THE CANDIDATES.

Brief Sketches of the Men Who Compose the Democratic County Ticket.

HON. JOHN LYNCH.

The president judge of the court of common pleas of Luzerne county is a native of Providence, R. I., where he was born November 1, 1843. In early youth he received his rudiments of education at Wyalusing, and subsequently at Wyoming seminary, Kingston. He read law with Hon. Garrick M. Harding and was admitted to the bar in 1865. He was elected register of wills in 1866. In July, 1891, he was appointed by Governor Pattison as additional judge of the court of common pleas for Luzerne county and was nominated by the Democratic party and elected. During his long service upon the bench he has made an unbroken record of fidelity.

A. M. FREAS.

Andrew M. Freas, Esq., the nominee for orphans' court judge, was born in Berwick, October 31, 1864, from which place he moved during early childhood to Hazleton. He prepared for college in the public schools of Berwick and afterwards passed with honor through the curriculum of Bucknell university. He afterwards took the course of the law school of Yale university. In April, 1891, he was admitted to the Luzerne bar.

ALBERT H. JACOBS.

Albert H. Jacobs, the nominee for sheriff, was born of German parentage in Pottsville November 5, 1863. In 1868 he moved to Hazleton and after many years alternating between working in the mines and attending the public schools, he grew to manhood possessing a good common school education and an aptitude for hard work which has stood him in good stead in his business career. He started the bakery now conducted in Freeland by B. C. Laubach, and at present is associated with his father in conducting the largest bakery and confectionery in Hazleton. He has never before run for office, though many times desired to do by his friends. He is a most popular representative of the Fourth district and his being brought into the field gives the county ticket a most formidable manner.

GEORGE R. McLEAN.

George R. McLean, Esq., was born in Wilkesbarre, January 24, 1873. He graduated from Lafayette college in June, 1895. He was admitted to the Luzerne bar in June, 1896. He is a member of the select council of Wilkesbarre, and is a member of the Ninth regiment, N. G. P., and holds a position as captain and quartermaster on the regimental staff. He was with the regiment when it was called out at the time of the war with Spain. While at Chickamauga he was selected and served as captain and aide-de-camp on the staff of General John M. Andrews, of the regular army.

JAMES BARRETT.

James Barrett, the nominee for recorder, was born in New York city on July 3, 1866. He came to Newport township when but a child and attended the public schools for a time. After leaving school, he went to work and starting in as a breaker boy he worked at mostly every position about the mines. He afterwards started in business and conducted it successfully for many years. He is now engaged in contracting work. He is a most popular man at his home where, notwithstanding that the township is Republican, he was six times elected tax collector.

DR. W. H. BERGE.

Dr. W. H. Berge, of Avoca, the nominee for coroner and the present Burgess of Avoca and president of the board of health, is in scarcely any sense a politician. He was born at Scranton on September 20, 1868. He started life as a slate picker and betimes attended the public schools. As a young man he studied medicine and received an insight into it. He subsequently took the full course and graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Baltimore, since which time he has been a most successful practitioner in Avoca.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Hot Tea in Summer.

There is one class of citizens in Cleveland that is always cool, no matter how warm the rays from the sun may make their neighbors feel. In the warm spells the Chinese residents of the city are never heard to complain, and while all other nationalities seemed to be represented in the reports of deaths and heat victims the Celestial alone seemed to possess immunity.

His coolness is due to the fact that he has an antidote for the heat in the shape of tea from his native land, and he knows how to take it. The hotter the day the warmer will be the tea which he drinks in unstinted quantities.

One of the followers of Confucius who has an extended reputation for his dexterity in mixing chop soop for the cultivated taste of actors and people with Thesplan tastes explained the reason why none of his people ever suffer with heat. He also said that during the hot weather none of his people ever eat any meat, and even the odor of yokomal has no temptation for him. The philosophy of the Chinaman is that the abstinence from meat and the indulgence in the boiling tea act in conjunction to keep him from feeling the heat. The tea is supposed not only to relieve all thirst, but to induce a perspiration that in turn brings about a lower temperature.

The Chinaman also eschews any attempt at bathing during the heated season and declares that this also contributes to his general chilly temperature. He never hampers himself with extra clothes and above all has never learned to read a thermometer.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ornamental Letter Rack.

This illustration offers a suggestion for doing up an old bamboo letter rack or for making a new one, which will be a thing many girls who are fond of such work will be pleased to do.

The entire rack may be made in thin white wood and the design painted on the front panel or burned in poker work, or a simple way to make it is to have a foundation of wood 9 inches long and 5 inches deep. It should be about half an inch thick and may be enameled or gilded.

The back, center division and front are of cardboard edged with wire to make them quite firm, then covered with silk, on the front of which the design shown is either painted or embroidered.

For the ends of both back, center and front upright bars of wood about the size of ordinary cedar pencils should be fixed into the foundation. Holes may be bored in the wood, and the uprights can be fixed in the holes by secotine. In each upright four brass loops are fixed. They are such as are used for fixing wire on picture frames. Cord is then laced across from back to front and tied at the bottom, fringing the ends out into tassels.

Buttermilk.

Buttermilk is an excellent drink for people with muddy complexions, being full of a mixture of acids known collectively as lactic acids, which are good for the skin. Pigs fed on it thrive and give an especially well flavored bacon. It also makes lovely hoe cakes. One farmer's wife's method is to take half as much fresh butter as flour, half as much sugar as butter and quarter as much mixed bicarbonate of soda and cream of tartar, mixed equally, as sugar. The butter is rubbed in the flour, the sugar added, and the chemicals, dissolved in warm buttermilk, are added in a little well made in the center of the dry materials; then enough warm buttermilk is used to make all into a fairly stiff paste like dough. This is cut into three cornered shapes and baked in a moderate oven after each has been washed over with buttermilk in which some beaten egg has been stirred.

Will Be in Hall of Fame.

For a representative who has the reputation of being the plainest looking man in congress Frank Eddy of Minnesota thinks he is doing pretty well. "I have just had a letter from a friend out home saying that he had named a brand of cigars after me," says Mr. Eddy in his slow, solemn way. "He wanted my photograph to be reproduced on the box, and in the very same mail I was solicited for my picture and a recommendation for a patent medicine. I told them I would do anything to accommodate except take the medicine. Now I think I am eligible for the New York Hall of Fame."

A Steady Night Light.

As a substitute for a night light take an ordinary wax candle and some finely powdered salt. Cover the top of the candle, which, by the way, should have been burned till it is level, with a thin layer of salt, leaving only the blackened end of the wick exposed, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Light the candle, and it will give a faint but steady light all night.

To Clean Kitchens Zinc.

For cleaning zinc under the kitchen stove a housewife writes that she never found anything equal to spirits of turpentine. Spread the fluid all over the zinc and let it remain for a few minutes. Then take an old soft cloth and go all over it, rubbing every inch thoroughly. Wash up with hot water and soap and wipe dry.

Well Babies Are Good Babies

MOST LITTLE BABIES DIE, either from bowel troubles or from diseases which they contract because they are in a weak and feeble condition from bowel troubles.

Mothers who are seeking the ideal and proper medicine to give their little ones for constipation, diarrhoea, colic and simple fevers will find LAXAKOLA the great family remedy.

It is the best and most effective laxative for children. BEST because it is safe and made entirely of harmless ingredients. BEST because it is non-irritating and never gripes or causes pain or irritation. BEST because it is sure and never fails. BEST because "Children like it and ask for it."

It is a dangerous thing to give little babies violent remedies that rack and rend their little bodies. DON'T DO IT—give them LAXAKOLA.

A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it, and it also will check simple fevers, break up colds and clear the coated tongue.

Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhoea, accompanied with white or green evacuations, from the fact that LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of fermentation, aids digestion, relieves restlessness, assists nature and induces sleep.

LAXAKOLA FOR WOMEN.

It is a gentle and safe remedy to use during all conditions of health of the mother, and whenever their peculiar and delicate conditions require a mild and efficient laxative and tonic, and is invaluable in assisting to relieve obstructions which otherwise would lead to more or less severe pain or illness. It improves the complexion, brightens the eyes, sharpens the appetite, quickens the circulation, removes mucus and biliousness, and cures sick headache to a certain extent by removing the cause. To women suffering from chronic constipation, headache, biliousness, dizziness, salt rheum, the skin and dyspepsia, Laxakola will invariably bring relief and a speedy cure. At druggists, 25c and 50c, or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 136 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 126 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

Many visitors to Washington have had their attention directed to "the old lady of the window" of a house on the north side of F street, east of Thirteenth, in what is now the principal retail shopping district of the city. She has been for a score of years as much of a character of the capital as a number of others who from one or another phase of eccentricity have gone into print. For nearly 40 years "the old lady of the window" has sat there watching the tide of time sweep away one dwelling after another to make room for the erection of business houses. Her name is Julia Hanson, and in early life she is said to have been one of the noted octoroon beauties of Washington. A few weeks ago she sold her home, in one of the front windows of which her wrinkled and withered features have been framed day in and out for nearly 40 years. Title to the property was several times attacked in the courts, but Aunt Julia was able to maintain her home. A romantic story is told of her early life and the affection cherished for her by southern families of prominence. It is said there was left with her when the war of the rebellion began a large sum of money, computed to be over $80,000, by a family who "went south" and joined the Confederacy, which she faithfully guarded until the close of the war and returned to the owners. During the war Aunt Julia kept a boarding house and had for guests a number of army officers. The old lady is now over 92 years of age. She received a large sum for her F street property and in addition to that has considerable means. The old dwelling has been torn down, and a modern business house is now in course of construction on the site.

The Library Bureau.

The division of bibliography of the Library of Congress has just brought out "A Union List of Periodicals, Transactions and Allied Publications Currently Received in the Principal Libraries of the District of Columbia." It will surprise many readers of this document to discover how many libraries of sufficient importance for consideration in such a work exist in this District. The war department alone has three, the department library proper, the adjutant general's library and the surgeon general's library; the interior department four, the patent office library, the geological survey, the bureau of American ethnology and the bureau of education libraries; the treasury department two, that of the bureau of statistics and that of the coast and geodetic survey; the department of agriculture two, its own proper and that of the weather bureau; the department of state and the navy department one each, and the Smithsonian institution one of which it takes entire charge and another which it leaves in the custody of the librarian of congress. Then there is also of course the greatest of all, the Library of Congress.

Cupid in a Stamp Collection.

A pretty diplomatic romance has just come to light with the formal announcement of the approaching marriage of Mr. Solomon Berliner, American consul at Tenerife, Canary Islands, and Miss Jennie Ottenberg of this city. Between postage stamps and wedding gowns there may seem to be a wide gulf, but it was through the medium of the former that Miss Ottenberg won the latter, and in addition to bringing his pretty American correspondent a promised collection of stamps Mr. Berliner brought her a wedding gown as well.

Mr. Berliner received in his mail one day at Tenerife a fresh, bright, piquant letter from a student at Columbian university, this city, asking that he send her a collection of postage stamps. The fetching tone of the letter and its elegant execution brought about a regular correspondence between the young diplomat and the schoolgirl. Miss Ottenberg had written similar letters to at least a hundred members of the United States consular service. As she received prompt attention from all as well as pretty souvenirs from all parts of the world, it seems a bit of fate that Mr. Berliner should have been the lucky man to win her hand.

To Beautify the Capital.
Frederick Law Olmstead, D. H. Burnham and Charles F. McKim, who were appointed a commission to devise means for beautifying the city of Washington, have returned after a trip through the principal European cities in search of suggestions for their work. Mr. Olmstead said the results had been satisfactory.

"We spent two months in Washington before we started," said he, "working out the general plan of improvement. Our purpose in going abroad was to study the solution of similar problems in Europe.

"Broadly speaking, we intend to go back to the plan made a century and a half ago by Charles Peter L'Enfant under the direction of George Washington. "Under this plan the Mall was one of the most important features of Washington. During later years it has been lost sight of and broken up, so that few persons really know that a mall exists in the city."

Not Washed for Twenty-six Years.
The four windows on the east side of the executive mansion have just been washed for the first time in 26 years. Seven presidents have occupied the mansion during that period, but none of them ever ordered a cleaning of the windows.

The four windows are observed from the exterior of the executive mansion, but the interior is boarded up, and oil paintings are hung over them. The view from the historic east room shows but one window, the other four not being apparent.

By Oct. 1 Washington will be receiving its water supply from a new reservoir. CHAR. SCROTTEN.

Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. Grover's City drug store.
