PUPILS' GRAND ENTERTAINMENT

Interesting Exercises of Parochial School.

Children Taught by the Sisters of Mercy Made a Creditable Showing Last Evening.

At the Grand opera house last evening the pupils of St. Ann's parochial school gave their ninth annual entertainment before an audience that was far too big to be comfortably accommodated.

The interior of the opera house presented an inviting appearance, the neatness and appropriateness of the decorations adding to the effect produced by a well arranged and entertaining program.

Every number was well rendered and the pupils acquitted themselves in a manner which reflects credit upon themselves and their teachers.

The musical portion of the program was of a high order, a number of difficult selections being rendered with remarkable proficiency. The drills, songs, dramas, etc., were also well done.

The program will be repeated tomorrow evening and will include the valedictory, also the awarding of the medals and diplomas to the graduates of the academic and commercial classes.

The program, as arranged for tomorrow evening, is as follows:

This Morning's Weddings.

At 10 o'clock this morning Julius Dusheck and Miss Annie Canty were united in marriage at St. Ann's church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis Mack in the presence of a large number of the friends of the happy couple. Mr. Dusheck was attended by Andrew Shigo and Miss Canty by Miss Kate Rogan.

After the ceremony the wedding party departed for Dusheck's farm, located on the farm of the groom's father, Charles Dusheck, where they held a reception which was attended by several hundreds of the friends of both families. Music was furnished there by two orchestras—DePierro's and the Hazleton Hungarian orchestra.

The bride is the recipient of a large number of presents from the friends of herself and husband. The list includes a vast quantity of silverware and is valued at many hundred dollars.

At 11 o'clock at the same church, Rev. Mack performed the marriage ceremony for Hugh Brogan and Miss Sarah O'Donnell, both of Drifton. The groomsmen was Cormac Gillespie and the bridesmaid was Miss Annie Boner, of Drifton.

At 11:45 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Brogan departed for Philadelphia, where they will spend their honeymoon.

James H. Dunn, of Pockville, Lackawanna county, and Miss Mary Jane Miller, of Sandy Run, were married today by Rev. J. J. Kuntz.

Dispute Over a Deed.

From the Wilkesbarre Record.
Condoy McCole, of Freeland, on Friday filed papers in a suit in equity against Kate Moore and others to compel them to correct a deed which he alleges was wrongfully conveyed by a mistake in the name. The plaintiff alleges that he gave a deed to David Kennedy as security for a loan of $900, and that later when he paid the money back and had his property reconveyed to himself by deed the name of Thomas J. Moore was inserted instead of McCole. The latter alleges that Moore now lays claim to the property, and the equity suit is brought to have his name inserted in the place of Moore's.

Surveying For Electric Line.

From the Hazleton Sentinel.
Surveyors under Engineer Hess, who are re-surveying the course of the Hazleton and Wilkesbarre Railroad, have completed their work as far as Sugar Notch and are now concluding their work at the gap. It is expected that building operations will be begun by July 1, although as yet no contracts have been awarded. The building of the road is an assured fact, and within a few months the cars will be running between this city and Wilkesbarre.

BONNER VS. QUINN.

Monday Evening's Contest Declared a Draw by the Referee.

The boxing bout on Monday evening drew a large audience. The principal contest was the fifteen-round go between John Bonner, of Philadelphia, formerly of Summit Hill, and "Scaldy" Bill Quinn, of Merchantsville, N. J., which ended in a draw, a decision that was satisfactory to the spectators and all others concerned.

The house was well filled when the principals came on the stage. Bonner was first to appear and was warmly greeted by his admirers. "Scaldy" also came in for a good reception, due to his former appearance in town.

Willy Dougherty was master of ceremonies; Patrick Burke, of Wilkesbarre, referee, and John C. Boyle and Andrew Brislin, timekeepers. Bonner was seconded by Mike Campbell and "Kid" McGuinn, of Philadelphia, and William Gallagher, of Drifton. Quinn was taken care of by Howard Wilson, Young Marshall and Lew Bailey, all of Philadelphia.

The fighting was fast all through the fifteen rounds. Both men, having met before, knew each other's tactics and guarded themselves accordingly. Bonner was apparently the favorite of the crowd at the start, but the plucky battle made by Quinn against his larger and heavier opponent caused many people to champion the colored man's interests, and from the tenth round on the house was evenly divided.

The greater part of the time was consumed with in-fighting, and, though both men landed hard and often, neither was the worse after the contest and not a drop of blood was spilled by either.

The bout was witnessed by sporting men and newspaper correspondents from all parts of the region, including a number of prominent Philadelphians.

The above bout was preceded by a six-round "go" between "Young" Marshall and "Kid" McGuinn, who mixed it up lively during their six rounds. The referee's decision at the end was that honors were even and declared it a draw.

During a wait Bob Peters, who handled Young Marshall, gave the audience a dancing turn.

Before the Bonner-Scaldy bout the announcement was made that Lew Baily, on behalf of Chas. Graham, of Philadelphia, challenged the winner.

Other announcements were that Chas. Mulhall, of Summit Hill, had $500 for a fight with "Kid" Ferry, of Allentown, and Lew Bailey stood ready to back Howard Wilson in a fight with Jack Donohue, of Philadelphia, for any amount of money.
