MINERS WILL DEMAND LAWS

10,000 Anthracite Workers May March on Capital.

Movement Started to Enforce the Passage of Bills by the State Legislature-Fahey at Its Head.

Plans are afoot for the descent up harrisburg of an army of anthracite coal miners to demand legislation in their interest at the hands of the reluctant senate.

John Fahey, national organizer and president of District No. 9, United Mine president of District No. 9, United Mine Workers of America, arrived at Harrisburg yesterday for the avowed purpose of serving notice on the leaders of the Quay machine that unless the demands of the miners are met they will make a personal show of force that will compel attention.

Fahey's plans is to organize an army of not less than 10,000 men, assembling them at Pottsville or some other available point, and marching them to Harrisburg as Coxey's army marched to Washington. Unlike Coxey's horde of nondescript adventurers, however, this army would be composed of the citizens who carry the elections in the great anthracite coal counties.

Fahey says his army could be mobilized in twenty-four hours. He spent part of the day in inspecting available sites for a camp. He insists that the plan will be carried out unless the senate leaders agree to put through the miners' bills recently adopted by the house and since held up in senate committees.

of company stores, by taxing them out of existence; for the weighing of coal before it is screened, so that the miner shall be paid for all the coal he digs; for the election of mine inspectors by the people of their districts, instead of ap-pointment by the governor, and for in-creasing the number of inspectors from eight to sixteen.

Fahey's presence was directly due to the discovery by Representative Garner, of Schnylkill, that the senate committee, which recently gave the miners' representatives a hearing, had subsequently decided to report the bills out with negative recommendations.

The mining people demand the passage of these bills in return for their part in sending Quay members to this legislature from their counties. They are thoroughly convinced now that the machine leaders never intended to make good their promises. Accordingly they have determined to apply heroic methods.

Closed the Season.

With the presentation of "The Power Behind the Throne" at the Grand opera house Wednesday evening the regular season of 1900-1901 came to a close in Freeland. It is doubtful if a better select in could have been made from the hundreds of companies on the road than the one headed by Miss Mildred Holland, as the performance undoubtedly gave more general satisfaction than any drama ever before played in the town.

The attendance was not what it should have been, but those who accepted the management's guarantee that they would see a play the peer of anything heretofore produced in Freeland found this statement verified in every particular.

applause and the curtain calls brought forth by the high standard of acting.

The scenic feature of the production was a revelation to even those who are accustomed to seeing heavily-staged plays in the large cities. This was especially true of the third act, which showed an Austrian court ball-room, with its massive arches, hanging balcony and broad staircase.

The season opened on September 11, 1900, and since then thirty-seven performances were given under the management of the house. In addition to these, fourteen dramas, entertainments, etc., were given at the Grand by other parties. Compared with the previous season there were thirty less attractions presented by the management, but not withstanding this decrease in the number of shows the season just ended was financially more profitable than its predecessor, as larger audiences and higher prices prevailed this year.

Troubles of Churches.

Troubles of Churches.

A bill in equity has been filed in court by Rev. Dominick Peruzzi against a number of persons, asking that the defendants be restrained from interfering with the plaintiff in the performance of his duties. Rev. Peruzzi, the plaintiff, is the pastor of the Hazleton Italian church. He claimsthat on last Sunday, while performing his duties as priest, he was interfered with and prevented from discharging his duties and holding of religious service by the violent action of the defendants, by locking the doors of the church, throwing people out of the building and threatening and terrorizing the people.

the people. A strange story in connection with the First Congregational church, of West Pitston, was brought to light yesterday by the arrest of Harry Jones, one of its leading members, on the charge of misappropriating the moneys of the church entrusted to his care. When arrested he admitted his guilt and said that he had spent all the When arrested be admitted his guilt and said that he had spent all the money. He was held under bail. Rev. R. G. Heal, the pastor of the church, says that in ten years enough money has been raised to pay off the debt three times over, but that it has been misappropriated by officials.

Assessment Transcrints.

Revised transcripts of their real estate assessments are being received by the property owners of town. The new figures, as a rule, show a decrease from those which appeared on the transcripts sent out in March. The rates now fixed upon for the various sections of the borough are more satisfactory than before, but compared with actual values are still very unequal—some lots being assessed at their full market value and others as low as 40 per cent of their selling price.

The usual discriminations on property valuations are apparent—homes worth from $1,000 down being assessed at from $0 to 100 per cent of their cost, while many more valuable buildings escape with a rating of from 30 to 60 per cent of their value. se which appeared on the transcripts tout in March. The rates now

The company is composed of recognized artists, and while Miss Holland was naturally the centre of attraction she did not have a monoply of the talent on the stage, for every member of the cast was equal to his or her opportunity. The play, consequently, was given in a manner which deserved the unstinted.

Many miners in the vicinity of Pittston were not allowed to go into the mines yesterday by the officers of the United Mine Workers owing to the fact that they had no working cards.
