MADE CHANGES IN THE BOOKS

Foster Board Improves the List of Studies.

Township Directors Take Important Action at a Special Meeting on Saturday Evening.

All members of Foster township school board, except Director Zeistloft, were present Saturday evening at a special meeting of that body.

Messrs. Bevan, representing Butler, Sheldon & Co., and R. J. Dever, representing Ginn & Co., were also present.

The list of books required were placed on the board and those for which contracts had expired were:

Readers—1st, 2d and 3d. Physiology—Three series. Geography—Primary.

The board adopted the Progressive Course of Reading, by Butler, Sheldon & Co., in place of Ward's Rational Method, by the votes of Messrs. Doudt, O'Neil, McHugh and Johnson, Keller voting no.

The book company agreed to allow 30 per cent for all old books returned.

It was unanimously agreed that the above firm be allowed to substitute Petterson's elementary and advanced grammar in place of Sheldon's, now in use.

Ginn & Co. were awarded the contract to furnish physiologies and geographies by the votes of all present.

It was decided to purchase at present two-thirds of the quantity needed.

The secretary was ordered to invite Elliot A. Oberender, of Drifton, to be present at the next regular meeting, he having written letters to directors who did not know what was meant by them.

J. J. McBrearty, Esq., was present and received permission to speak on the matter of the selection of a solicitor.

He stated that there were three forms of government: Legislative, executive and judicial, and that, although the law quoted by Mr. O'Donnell at the last meeting of the board was correct, it was not final.

He told of a decision of the supreme court given on July 7, 1870, in the case of a contest for county superintendent. The body of directors consisted of 112. One candidate received 55 votes and another 56, one member refusing to vote.

The decision was that there had been no election, as the person receiving the 56 votes did not have a majority of the body. He likened the action of the board to a case where a person was convicted of a crime without a trial.

He stated that he did not come before the board to cause trouble or anything of that kind, but merely to set the matter right, that in the face of the decision he had just read from the supreme court, Mr. O'Donnell was not legally elected previous to the last meeting, as contended. Further, that it requires four votes to elect, as Doudt being present and refusing to vote, was still a part of the quorum.

Saturday Evening's Bouts.

"Kid" Ferry, of Allentown, and Charles Mulhall, of Summit Hill, met Saturday evening at the opera house and put one of the liveliest bouts ever witnessed in the region. The contest was booked to continue twenty rounds, but it came to an end at the closing of the third round, with Ferry declared the victor on the ground that one of Mulhall's seconds had entered the ring during the round.

The decision of the referee gave the purse of $325, which was offered by the Sterling Athletic Club, to Ferry, and all wagers on the result went the same way. Ferry was looked after by Messrs. Gallagher, Clancy and Sheehan; while Messrs. Cannon, Howard, Sweeney and Schwartz took care of Mulhall. Messrs. Breslin and Boyle were timekeepers, Patrick Burke acted as referee and Willy Dougherty as announcer.

When the first round opened both men went at each other fast and furiously. Ferry fared badly under the punishment given him by Mulhall.

In the second round Ferry came up as fresh as when he started and both men mixed up in terrific style. At the end of the round honors were about even.

As the third round commenced Mulhall made a rush, while the "Kid" ducked, catching the former on his shoulder. Ferry raised himself up, thereby permitting Mulhall to fall headforemost on the mat. The fall stunned Mulhall for a short interval. Shortly after Ferry landed one or two blows on the jaw and Mulhall slipped and fell.

The referee began counting and when he reached "nine" Mulhall was up but not before one of his seconds had gone to his assistance.

The decision of the referee was that Ferry was the winner on a foul.

Previous to the above a preliminary bout between Hugh McDyer and Dick Jaquet went two rounds, when the former landed a knockout. Jaquet was placed in charge of two physicians, who restored him to consciousness. He is recovering at the home of his brother on North Washington street.

Elwood McCloskey, of Philadelphia, was introduced and challenged Mulhall for another bout (they having met before) for any amount of money. The challenge has since been accepted and the men will box twenty-five rounds at Shamokin next month.

The heavy downpour of rain which continued Saturday afternoon and evening interfered greatly with the attendance. The upper portions of the house were crowded, but the auditorium was not well patronized and the receipts do not warrant the club in bringing these high-priced boxers to town.

All the prominent boxers and pugilists of the northeastern end of the state were present. Lehigh, Carbon, Schuylkill and Columbia counties were also well represented.

Death of Prominent Pole.

Joseph C. Schwartz, one of the most prominent Polish citizens in this county, died on Friday, aged 54 years. He had been for sixteen years the court interpreter in Polish, Hungarian, German, Lithuanian and Slavish cases, and was the founder of the National Polish National Alliance, which society he started in Philadelphia about thirty years ago.

Deceased was twice married. His first wife died during his residence at Philadelphia, leaving the following children: Frank Schwartz, now in the wholesale business in New York city; Mrs. Moskatis, of Mahanoy City. He was married fifteen years ago at Freeland to Miss Kuehn, of New York city, who with her son, Norman Schwartz, survives.

The funeral took place at Wilkesbarre this morning.

Bell Case Goes to Court.

James Bell, of town, was arraigned Friday evening before Alderman Heidenreich, of Hazleton, on the charge of intimidating workmen at Drifton shops. The prosecutor in the case was E. A. Oberender. He stated that the young man did some yelling in the town of Drifton at the men who worked while other men were on strike. The following persons testified against him: Max Scudder, Scott Young, Pierce Johnson, W. B. Frye and O. D. Fowler.

The alderman found the accused guilty as charged and fined him $5 and costs of prosecution. Attorney J. M. Carr, for the young man, took out an appeal and now the case will go to court. The company was represented by Attorney Abner Smith.

Tramps Rule a Town.

Tramps terrorized the village of Midvale, near Wilkesbarre, Saturday afternoon while most of the men were at work, boldly entering houses and taking what eatables they wanted, in many cases becoming very impudent to the women. They also held up a couple of men and robbed them.

When the husband and the sons returned from work they armed themselves and searched the woods for the tramps. A number were caught and were dragged into town and taken before the frightened women for identification.

If they were recognized they were booted out of town, and all were told that they were seen about there again they would never leave except in an undertaker's wagon.

John Mitchell at Plymouth.

The United Mine Workers held a big labor demonstration at Plymouth on Saturday and President John Mitchell was given an enthusiastic reception. All the stores in the town were closed, and every colliery was idle. Houses were gayly decorated for the occasion and 3,000 miners and several display floats were in the procession.

The parade was followed by a picnic. Mr. Mitchell delivered an address. He told the spectators that the United Mine Workers' organization was stronger now than it had ever been and that it was rapidly becoming perfect. He denounced the coal companies which tried to prevent the examination of union cards, and said that they were showing an unwarranted and unnecessary opposition to the miners' union.

Mr. Mitchell laid stress upon the fact that all employes around a mine, whether they are engineers, firemen, blacksmiths, teamsters or carpenters, should belong to the United Mine Workers, as it is the most powerful organization, and reforms may readily be gained if all the men act in concert and under one directing head.

Newspaper Man Dead.

A number of people in Freeland remember Wilbur J. Chamberlain, of the New York Sun staff, who was in this region in September, 1897, after the Lattimer massacre, and reported the slaughter for his paper. Mr. Chamberlain was counted one of the best reporters in America. He died on Wednesday at Carlisbad of congestion of the brain and heart trouble.

Mr. Chamberlain was born in Great Bend, Pa., March 12, 1866. He did his first newspaper work in Jersey City and joined the staff of the New York Sun in 1890. He was at Santiago during the Spanish-American war and when war broke out in China was sent there. Illness forced him to return to London some weeks ago.
