

BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

The Palm Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

That Grand Jury, the People, Have So Decided.

Used by Hundreds of Thousands in Spring as a Blood Medicine.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is indeed "The World's Great Spring Medicine." It has come to be recognized by almost everybody as the best possible spring medicine to take, and hundreds of thousands of our people use it during the trying spring months, to tone up anew the relaxed nerves and re-invigorate and enrich the blood.

A spring medicine is a necessity if one wishes to keep in perfect health and vigor during the changes from winter to summer. This grand spring tonic, this perfect spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is exactly what the system needs at this season. It not only purifies, but makes rich, red blood; it not only strengthens and invigorates the nervous system, but re-energizes and revitalizes the nerves by feeding them with renewed nerve force and power. It is not only an aid to digestion, but it creates a regular, natural and healthy action of the bowels, liver, kidneys, which in the spring are always sluggish and inactive.

In fact, it is just what people need to make them well and keep them well during these months, so threatening to the health of all, and when it is considered that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is made entirely from pure, health-giving vegetable remedies, and that people give it more testimonial of cure than any other remedy on earth, no one can doubt that it is the very best spring remedy for everybody to use.

Mr. Gustave Lohsch, of 337 First street, Jersey City, N. J., says:

"I was troubled with sick headaches, and could not sleep on account of the pains in my head. I was suffering night and day with dyspepsia, could not eat anything, my stomach would sour so. I had to starve myself to have any ease. I had to give up work at last, I was so nervous and miserable, and I was falling away in flesh so that my friends hardly knew me. I tried several remedies, but without avail. At last someone recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I tried one bottle and began to improve. I started in to eat all right; then I picked up my health; my headaches disappeared, and my weakness and sour stomach went away. I used three bottles, and could sleep all night with ease; I used six bottles, and felt like a new man. I can now do a hard day's work without any trouble, and I am as happy as a bird in spring. I was so miserable, always suffering, always in pain, but now I am like a new man."

Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for it is the discovery and prescription of a well-known physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who is responsible for its beneficial action, and who can be consulted free of charge, per-

Fresh Embryo Makes Old Wheat Grow.

The statement has frequently been made that it is possible to cause grains of wheat found in ancient Egyptian sepulchers to germinate and grow. This statement has been disputed, and the question was discussed at a recent meeting of the French Academy of Sciences. It was shown that while the albumen of wheat found in a tomb 6,000 years old had undergone no alteration, the embryo was changed and could not be caused to germinate. But a fresh embryo placed in the ancient albumen would grow, and this fact, it was said, roobably accounted for the statement that the old Egyptian wheat rescued from its long entombment would sprout and grow.—Youth's Companion.

There are only four statues in the United Kingdom erected to the memory of women other than royalties. The first statue of a woman erected in England was that of Sister Dora, the Wallall nurse; the second was that of Mrs. Siddons, the third Flora Macdonald, and the fourth that unveiled at Dunoon a year or two ago in memory of Burns' "Highland Mary."

There is a Class of People

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1/2 as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

Sisterville, W. Va., which is in a rich oil and gas country, got its name from the fact that an apparently valueless tract of 1,500 acres was given to seven sisters, and consequently called "sisters' farm." A little prospecting showed the land to be immensely valuable, and a growing town of some thousands of inhabitants now occupies the farm.

Cattlemen in South Dakota are generally agreed that it is time to abandon the present method of branding cattle as cruel. In New Zealand they have a composition which is used to make an easily distinguishable mark. It is applied with a cold iron, destroying the hair or hide, but not causing pain to the animal.

The total yield of the catch of fish in Canada last year was $21,891,700, being an increase of about $2,000,000 over the catch of the preceding year.

WHERE POLITENESS COUNTED.

Courteous Conductor Receives Good Position Through Trifling Action.

"It's astonishing how few people realize the value of politeness," said a gentleman today, in speaking of the opportunities for young men.

"I came into town every day on the Ellicott City cars," continued the gentleman, "and usually at the same hour every day. It seems to me that the conductors on that line are, as a rule, very courteous and accommodating, but there are a few exceptions. For several months a very pleasant young man was in charge of the car I used in the morning, but after New Year's day I missed him, and upon inquiring for him I found he had left the road. His politeness had secured him a better position."

"It seems that during the brisk shopping times just before the holidays this conductor had as a suburban passenger one rainy day a lady who was encumbered with a number of parcels and an umbrella. When the car arrived at the lady's stopping place the conductor sprang off the car, raised the lady's umbrella for her, assisted her with her packages, touched his cap and went on his way, thinking nothing more of the incident."

"Not so with the lady, however. That night she mentioned the circumstance to her husband, who is a large wholesale merchant, and requested him, if possible, to give the young conductor a better job than ringing up fares and expostulating with truck drivers. The husband is one of those model men who live only to please their wives, and the result was that on January 2, the conductor went to work at a salary considerably better than that paid him by the railway company and with almost unlimited opportunities for advancement."

"But mark the difference in men. The terminus of the Ellicott City line is at Charles and Lexington streets, but if the cars are a little ahead of time they must wait at the corner of Saratoga and Charles streets, which is a convenient passing point for the cars of the Edmondson avenue line. Our polite conductor had always called cheerily out, on reaching this point, 'Two minutes to wait,' or 'Going right down,' as the case might be. The first morning I came in with the new conductor he plumped right down in a seat when the car reached Charles and Saratoga streets, and when, after a slight pause, a passenger ventured mildly to inquire how long the wait would be, the conductor replied angrily, 'Bout five minutes.' All the passengers got off, and then, on looking at my watch, I found there were really only two minutes to wait. Before we got to Charles and Lexington streets the car overtook us. That conductor will never rise any higher, and it is doubtful whether he will even hold his present position long."—Baltimore News.

Deep Sea Pressure.

It is difficult to realize what the pressure at the ocean bottom really means; how enormous it is at three miles in depth. It is greater by several times than the pressure exerted by the pistons of the very greatest steam engines. Scientific men ascertain the temperature of the deep sea by sending down thermometers inclosed in small, strong thick glass tubes. Sometimes these tubes suddenly collapse to a fine powder under the enormous pressure of several miles of depth. Indeed one may say every hollow, man-made thing that sinks in the deep sea is crushed beyond recognition before it reaches the bottom. The strongest steel ships are hardly more resisting here than pasteboard boxes.—McClure's Magazine.

He Did and Then He Didn't.

Appropos of runs on banks, a story is told of an Irishman who had heard reports affecting a bank in which he had deposited his savings. Presenting himself at the paying teller's window, he said, peremptorily: "I want me money!" The official thus addressed quietly took his book, counted out the correct amount and handed it out. "Then you've got it?" exclaimed the depositor, his ire subsiding. "There it is!" replied the teller. "I don't want it! You may keep it!" And he went away satisfied of the bank's solidity.—Baltimore Sun.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

Deaths from consumption in Philadelphia are estimated to be one-third less than they were 15 years ago. The health authorities say the improvement is due to their continuous battle against the disease.

Koch's theory that mosquitoes should be let alone, but that people should be cinchonized, Major Ross considers as impossible to put into execution in a British colony, such as, for instance, Sierra Leone. The best method, in his opinion, is destruction or removal of the mosquito by means of surface drainage, cutting down undergrowth and the use of various culicides.

The big German factories which produce synthetic or artificial indigo are making tremendous efforts to get their product on the market and drive the vegetable indigo out of use. It is questionable, however, whether the artificial indigo will ever serve all the purposes of the natural. An article in the St. James Gazette says that British manufacturers are none of them using the synthetic indigo for wool and that even for cotton goods its legitimate usefulness is limited.

The newly invented process of bleaching baled yarns is carried out as follows: The yarns are packed either in single pounds or in packets of several pounds, in a receptacle before they are treated with the bleaching fluid, care being taken that the packing is so done that the said fluid acts on the threads lengthwise or in the direction of the fibres. This is effected by placing the bundles of yarn in the receptacle, which is open at the top, in a perpendicular instead of a horizontal position, as has previously been the practice. By this method it is claimed that great quantities of baled yarn can be bleached perfectly white without the trouble of unpacking, which, of course, saves time, and therefore money.

In an experiment made before a meeting of one of the sections of the New York Academy of Sciences, Professor E. R. Von Nordhoff produced by means of a miniature steam whistle, operated with compressed air, sound which was inaudible because of its high pitch, though the sound-waves produced were detectible by means of a sensitive flame. The object of the experiment was to illustrate a method of measuring the length of short sound waves by means of a diffraction grating, as light waves are measured. The waves in this instance were shown to have a length of about three-eighths of an inch. Audible sound waves are said to range in length between 70 feet and three or four-tenths of an inch. These numbers vary considerably, however, with the person.

A recent European invention is a process for making artificial sponges. The method is based on the action of zinc chloride on cellulose, by which spongy compounds similar to starch are produced. These products when placed in the water swell, and in an atmosphere sufficiently dry, soon become hard again. The formula for making the sponges is given as follows: One hundred grams of cellulose are treated with four kilograms of a concentrated solution of zinc and sodium chloride. This results in a plastic mass, slightly viscous, to which is added a kilogram of coarse sea salt. The substance is then placed in a specially constructed mill and pierced with two or three hundred holes, to form canals, and is then placed in a bath of alcohol and water for 24 hours. These sponges can be produced quite cheaply, and possess great durability, though they are said to be harder than the natural substance.

The Power of Artillery.

The power of artillery, properly handled and sufficiently numerous, is now so great that it is impossible to conceive an enemy capable of maintaining an aimed fire against it at all. If 100 guns concentrate their shrapnel on a front of trench, of say 500 yards extent, the number of bullets delivered is so great that every man's head and shoulders showing above the crest will, on an average, receive four hits a minute, and, if that is not sufficient to hinder steady aiming, the blinding clouds of dust, and smoke from the bursting shells effectually screen all the attacking objects from the occupants of the trench, and under such conditions it is absolutely immaterial what formations they adopt, or what colored uniforms they wear. They will meet a storm of bullets certainly, for the enemy will contrive to fire at them somehow, but their fire will be so absolutely random that the number of hits will vary simply as the amount of square feet of vulnerable area exposed and the duration of such exposure. The longer you are out in the rain the wetter you will get, and you will be just as wet in knaki as in scarlet.—The Contemporary Review.

Man's Days to Be Lengthened.

The American will be taller by from one to two inches in the next hundred years. His increase of stature will result from better health, due to vast reforms in medicine, sanitation, food and athletics. He will live 50 years instead of 35, as at present—for he will reside in the suburbs. The city house will practically be no more. Building in suburbs will be illegal. The trip from suburban home to office will require a few minutes only. A penny will pay the fare.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.
