Young Man Killed.

James Moy was instantly killed yes-terday morning in No. 5 slope, Jeddo, by the derailing of an air-motor. He resided with his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Logan, on Wash-ington street, near South. The young man was employed as a

The young man was employed as a patcher, or assistant, on the motor. The engineer was Hugh Renshaw, of Oakdale, who, while engaged elsewhere, anthorized Moy to take out a trip of sixteen cars. While going down a heavy incline the metor got away from the young man and left the track. One of the levers of the machine penetrated Moy's body and, caused instant death. The motor, in swinging off the rails.

The motor, in swinging off the rails was thrown against the compressed air-pipe, which it burst. The pipe was charg-ed with 800 pounds of air. The force of this explosion added to the wreck and assisted in destroying the engine and cars. The damage was so great that operations at the colliery were suspend-ed for the day.

The accident happened with the same motor at the same spot and in the same of Patrick Gallagher, of Adams street, last winter.
