FOUND DEAD IN THE WOODS

Superintendent John Wagner Suddenly Stricken.

Corpse Discovered Yesterday Morning Between Drif-ton and Lattimer--Died From Apoplexy.

John Wagner, Sr., of Drifton, was found dead yesterday morning in the woods between Drifton and Lattimer. His death has been attributed to apo-plexy and Deputy Coroner Bowman has decided that no inquest is necessary.

The body was found by a searching party near the road leading to the old sawmill in the swamp between Lattimer and Drifton.

His horse was tied to a tree nearby, and from indications death had come upon him several hours before the body as found. Mr. Wagner left his home on Wednes arr. Wagner let his nome on Weenes-day morning. He was seen that day in Hazleton, and later passed through Harleigh and Lattimer. In these towns he was accompanied in his carriage by a woman named Mrs. George Silk, who resides on Adams street.

Yesterday morning John Rohlands, George T. Wells and George Wagner learned that Mrs. Silk had been driving with him. They called upon her to search her home for the missing man and to learn what information she could give as to hie whereabouts. Mrs. Silk said she left Mr. Wagner's carriage shortly after noon on Wednes-day, at a point on the road between Drifton and Lattimer. She consented to go to the spot with the Drifton party, and a carriage was being engaged at O'Donnell's livery stable when the news arrived that the body was found. The remains were taken to his late home in Drifton. Deputy Coroner Bownan made an examination and decided that no inquest was required. No marks of violence or foul play were found. Apoplexy was given as the

Settlement in View.

Efforts are being made by mutual friends of both sides to settle the strike at Drifton shops. The movement at present is in a shape which will not perpresent is in a shape which will not per-mit of much publicity, but enough is known to give hope that the strife be-tween Coxe Bros. & Co. and their shop employes is nearing an end. It is quite probable that a satisfactory settlement can be made by those who have interested themselves in the matter, providing the Drifton officials show a disposition to be just and fair.

Developments of an important nature are looked for within the next few days PLACED UNDER BAIL.

Robert Jenkins, of town, was arrested yesterday by Constable Zeigler, of Hazleton, on warrants sworn out before Hazleton, on warrants sworn out before an alderman of the latter city. The accused is one of the Drifton shop strikers and is charged with assaulting Birkbeck, Comp and Dean, three of the men who are still working at the shops. Jenkins waived a hearing and gave $1,000 bail for his appearance in court. Mrs. Jane DeFoy furnished the bail.

ARRESTED AT ALLENTOWN.

Charles Dinn, of Allentown, a former resident of town, has been arrested in that city on the charge of giving Pay-master Harry E. Sweeney a trouncing. Sweeney left his desk in Drifton office to search Lehigh county for men to take the shop strikers' places. He offered $2.50 a day and free board at Drifton hotel to all who would go to Drifton and hammer on old iron inside the stockade While engaged in this unprincipled work it is alleged he was met by Dinn.

Beaten Wife Interceded.

Mrs. Henry Durkin, black and blue from a beating at the hands of her husband, fell on her knees before Alder-man Donohue, at Wilkesbarre, and begged him not to thrash the man. She had told the alderman a pitiful tale of ill treatment. Donohue was so aroused by the story that he took off his coat and was stepping down from the bench to give the husband the thrashing he deserved, when the wife interceded.

The alderman reluctantly returned to the bench, ordered Durkin to his knees and made him swear never to beat his wife again and not to touch a drop of
