

BUFFALO MORE NORMAL

City Recovering From Depressing Effects of President's Fate.

EXPOSITION'S SUCCESS IN DOUBT

President Milburn Says the Work Was Close to McKinley's Heart—So American's Interest Never Before So Intense.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 23.—This city is pulling itself together again after a fortnight of anxiety and sorrow, such as it has never known. What was intended to be the gala period of its history was turned into unspeakable grief which has gone into every home with a force hard for any one not here to realize. Buffalo was full of personal loyalty and enthusiasm for President McKinley. It has been a center of McKinley sentiment all through his public career and there was no city in the country where friendship and devotion for him was more marked. Naturally, his tragic end, while his guest, depressed the city beyond expression.

When, in his memorable address the president emphasized the Pan-American idea and made it part of history, the people of Buffalo realized that their efforts were appreciated. They seemed contented and proud that as individuals of one city they had done the work which might well have been the nations undertaking. The revision was terrible, and now that it is passed the question of what is to come is interesting. The people seem to feel that the exposition must be carried to a glorious finish as a labor of patriotism and of love. President Milburn put this thought very strongly. He said:

"There must be no faltering in our efforts now, considering how much the success of the Pan-American exposition means to the development of closer political and commercial relations between the peoples of the western hemisphere. That was a policy earnestly favored by President McKinley and which interested him so deeply in the exposition from its first inception. It is a strange stroke of fate that the success of the exposition should be threatened through the fearful tragedy. We should be lacking in loyalty to his memory if we did not bend all our energies to crowning the work which he had so close to his heart."

"There are six weeks more of the life of the exposition, and it is in the full bloom of its beauty and interest. Every feature of it has been developed to its highest point and it is being operated on a more elaborate scale than ever. It is a complete mass of varied activities and entertainments, more than adequately carrying out its aims and purposes. It is a national enterprise and should be supported as such for the credit of our country as the leading nation of this hemisphere. That support, I feel certain, it will have in fullest and overflowing measure."

Referring to President Milburn's statement, Director General Buchanan said that no previous exposition had the countries of South and Central America taken as deep personal interest in the success of an exposition as they had in this one; that this was especially true of Chile, which had expended upon a building and an exhibit here half a million dollars, and equally so of Cuba which for the first time in her history stood independent in a great exposition, within a magnificent building of her own, filled with her natural resources and products.

FOUR SPECIAL DAYS

This Week Full of Interest at the Pan-American Exposition.

Buffalo, Sept. 23.—Four special days have been arranged for the pleasure of the Pan-American exposition visitors this week. Wednesday, the 25th, will be Oregon day. On the same day the Sons of America will conclude their three days' convention in the city of Buffalo and hold the final meeting at the Temple of Music in the exposition grounds. Thursday will be Cleveland day. Friday Toronto will celebrate. The grand climax of the week comes on Saturday, Railroad day, which was originally scheduled for Sept. 14.

This morning over 1,500 of the most famous sheep from all over the country were placed on exhibition. The exhibit will continue for two weeks.

Senator Quay in Good Health.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 23.—From information received here last night from St. Lucie, Fla., Senator Quay is in good health, with the exception of a slight cold. He is enjoying himself at his winter home with a party of seven friends, and reports of his illness are not well founded.

Boys Wounded By Burglars.

Niantic, Conn., Sept. 23.—Marion Kelley, 18 years old, was shot and seriously injured and three companions were fired at by burglars who were attempting to force the door of the post office safe at Flanders, a village four miles from here, yesterday morning. The burglars escaped.

England Not Alarmed at Intervention.

London, Sept. 23.—In London the speech of President Loubet when proposing the health of the czar and zarina at the luncheon which followed the review at Betheny Saturday is in no way regarded as an indication on the act of the Russian emperor, to intervene in South Africa.

Spain's Nationalists Cable Roosevelt.

San Sebastian, Spain, Sept. 23.—The Nationalists of the Basque provinces have sent a message to President Roosevelt, congratulating him,

YACHTS GETTING READY

Preparations Active For Big Columbia-Shamrock Contest.

New York, Sept. 23.—Saluted by scores of vessels as she was towed through the East River yesterday, the cup defender Columbia, flying the pennant of the New York Yacht Club at her masthead, looked every inch the racing craft that she is. It is safe to say that fully 5,000 persons visited the Shamrock II at the Erie Basin dry dock yesterday. Sir Thomas Lipton, painfully limping as a result of his recent injury, looked over his challenger early in the morning.

Expert opinions were not lacking from those who had visited both the defender and the challenger. Former Commodore John C. Pragne, who has perhaps won more races with his yachts in the old days than any other, said:

"I like the shape of the Shamrock, and if her sails are as good as the Columbia's she will win the cup. Her rigging is strong and her mast is in the right place. Another good feature is that her boom comes down close to the deck. She looks bigger all over than the Columbia, and I feel sure she is a very fast boat."

NO HAND-SHAKING FOR YORK

Grasped 3,000 Hands Last Week and Lost Use of Arm.

Ottawa, Can., Sept. 23.—This evening the Duke and Duchess of York will be tendered a public reception in the senate chamber at the parliament buildings, but there will be no hand-shaking. At Melbourne the duke shook hands with 3,000 persons in one afternoon and lost the use of his arm for over a week. This evening the duke and duchess will stand on the speaker's throne and those who are presented will merely bow before them and withdraw. This morning the royal party is enroute to the lumber camps to see the life and partake of the fare of the lumbermen. They were taken through the timber slides on the Ottawa river and then down the river to Rockliffe in Indian canoes and lumbermen's boats.

Tomorrow the royal party will resume its journey westward to the Pacific coast, and their first stop of any length will be at Winnipeg, which they will reach on Thursday afternoon. It has been definitely decided that the duchess will make the entire journey through to Victoria and will not stop at Banff as once planned.

TELEGRAMS FROM KITCHENER

Which Tend to Show Boer War is Not Yet Over.

London, Sept. 24.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, September 22: "Kritzingler, while endeavoring to force a passage of the Orange river, near Herschell, at 1 o'clock Friday morning, rushed the camp of a party of Lovatt's scouts. He failed to cross the river, but the scouts lost heavily. Lieutenant Colonel, the Hon. Andrew Murray, and Captain Murray, his adjutant, were killed. Deeply regret the loss of Colonel Murray, who throughout the war had led Lovatt's scouts with great gallantry. Under cover of darkness the Boers managed to carry off a gun. They were promptly followed up and the gun was recovered in a smart engagement, in which Kritzingler lost two killed and 20 taken prisoners."

BOERS IN CAPE COLONY

British Alarmist Says Burglers Are Within Forty Miles of Capetown.

London, Sept. 23.—A most alarming letter from Cape Town is published today by the Daily Express. The writer says: "The Boers are overrunning Cape Colony. They are on both the coast lines and within 40 miles of Cape Town. Even the intelligence department does not know how many colonial rebels have taken up arms in the last fortnight. The town guard of Cape Town has been ordered to hand in the magazine rifles and ammunition, ostensibly because these are wanted at the front. Martini Henry's have been served out instead."

Chicago's Second Tribute.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Chicago yesterday paid its second tribute to the memory of President McKinley. The principal exercises were held at the Coliseum. Senators Dooliver and Mason were the speakers.

Memorial Services in Manila.

Manila, Sept. 23.—The bishop of Cebu conducted memorial services in the cathedral yesterday for the late President McKinley, and the Spanish-speaking Protestants held a service in the Rizal theatre.

Mahoney Guilty of Manslaughter.

Gunnison, Colo., Sept. 23.—The jury in the case of Game Warden Frank Mahoney, on trial for the killing of W. A. Womock at Grand Mesa lakes in July last, yesterday returned a verdict of manslaughter.

The Weather and the Almanac.

Clear weather has prevailed during the past twenty-four hours east of the Rocky mountains, except in eastern Florida and Montana, where there were light rains. There has been a considerable rise in temperature, except in the north-west. West of the Rocky mountains the conditions have changed but little. The forecast: Fair and warmer today; fair, with fresh to brisk southerly winds, tomorrow. Sun rises, 5.48 a. m.; sun sets, 5.57 p. m.; length of day, 12h. 9m.

MAY HAVE BEEN A PLOT

Detectives Still Think Czolgosz Was Not Alone.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—Investigations made by Police Detective Schunk reveal the startling possibility that a plot to assassinate President McKinley was laid a year or more ago, before he was elected for his second term, and that it may have been laid in the peaceful precincts of Orange township, where the Czolgosz family lived. A remittance made to the assassin by his brother, Waldeck Czolgosz, about a month ago led to the investigation that may have an important bearing on the case.

One of the strong elements in the belief of the Buffalo and secret service detectives has been the fact that the handkerchief with which the assassin concealed the hand in which he held his weapon was a woman's handkerchief. What is more important is that the handkerchief was tied about the hand in a way that he, it is claimed, would not have been able to tie it himself, no matter how skillful he might have been with the other hand or how much time he might have taken to tie it. The fact that Czolgosz had money impelled the detectives to try to learn whence he got it. Yesterday his brother, Waldeck Czolgosz, confessed to having sent it to Leon under the name of Frank Snyder, at West Seneca, N. Y.

LIVELY SET OF ANARCHISTS

Will Hold Mass Meeting Tonight and There May Be Trouble.

Spring Valley, Ill., Sept. 23.—Twenty Anarchists armed with double-barreled shotguns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition are standing guard over the office of L'Aurore, the notorious Anarchist publication which expressed joy at the murder of President McKinley and satisfaction over the announcement of Assassin Czolgosz that he was an Anarchist. Meanwhile fully 2,000 citizens of adjoining towns have sent word to the authorities here that they are ready and extremely anxious to start at a moment's notice for this city and assist in exterminating the "Reds."

Cincinnati Held Memorial Meeting.

Cincinnati, Sept. 23.—Among the memorial meetings here yesterday was one in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral of British-born residents. King Edward attended services in this edifice in 1880, receiving communion from Bishop McElvinn, whom the prince afterward entertained at Sandringham, England. The original flag that covered the bier of Lord Nelson was entwined with the Stars and Stripes on the altar.

"Low Had Staying Power," Says Platt.

New York, Sept. 23.—Senator Platt today issued a statement, in which he said: "I do not doubt that the Republican city convention will accept the judgment of the anti-Tammany conference and nominate Mr. Low. Everybody who has followed the proceedings of the conference committee must have seen that Mr. Low was the only man among those whose names were canvassed who possessed what is called 'staying power.'"

Emperor Nicholas Homeward Bound.

Beilin, Sept. 23.—Emperor Nicholas and the Russian empress arrived at Kiel at 6 o'clock last evening. They were met at the railway station by Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia and the Russian imperial children, with whom they drove to the castle. At 9 o'clock the Russian sovereign, accompanied by their children, resumed the journey homeward.

Aguinaldo's Last Remnants Surrender.

Manila, Sept. 23.—Aguinaldo's bodyguard, Major Alhambra, two captains, two lieutenants and 29 men, with 28 rifles, surrendered about 40 miles north of Ibalor, Island of Luzon, to Captain George A. Detchemyng, of the Twenty-second United States Infantry, yesterday, took the oath of allegiance and were released.

Same Old Story; There's a Shortage.

Rome, N. Y., Sept. 23.—John C. Higham, of this city, who for 16 years has been confidential clerk and salesman for the cheese buying firm of Robert McAdam & Sons, that did business at No. 6 Harrison street, New York, has made a confession, stating that he is short in the company's accounts to the amount of $19,000.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

Secretary Hay has left Washington for a visit to his summer home at Sunapee, N. H.
Simon Sterne, a well-known authority on railroad and constitutional law, died yesterday in New York city.
Parisians are intensely disappointed at the failure of Emperor Nicholas to come to Paris and are freely blaming the government.
General Frederik Funston, who has been in the Manila hospital, suffering from appendicitis, for about a week, has undergone a successful operation.
Japan's foreign trade for the last eight months amounted to 156,000,000 yen in exports, and 181,000,000 yen in imports, as against 123,000,000 yen and 207,000,000 yen last year.

HOW THE LEGS GROW.

The Shocks of Exercise Lengthen Them and Keep Them Even.

As a fact, says the author, our lower limbs are not usually both of exactly the same length, though they are so for all practical purposes. The left is usually the longer, though the gait is not notably influenced by this fact. At birth the lower limbs are shorter than the upper, and their movements are rather of the prehensile type. "We are not born leggy like the foal or kangaroo, but we gradually achieve legliness." The bones increase in length, not so much by interstitial deposit as by addition to their ends—that is, by progressive ossification of the layer of cartilage which intervenes between the end of the shaft and the epiphysis. Ossification goes on till the component parts of the bone are all united by bony matter, and thus the stature of the individual is determined.

If from inflammation or injury an epiphysis be damaged, one limb may be shorter than the other, or inflammatory stimulation may even induce an increased length in the bone affected. The skeletons of tortoises, not being subjected to sudden jars, have no epiphyses at the ends of the long bones, whereas in the leaping frog the extremities of the humerus and femur long remain as separate epiphyses. The continuous concussions to which the ends of the bones of the lower limbs are exposed when a vigorous child is excited by its own natural spirit to run about are doubtless of great value in assisting the growth in length of the lower limbs, which soon lose their infantile character and become adapted for running and walking. By exposing the lower limbs to the same influences and resistances during their entire growth we manage to maintain them of the same length, and gentle jars upon the epiphyses at the joints may be considered favorable to growth.—New York Medical Record.

A BIG WEDDING FEE.

The Generous Uses to Which Henry Ward Beecher Put It.

In his "Eccentricities of Genius" Major Pond says that often while traveling Henry Ward Beecher improved his time by having what he called "a general housecleaning" of his pockets, which would get loaded up with letters and papers until they could hold no more, and he would clear them out and destroy such papers as were worthless.

On one occasion Beecher happened to put his hand in the watch pocket of his pantaloons and found there a little envelope which he opened. When he saw its contents, he called Major Pond to sit beside him and remarked: "You remember the evening I married C. P. Huntington. I was so much interested in the subject that I forgot he handed me a little envelope as he went out of the door. I put it in the watch pocket of my pantaloons and never thought of it again until just now, and here it is, four $1,000 bills. Now," he said, "don't tell any one about it, and we will have a good time and make some happiness with this money. We will just consider that we found it."

And so in a day or two Mr. Beecher went with Major Pond to look at a cargo of fine oriental rugs, many of which he purchased and sent to different friends, and afterward he spent what remained of the money for coin silver lamps, unmounted gems and various pieces of bric-a-brac, all of which he gave away until he had used up the entire $4,000 "in making happiness among those whom he loved."

After Mr. Beecher's death the major related to Mr. Huntington the incident of this discovery of the four $1,000 bills, and the railway magnate observed: "I should never have given them to him. It was all wrong. I made a mistake. Money never did him any good."

The Questions of Clarence.

"Well, Clarence, what is it?" asked the boy's papa.
"I didn't say anything, papa," replied Clarence.
"I know you didn't, but it is fully five minutes since you asked a question, and I know from experience that another is due about this time."
"Well, papa, what are all those big United States flags made of?" asked the boy.
"Some of them are made of silk. Clarence, but by far the greater number are made of bunting."
"And, papa?"
"Well, Clarence?"
"Are the little flags made of baby bunting?"—Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette.

Give Everybody a Chance.

Emerson's dictum that we should treat every one as if he were all that ought to be is an excellent rule to practice in daily life. It is human nature to rise to the level that is expected of it. It is not necessary to waste time upon un congenial people unless you are bound to them by strong family ties, but it is important that all with whom you come in contact be studied, with the desire on your part to give credit for all that is good in them and that nothing in their outward circumstances or appearance be allowed to prejudice you against them.—Ada C. Sweet in Woman's Home Companion.

Wise Too Late.
