the members.

Considerable other business was also discussed at the meeting. The lack of keys to the Municipal building was taken up and the building committee was instructed to procure forty-eight keys for the main door and twelve for the council chamber.

All the corporations enjoying public franchises came in for a share of the talk, and the sentiment of the members appeared to be in favor of the borough receiving some return for the valuable privileges accorded to the corporations doing business here.

The president and sanitary committee were instructed to meet with the solicitor this evening for the purpose of selecting a Board of Health.

This was followed by a motion, which was passed, extending an invitation to the trolley company to extend its line to the northern limits of the borough, and to Upper Lehigh, if possible.

Memorial Day in Freeland.

Yesterday was the first fine day in a week, and the clear weather brought large numbers of people to town to view and take part in the Memorial Day exercises. The graves of soldiers in the out-of-town cemeteries were decorated in the morning by delegations from Maj. C. B. Coxe Post. In the afternoon the parade formed in the order stated a week ago and paraded the principal streets. The Harrugari Society and the Slavonian and Magyar societies turned out with well filled ranks. All the other societies made poor showings of their membership. Music was furnished by St. Ann's and Eckley bands and the G. A. R. drum corps.
