MONUMENT ON HISTORIC SPOT

Place Marked Where Coal Was First Mined.

Unveiling Was Part of the Third Day's Exercises of the Big Jubilee Celebration at Carbondale.

Thirty-five thousand visitors attended the third day's celebration of Carbondale's golden jubilee. The labor unions had charge of yesterday's events. The morning parade numbered 12,000 union workers. In the afternoon Mayor John Kilpatrick unveiled a monument over the place where, it is claimed, anthracite coal was first mined.

Besides his address, there were speeches by National President John Mitchell and District President T. D. Nicholls, of the United Mine Workers; "Mother" Jones, Charles Lawson, who sank the mine, and Reese Hughes, the only surviving employe of the mine. Under the monument are thirteen men who perished in a fall, their bodies never having been recovered.

After this event another big mass meeting was held, at which John Mitchell and others delivered addresses. Mr. Mitchell's address was on the eight-hour day question.

Labor Day Observed.

Labor Day in Pennsylvania, especially in the anthracite coal region, was observed this year on a more extended scale than ever before. This was due principally to the fact that labor organizations have made tremendous strides during the past few years, and wherever workmen are thoroughly organized they celebrated the holiday in a becoming manner.

The demonstration in Freeland was, as promised by those in charge, the most imposing ever held in the town. Councilman P. G. Gallagher, as grand marshal, assisted by a corps of efficient aids, started the parade on schedule time, and in the order previously announced in these columns they marched over the route laid down on the program.

When passing up Centre street the parade contained 3,907 men and 311 breaker boys, exclusive of the musicians in the five bands and seven drum corps. The men and boys presented a fine appearance, many of the Mine Workers locals having handsome new badges for the occasion.

Freeland local, No. 1499, naturally contained the largest number of men of any organization in the ranks. Upper Lehigh, however, was the best represented union in proportion to the number of people employed. Drifton, Jeddo, Ebervale, Sandy Run and Eckley were out with well-filled ranks, while the Hazleton unions responded with a number surpassing all expectations. The Federal Labor Union, of town, which embraces the shop employes, showed up well, notwithstanding their recent defeat.

The parade dispersed at the Public park, where Organizer Schlosser, of Duryea, and W. H. Detry, of Nuremberg, delivered brief addresses.

Immediately after the speaking the picnic of the Central Labor Union began and continued until a late hour. The crowd was the largest that ever assembled on the grounds. Rumbles of thunder and threatening weather caused many people to leave the park, but the rain held off and a large sum was realized from the picnic.

During the afternoon a ball game was played at the Tigers park, which was won by McAdoo by a score of 11 to 5.

The town was crowded all day and evening with visitors, yet the police had an easy time and did not find it necessary to make one arrest.

Foster School Board.

A special meeting of the Foster township school board was held last evening with all members present except Director Keller. The meeting was called for the purpose of filling vacancies in the teaching corps caused by the resignations of Miss Mary Powell from the school at Scale Siding, and George Harris, the substitute teacher.

The names of Misses Cora Dunkerly, of Jeddo, and Lizzie Metzgar, of East Foster, were presented. Miss Dunkerly was elected by the votes of Doudt, O'Neil, Johnson and McHugh. Director Ziesloft voted for Miss Metzgar. The salary was fixed the same as all new teachers, viz: $37.50 per month.

Miss Lizzie Metzgar was chosen substitute teacher by the votes of all present. She will receive $2.50 per day when employed.

The board will take steps to enforce the vaccination law in the township and blanks for that purpose were ordered procured by the secretary.

The board will meet in regular session Saturday evening.

Men Suspended at Drifton.

Thirty-seven miners and laborers, employed in a very wet gangway in Drifton mines, were suspended by Superintendent Kudlich yesterday for periods varying from a week to ten days. On Saturday each of the miners received one car to load, and after this work had been completed they learned that no more would be given them that day. They waited around in their wet clothes for several hours and finally began going home, rightly believing that their presence in the colliery was of no benefit to the company or themselves. As the miners are all on contract work, and pay their laborers from their own earnings, the company lost nothing by their absence. However, when Kudlich learned that they had gone home without his permission, he issued orders for their suspension, and when the men reported for work yesterday they were promptly sent home.

Sun Bros.' Shows.

From Alexandria, Va., Gazette.
Sun Bros.' Show, which exhibited here today, is without doubt the best show that has ever played here. The music was first-class, the band being under the efficient leadership of Chas. Coons. Ferris and Trevelyan, the aerial performers, have no equal in the line; the Ardello family, in acrobatics and tumbling, are the best ever seen here; Dan Evans, clown, and Master George Sun, the youngest clown in the world, are uproariously funny, and made a big impression. The trained ponies, horses and dogs showed a high-degree of sagacity; George and Pate Sun, jugglers, are without doubt premiers, as they are masters in their respective lines. The show had an immense audience, both afternoon and evening, and gave the best of satisfaction.

THEATRICAL.

W. A. Tremayne's immensely successful romantic play, "A Secret Warrant," will be sent out this season by M. W. Hanley & Son. Willis Granger, the eminent leading actor, has been engaged to enact the principal role of Louis de Beaumont. This fascinating role, originated a few years since by Robert B. Mantell, has taken rank as one of the most picturesque known to our drama and the play is so crowded with human interest and with truly thrilling scenes, that it will live long in the memories of all that have the good fortune to see it. "A Secret Warrant" will be presented in Freeland within a few weeks, with a metropolitan cast, and an elaborate scenic display.

One continuous laugh—from the rise of the curtain until the finish—in Charles W. Chase's clever comedy, "Where the Laugh Comes In," which Melville Daniels will present here tomorrow evening and any one enjoying a good rollicking farce should be sure to see it. It is replete with funny situations and when one imagines the troubles are at an end, something else turns up. It is said to be one of the most cleverly written comedies of the day. This is its first season on the road and everybody will be anxious to see it.

Counter attractions on Monday evening had an effect upon the attendance at the opera house, and "Quo Vadis" was presented to a small audience. The company is one of fair ability and gave satisfaction, but the effect of many scenes is marred by the limited number of people engaged to produce a drama of this class.

The first number of this season's Mining and Mechanical Institute course will be the May Parker Little Pickaninies and Concert Company, on November 16.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mollie Hagen, of St. Louis, and Miss Annie Sweeney, of Philadelphia, who have been visiting the former's sister, Mrs. William Dougherty, have returned to their homes.

The Misses Wadlinger, of Pottsville, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. DePietro on Ridge street.

Shot by Freeland Girl.

From Today's Hazleton Standard.
There was a lively shooting affray at West Hazleton yesterday morning, which might have resulted in the murder of Mrs. John Drumtra. Drumtra conducts a saloon on Clay avenue, and judging from reports the place is frequented by all classes of people, and scraps are of frequent occurrence.

Yesterday morning Edna Decker, of Freeland, the servant girl, and Mrs. Drumtra had a heated argument, and when at its height the girl picked up a revolver and sent a 22-short bullet into the breast of Mrs. Drumtra. At first everyone thought murder had been committed, but yesterday afternoon Mrs. Drumtra was working about the house as usual, although the bullet had not been extracted.

Mrs. Drumtra contends the shooting was due to jealousy, while the girl's version could not be obtained, as she immediately departed for Freeland after firing the shot.

An effort was made to keep the matter quiet, and many stories were told, but the above is the correct one, despite the many denials.

A. O. H. Meeting.
