DEAD SOLDIER COMING HOME

Body of Thomas Walsh on Its Way to Freeland.

Remains Left San Francisco on Saturday and Will Arrive Here Friday--Should Have Military Funeral.

The remains of Thomas Walsh, a son of James Walsh, of the Third ward, left San Francisco on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock and are expected to arrive at Freeland on or about Friday evening. Young Walsh was one of the many Freeland boys who offered themselves to the United States government for the defense of the country when the trouble with Spain assumed serious proportions.

In May, 1899, he enlisted in the service at Hazelton and was assigned to Company H, of the Nineteenth regular infantry. In August of that year he sailed with his regiment for the Philippines.

During the following fifteen months he participated in a number of engagements against the natives, through all of which he came out unscathed and with good prospects of returning home in good health in May, 1901, when his two years' enlistment would have expired.

However, in November of last year he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after five weeks' suffering he succumbed to the disease in the United States military hospital at Cebu. The remains were buried the following day in Cebu cemetery with full military honors.

Two weeks later the Tribune published an account of his death, but as the name given out by the war department was assigned to Company C, of the Seventeenth infantry, it was believed that it was not the Freeland boy who had died.

On February 14 last, James Walsh, his father, received a letter from Captain Thomas G. Hanson, of Company H, in which the rumor was verified and consolation offered for the loss of the son.

Steps were immediately taken by the family to have the body brought to Freeland for final interment, and this the government promised to have done as soon as possible.

On Saturday Mr. Walsh received a telegram from the military authorities at San Francisco stating that the body of his son would leave that city for Freeland via the Wells-Fargo express at 6 p. m.

The exact time of the arrival of the corpse here cannot be given, but it is supposed that it will reach town on Friday.

The body will be taken to the home of the grief-stricken family in the Third ward, where it will be retained a day or two to permit relatives from other towns to arrive to attend the funeral. The interment will be made at St. Ann's cemetery.

Young Walsh was the third of our young men who died in the government service since the Spanish war was inaugurated, and the second whose body was sent to town.

THEATRICAL.

Complications in the plot of a play may prove interesting to some but the general public are more easily amused by direct simplicity to engage their attention, spiced by those necessary condiments, "wit" and "ginger." This latter method has been adopted by Mr. Hoyt when he wrote his side splitting comedy, "A Day and a Night." The fact that the public ear is entranced by sweet and dashing melodies did not escape Mr. Hoyt's practiced senses, and the greatest popular composers have contributed to the play music that will live in the hearts of the people.

The cast of characters comprises the ablest exponents of comedy to be found in the Mecca of theatredom—New York city. The men of the company are talented, handsome and dashing. The ladies, and they are numerous, have been selected with a view to their peculiar fitness for the various parts, and their beauty of face and form is but an endorsement of Messrs. Broadhurst & Currie's fine discrimination as to the wants of an American public.

"A Day and a Night" is popular, and deservedly so, because its story is connected and uproariously funny. The play will be presented here tomorrow evening.

The successful playwright is who properly blends the elements of pathos and comedy. The author of "Tennessee's Pardner" has done his work successfully and a more pleasing dramatic entertainment has not been seen on the stage for a long time. It is a play full of human interest, tender sentiment, manly spirit and wholesome comedy. Those who fancy "Tennessee's Pardner" a sort of wild and woolly, lurid, western melodrama will find themselves agreeably deceived by a series of stage pictures as unique and delightful as those described in Bret Harte's sketches. The attraction is booked for Freeland for a special engagement of one night.

↑ ↑ ↑
In order to fill its engagement here Hoyt's "A Day and a Night" Company will make an unusually long jump. The company plays tonight at Pottstown, Montgomery county; tomorrow evening at Freeland, and Wednesday night at Hanover, York county. The cost of the railroad fare to be expended in reaching town and retracing their steps will be over $225. The management of a company who are willing to risk so much to please local theatre-goers should be accorded the patronage their show deserves.

↑ ↑ ↑
Miss Agnes Burroughs and her company gave a good presentation of "East Lynne" on Friday evening before a large audience.

↑ ↑ ↑
A heavy curtailment in the output of milk has resulted since the appearance of the disease, and several dairymen of the valley are unable to obtain a sufficient supply for their patrons. One dealer discontinued business on Saturday and two others are expected to retire this week.

↑ ↑ ↑
The ordinance passed recently by council creating a milk inspector is now in force, and the health officer, who by virtue of his office is the inspector, will likely give the matter his attention. A considerable quantity of Butler valley milk comes to town and it should be examined regularly in order that the consumers may be protected from impure milk.

↑ ↑ ↑
The condition of Mrs. Edith Faas, who is afflicted with smallpox at Hazelton, is critical. The city authorities have taken every precaution to prevent the spread of the disease.

↑ ↑ ↑
According to the report of Surgeon General Wymon, of the Marine Hospital Service, the number of smallpox cases officially reported in Pennsylvania from June 28 to October 11 was 1,318 and 38 deaths. During the same period last year there were only 15 cases and no deaths.

↑ ↑ ↑
In Philadelphia county there were 242 cases reported and 25 deaths; Lebanon county, 171 cases, 3 deaths; Dauphin county, 248 cases, no deaths; Chester county, 85 cases, 4 deaths; Delaware county, 32 cases, no deaths; Lancaster county, 50 cases, no deaths; Lycoming county, 101 cases, no deaths; Schuylkill county, 1 case; York county, 12 cases; Luzerne county, 45 cases, 3 deaths; Allegheny county, 394 cases, 1 death.

↑ ↑ ↑
The Slavonian citizens of the North Side formed a political club on July 1, 1900, and effected a permanent organization under the name of the Lincoln Slavonian Political Club of Freeland. Membership is limited to citizens of the United States who speak the Slavish language.

↑ ↑ ↑
The object is to instruct the members in their duties as freemen of their adopted country, to educate them in the use of the ballot, to teach them the aims and objects of the several political parties, and fit them in every manner to take an intelligent part in the various questions which arise in local, state and national affairs which are settled at the ballot-box.

↑ ↑ ↑
The more intelligent men of this nationality in and around Freeland are members of the club. They have realized for some time past that their countrymen, as a whole, are not qualified to exercise the privileges granted them when they become citizens. To place them on a level with their fellow-men is the object of the club, and under the guidance of sincere and honest leaders the association has done a wonderful amount of good.

↑ ↑ ↑
The club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year:
President—John Gayda.
Vice president—Nicholas Yalch.
Secretary—John Mezaros.
Treasurer—John Taczak.

↑ ↑ ↑
Meetings are held the last Sunday of every month in the basement of St. Mary's Greek Catholic church on Fern street. The next meeting will be held next Sunday.

↑ ↑ ↑
As a further inducement to members to continue in the ranks monthly dues are collected, and from this fund funeral benefits are paid.

↑ ↑ ↑
The condition of Miss Katie Cull, who is ill with pneumonia, is critical today, and her recovery is in doubt.

↑ ↑ ↑
The quarterly temperance meeting, which was to be held here next Sunday, has been postponed until November 10.

↑ ↑ ↑
Frank Burke, of Wilkesbarre, will return home today after a week's visit with Freeland relatives.

↑ ↑ ↑
John J. Gallagher, of Philadelphia, has returned to town to spend the winter.

Happenings of the Past Two Days in and Around Freeland Recorded Without Waste of Words.

The Crescents and Chester teams played an exciting game of football at Drifton yesterday. The Freeland boys were not in it as a team, although some of them played good ball individually. Drifton played well from the start and with good interference and close attention to signals succeeded in scoring four touchdowns, but could not kick a goal. The score was Crescents, 20; Crescents, 0.

The Freeland Browing Company sent a wagon and team of horses this morning to Wilkesbarre, where an agency for the sale of the products of the plant will be established. The team was driven to the county seat by Eugene West.

Mrs. Samuel Herring, aged 66 years, died this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Williams, in Upper Lehigh. She is survived by three sons and five daughters.

The public school teachers from all parts of the county assembled today at Wilkesbarre to participate in the annual teachers institute. The sessions will continue until Friday afternoon.

Neal O'Donnell, a well known young man of Eckley, will leave this week for St. Paul, Minn., where he will accept a position with his uncle, who is engaged in business near that city.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. James Boner, of South Centre street, died yesterday and will be buried at St. Ann's cemetery at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Maria Boyle, of Cox addition, has returned from Philadelphia, where she had a successful operation performed on her eyes.

Miss Tessie Brennan has returned to New York city after spending the summer with her mother on South Centre street.

Mrs. W. C. Fiel, of North Centre street, was taken to Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, today, and will undergo an operation this week.

Fine free lunch at all hours at Bernhard Dinn's restaurant, Walnut street.

A carload of brick consigned to the borough arrived this morning at the Lehigh Valley station from Pond Creek works.

The condition of Miss Katie Cull, who is ill with pneumonia, is critical today, and her recovery is in doubt.

The quarterly temperance meeting, which was to be held here next Sunday, has been postponed until November 10.

Frank Burke, of Wilkesbarre, will return home today after a week's visit with Freeland relatives.

John J. Gallagher, of Philadelphia, has returned to town to spend the winter.
