper, restless, fidgety movements, failing memory and lack of concentration is suffering from crippled nerves. The lines of care, the palid cheeks, the wasting flesh, the dark circles under the eyes tell all too plainly of the worry, the pain, the loss of sleep and disturbed digestion, that break down the nervous forces and consume the vital power. For quick and sure relief nothing equals

"My wife was a constant sufferer from nervous prostration which was brought on by female troubles. She was in a very bad condition and was so completely run-down and nervous that she could not sleep day or night. She began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and found relief at once. A few bottles completely cured her, and today she enjoys the best of health."

JOHN VINZANT,
Lake City, Fla.

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

It relieves the pain, quiets the irritation, strengthens the overtaxed and weak digestion and feeds the worn-out brain and the wasted nerves. Try a bottle to-day.

School Bell Rings by Electricity.

Near Roanoke, Ills., near the center of the state, there is a schoolteacher whose ingenuity might not please all of his pupils—that is, the indolent ones. E. N. Wheelwright teaches a district school, and in a district school, you know, or perhaps some city children do not know, the teacher has to ring the bell and build the fire and sweep the floor unless he pays some ambitious boy to do it for him. But this teacher does not have to hire a boy to ring the bell, nor does he ring it himself, yet, no matter what he may be doing at 9 o'clock in the morning, that bell sets up a clatter that no boy or girl can escape. Mr. Wheelwright has arranged a clock which at the proper hour sets in motion an electric apparatus that puts the bell to ringing. Thus the boys of that district have no longer any hope that the teacher will be so engrossed in some task that he will forget to call school. The bell rings also at 10:45 a. m., 1 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and at 4 o'clock.—Chicago Record.

Grandma.

When grandma puts her glasses on
And looks at me—just so—
If I have done a naughty thing,
She's sure, somehow, to know.
How is it she can always tell
So very, very well?

She says to me, "Yes, little one,
'Tis written in your eye!"
And I look the other way
And turn and seem to try
To hunt for something on the floor
She's sure to know it all the more.

If I should put the glasses on
And look in grandma's eyes,
Do you suppose that I should be
So very, very wise?
Now, what if I should find it true
That grandma had been naughty too?

But, ah, what am I thinking of,
To dream that grandma could
Be anything in all her life!
But sweet and kind and good
I'd better try myself to be
So good that when she looks at me
With eyes so loving all the day
I'll never want to run away.

"Last winter I was confined to my bed with a very bad cold on the lungs. Nothing gave me relief. Finally my wife bought a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure that effected a speedy cure. I cannot speak too highly of that excellent remedy."—Mr. T. K. Houseman, Manatoway, Pa. Grover's City drug store.

In these days of "hustle" one wants to read a newspaper which presents all the news in the most concise form without being obliged to read columns of matter to get at facts.

Viewed from this standpoint

..The.. Philadelphia Record

is the ideal newspaper. It is an enterprising, energetic, honorable journal, printing all the news.

It is courageous and independent; speaking its mind without fear or favor, and it is devoted first, last and all the time to the interests of the public.

"The Record" is the PIONEER ONE CENT NEWSPAPER of the United States, and has by far the largest circulation in Philadelphia, averaging over 190,000 daily and over 155,000 Sunday.

This is the third largest morning circulation in the United States.

Price of subscription to both issues for one year is $4; to the daily only, $3; to the Sunday only, $1; to the daily only, for one month, 25c.; to the daily and Sunday for one month, 35c.

BREVITIES.

You will waste time if you try to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat heartily. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that will do it. Eastern oysters do not reproduce well in the colder waters of Oregon and Washington. An attempt is to be made, therefore, to acclimate there the fine large oysters of northern Japan.

Sunday consultations at the Paris hospitals were not well attended by the working classes, the workman preferring to lose a day's work rather than a few of his hours of idleness on Sunday.

In a suit brought at Columbus, O., to recover payment for a pane of glass the novel defense was brought that the plaintiff had taken the glass from a coffin and that the greivous associations connected with it made it unfit for use.

Three hundred persons in London earn a living—and several of them are growing rich—by providing meals for the cats of the metropolis, which they deliver regularly once, twice and thrice a day, as may suit the owners of the feline pets.

An American musical instrument company has issued circulars broadcast in London offering to 200 pupils in each district two free music lessons per week for 12 months. One of the conditions attached to this novel offer is that each pupil shall recommend the company's instruments to friends of the family.

The galleries of congress now begin to resemble the orchestra chairs of a theater in the evening. This is not so much due to the bright and pretty costumes of numerous brides, but to the fact that nearly all the ladies remove their hats. It is a new custom in the galleries, but it is one that gives to the sessions of the senate the character of an afternoon tea.

Paper wood is as hard as wood itself, is susceptible of brilliant treatment, is vastly lighter, perfectly adjustable and absolutely fireproof. The erection of skyscrapers necessitated a very serious study of fireproofing treatment of wood, and the result is that paper is coming very largely into use in all cases where woodwork has to be used. It is particularly adaptable for ceilings and is becoming popular for that purpose.

Two thousand Japs were put to work by the Great Northern railroad a year ago. They took the places of white men in all branches, and there were many who predicted the necessity of excluding the Japanese, just as the Chinese were before them. The fear, however, was ill founded. The railroad has come to the conclusion that Japanese at $1 a day are more expensive than white men at $1.25. Orders have been given to discharge the Japanese as fast as their places can be filled.

Mirrors For Girls in Prison.

It is said the recommendation of the Indiana legislative investigating committee for an appropriation of $50 to buy small looking glasses for the inmates of the State Industrial School For Girls was caused by the discovery that they have not been permitted to have anything of the kind.

Under a rule of the superintendent girls and children found with a bit of broken looking glass in their possession received a large number of demerit marks, this evidence of worldly vanity being considered injurious to their moral welfare.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

A SOUTHERN BEAUTY.

An Alabama Girl Who Captivated Washington Society.

In Birmingham, Ala., the other day a party of people were discussing the question of beauty.

"The most important feature is the nose," declared one.

"No; the eyes," cried another. "The expression, the coloring," insisted a third. The room was divided. There were those who voted for a beautiful figure, a lovely throat, a fine head, a clear skin.

"A real beauty must have everything nowadays," remarked a connoisseur. "It isn't sufficient for her to have a beautiful head if she carries it badly. Of what use fine shoulders if she stoops? A real beauty must have perfection in every feature."

In the midst of this dissertation some one in search of a subject upon which all might agree asked suddenly:

"Who is a beauty?"

There were 24 people in the room, 24 of Birmingham's representative citizens. The conversation took place at a dinner, so half the guests were men and half women.

Now, the remarkable fact for which this conversation has been retailed happened. They all agreed.

"Florida Graves!" answered an enthusiast.

"Florida Graves!" echoed another.

MISS FLORIDA GRAVES.

and without a dissenting voice Florida Graves carried the vote.

There are those farther north who will agree with the selection.

Miss Florida Graves is Washington's newest beauty.

She arrived there this winter unheralded and quickly established herself as a reigning belle. To Mrs. Bankhead, wife of the Alabama congressman, was given the pleasure of introducing her.

The Birmingham beauty became a Washington success. Senators, army officers, diplomats and millionaires contributed to establish her fame.

Besides beauty she has a rare fund of sympathy and a love for art. The latter is most evident to her admirers and friends when she plays the violin. For a woman she plays unusually well, with fire, with strength. She has studied under the best masters in Europe and America and perhaps her most beautiful moments are revealed when she has close up against her neck the smooth wood of the instrument she loves.

Zealous Little Housewives.

A school of domestic economy at Bethnal Green, London, carries off the palm for enthusiasm among its pupils. The school is built and finished in imitation of an English workingman's cottage, and the poor little girls of the district are taken in and trained to be capable wives for workmen.

The school has been a great success and is always crowded to its full capacity, but either the ordinary routine work must be deadly dreary or the pupils' zeal must be monumental, for the records show that scrubbing and stone cleaning are dealt out as rewards to deserving little women. When a pupil has been extraordinarily good, she is allowed to scrub a floor or blacken a stove for a treat.

After all, the theory may be sound. Both kinds of work are delightfully messy, and messiness undoubtedly appeals to the youthful mind.

"I had piles so bad I could get no rest nor find a cure until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. After using it once, I forgot I ever had anything like piles."—E. C. Boice, Somers Point, N. Y. Look out for imitations. Be sure you ask for DeWitt's. Grover's City drug store.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

Jimmy Ryan, who for 16 years has been a member of the Chicago Baseball club, has at last left the Windy City for good and become part owner, manager, captain and center fielder of the St. Paul team of the Western league. George Lennon, who secured the St. Paul franchise, will be Ryan's partner. At the close of last season Ryan stated that he would not play another year with the Chicago club; that he was sick and tired of all the squabbling that had been going on these many years.

By the departure of Ryan Chicago has lost one of the most brilliant players who ever wore a uniform. Although 16 years in the big league, Ryan played as good a game last year as ever. His batting might not have been quite so good, but when hits were needed he made them.

"SENATOR" JAMES RYAN.

In one respect Jimmy Ryan held all left handed fielders safe, and almost all of the right handed ones, too, for that matter. In a throw to the plate he was as accurate as if he carried the ball to the catcher. This is remarkable. Fielders who throw with their left arms are seldom sure. The ball takes varied shoots and is almost as liable to go to the third or first base man as the catcher. Not so with Ryan. He could "hand the ball" to the catcher from any part of the field. His arm was strong, too, and many a runner who attempted to score on an outfield fly to Ryan was "buried" at the plate.

Harvard's New Rowing Tank.

Harvard has a novel rowing tank, which is the result of faculty and college study, and is a marvel of ingenuity. By it the Harvard oarsmen have almost perfect rowing exercises and training indoors. The scheme is the development of Professor Hollis of the engineering department and chairman of the athletic committee and his class. He put the subject before his class as a problem.

The scheme is based on the idea that the water in the old rowing tanks offered too much resistance and dead weight. Professor Hollis and his class could not make the boat shoot ahead to lessen this resistance as a shell on the river does, so they have arranged propellers run by electric motors at the bow of the "boat," with supplementary tubes and machinery, so that the water rushes by the boat at a good rate with the oars.

Beneath the boat are a pair of circular, deflecting planes, so that the water returns under the boat after passing down the sides.

The imaginary boat, or support for the eight sliding seats, is placed in the center of the tank. The water rushes from the bow, down the sides to the stern, so that the men pull with it, and goes back under the boat.

As a result of this, the men are pulling with the moving water. Naturally they pull faster than the water, so that there is resistance to the oars, and the harder and faster they pull the more the resistance. In the same way, when a shell is rushing through the water, the men are pulling water which is rushing by them in the same direction as this tank water.

The tank is of concrete, 63 feet long by 26 feet wide. It has 39 inches of water in it. The seats are on a rectangular wooden box, supported from the bottom.

Basket Ball's Growth.

Basket ball in the colleges has enjoyed an unprecedented growth this season. This is not merely true because Yale, Harvard, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Bucknell and State are all in line, but it is general throughout the country. All over the New England, eastern and middle states the colleges, with but few exceptions, are taking an active interest in the game. A great majority have representative teams, and in the remainder the sport is confined to interclass games. There have been disadvantages to overcome in organizing representative college teams which do not apply to any of the other college sports.

The principal one is that the use of the gymnasiums for practice by such teams can be had only at odd and inconvenient times. Without plenty of opportunity for team practice a team cannot hope to make a successful showing. Then again the game had not been officially recognized by colleges prior to this season, the same as many other sports, and this in itself caused many of the most promising men in the colleges to refrain from taking part in the game. This difficulty is gradually being overcome, and it seems to be only a question of time when general recognition is bound to come, as is evidenced by such action on the part of Harvard, Princeton and Cornell within a comparatively short time. This means that ere long there will be intercollegiate games between teams representing the big colleges, the same as in football and baseball. In fact, some games of this character have been played quite recently, and more are scheduled to follow.

Lord Curzon calculates that the famine has cost about 750,000 lives in India, though a much smaller number died directly of starvation.
