Luzerne Republicans Are Hopelessly Split.

Controller Lloyd Takes His Contest to the Courts. Dr. Hays Will Run Independently for Coroner.

The alleged action of the Republican machine in counting out anti-Quay candidates for office at the convention last Tuesday has not been accepted so gracefully as the machine leaders expected.

Controller Lloyd's contention, that his vote in the Second legislative district was not properly returned, is to be aired in the courts. He claims a majority over Arthur Dick, of Hazleton, who has been named as the party nominee for controller, and he intends to put up a strong fight for his claim.

Controller Lloyd has retained counsel for a legal contest, and some sensational disclosures are promised.

At the county convention on Tuesday, which the Quayites ruled with a high hand, the tellers reported a majority of seventy-three for Dick over Lloyd. This return was challenged by Lloyd, who claimed twenty-seven majority.

A recount of the vote was ordered, the Quayites conducting it.

After thirty-six hours the machine leaders announced at noon yesterday that "Dick had defeated Lloyd by a small majority." They gave no figures. Then Lloyd arranged with his attorney to carry the matter to court.

Dr. Hays, who was declared defeated by the machine for the nomination for coroner, will run independently. He says he was counted out by the leaders. A complete anti-Quay ticket may be placed in the field, as the "ants" believe they have been outrageously cheated.

Celebrated the Fourth.

Independence Day was celebrated in town without any formal program. The picnic conducted at the Public park by the Citizens' Hose Company was a large affair and the grounds were well filled during the afternoon and evening.

The small boy was out in full force with his fire-cracker and kept up a constant din all day. In the evening he was joined by his larger brother, who with revolver and other noise-producers, kept up the firing until midnight.

Considering the amount of explosives and fireworks set off, there were only a few accidents, none of which can be classed as serious.

This locality was given very fine weather.

Fairness of Spirit.

From Hazleton Trades Unionist. The office of the Freeland Tribune has been unionized, and to celebrate the fourteenth year of its existence the paper carried the union label at its masthead on Monday. The managers of the Tribune are possessed of that true principle which denotes a fairness of spirit. In its fourteenth anniversary the Tribune has the congratulations of The Trades Unionist, and the hope is extended that the path of our North Side contemporary may be strewn with roses for the remaining years of its battle in newspaperdom.

School Board Meeting.

The July meeting of the borough school board was held Wednesday evening with all the members present. The building committee reported in favor of making some changes in the general plans of the proposed new room in the Washington street school. As the architect is expected to report in a few days, it was decided to ascertain how far he progressed with the work and to have the changes made in the plans if no further delay would thereby be caused.

The auditors' report of the year ending the first Monday in June was presented and accepted. A motion to publish it in the Tribune, Progress and Press received the votes of all members except Buckley, who was recorded as not voting. The solicitor was ordered to satisfy the bond of ex-Treasurer VanHorn.

The secretary was authorized to subscribe for a copy of the Pennsylvania School Journal and to procure such supplies and stationery as he may require to transact his business.

A letter from Attorney McBrearty, thanking the members for choosing him solicitor of the board, was read and ordered filed.

A motion setting Tuesday evening next as the date for the appointment of teachers was carried by a vote of 8 to 4. Buckley, McGeehan, Purcell and Slattery voting in the negative.

Bills of $6 each from Auditors J. A. Alden, Henry Krone and Bernard Boyle, for auditing, and a bill of $2.88 from the Electric Light Company, for light, were ordered paid.

Miners to Control Output.

There is much discussion among the miners of the entire region regarding the action of District No. 7 in starting a movement to control the output of anthracite, so that the market cannot become overstocked. The general sentiment is in favor of prompt and concerted action.

President T. D. Nichols, of District No. 1, would not discuss the movement except to say that undoubtedly District No. 1 would approve the resolutions of District No. 7 at the convention within the next few days. He added that it was an energetic and wise move on the part of the miners.

The operators claim they are not at all alarmed at the situation, and think the miners will not insist on the enforcement of the resolutions.

Quarrel Over Fireworks.

Annoyed by the discharge of fireworks, James Gallagher, a miner of Sugar Notch, got into a quarrel with John McCaffrey. The latter became enraged and threatened Gallagher's life. For five hours he chased Gallagher a distance of three miles through woods and swamp. Gallagher finally found refuge in an abandoned house and succeeded in barring McCaffrey out. Gallagher's cries for aid attracted the town constable and he arrested McCaffrey after a hard tussle. McCaffrey was armed with a large iron bar.

Three-Day Walking Match.

A three days' go-as-you-please race, contestants to run eight hours each day, began at Edgewood park, near Shamokin, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Athletic Club, 50 per cent of the gate receipts to be divided among the three leaders. There were six entries, as follows: George Chisnel, Hazleton; John Desmond, Mahanoy City; Lon Beckwith, Athens; Martin Fahey and George Meskutz, Shenandoah; Edward McCaffrey, Philadelphia. Chisnel leads the bunch.

Circus Went to Pieces.

The circus with a long and imposing name, which arrived here on Wednesday, gave no performance. So many of the actors and workers had deserted before Freeland was reached that the tents could not be erected. The proprietor, who tried to do business without newspaper advertising, then gave up the struggle and disposed of part of his stock. M. H. Hunsicker bought a team of horses and Hugh Malloy was the purchaser of a trained bear.

Work for Machinists.

A telephone message this morning from the Hazleton Iron Works to the Tribune requests us to announce that the striking employes of Drifton shops can obtain work in that plant. A number of good, all-round workmen are wanted and preference will be given to the strikers.

WANTED.

FOR THE CHILDREN

A Little Talk About Savings.

A distinguished economist felt that it was as necessary to teach a child to save as to train him to earn, says American Boy. He formulated a system of savings for the lower schools of France so wise and efficient that in ten years there were in France 21,000 school savings banks, with 442,020 depositors, whose weekly average deposits of 15 centimes had amounted to 10,248,226 francs, or over $2,000,000. The establishment of the banks was left to the voluntary efforts of the teachers. The children deposited pocket money only, and it was made a part of every Monday morning exercise.

The French cultivate the saving habit. Mme. Carnot gave a dinner to 400 of the poorest children of Paris and at its close gave to each one a bankbook containing a credit of 10 francs. When floods spread desolation and want in the south of France, the children of the schools of Bordeaux freely gave from their savings $400 for the relief of the sufferers.

There are some school banks in our own country, and when the penny depositors of the school bank of Long Island city heard of the great Johnstown flood they sent $452 out of their savings as their contribution.

Every boy as soon as he is old enough to spend money should be given a legitimate means of earning it or a regular allowance, which at first may be made to cover his pleasures and gradually increased to include his necessities and charities. A boy ought to learn how to give as well as how to save and so should give his own money to the church or Sunday school. Let the boy take care of his own money.

Ida M. Bodman in The Mother's Journal says in writing on this subject: A child seldom has sufficient will to enable him to work for a distant object steadily. He lives in the present, but every time he denies himself some trifling, pleasant gratification in order to save a few dollars to buy something of real value he has received a valuable lesson. Our primary object is not to persuade him to accumulate money, but to prevent him from spending it unwisely. In some cases in order to stimulate the boy to put aside his pennies for a specific object it is helpful to promise to add a certain amount to the savings.
