A LAST WORD TO VOTERS.

The duty of the hour is clearly and earnestly set forth in the address of the Democratic state committee, which appears in another column. There never has been a campaign, in this or any other state, in which baffled and desperate political ringsters used more disreputable methods to gain their ends. The attempt to prevent Democratic voters having a chance to express themselves at the polls was part of a characteristic scheme, conceived three months ago. It was hoped to consume so much time in a baseless contest in the Dauphin county court that the endorsement of the reform candidate for state treasurer would not be secured in time to have Mr. Coray's name appear in the Democratic column on the ballot.

But this cowardly movement of the frightened enemy was promptly met and defeated. The way is open for a successful union of reform forces and from all parts of the state the same story comes. The people are aroused as they have not been in many years, and they are going to come out next Tuesday and vote down the Quay combine and also save the supreme court from the disgraceful presence of a man who has shown himself utterly unfit to sit in that high tribunal.

Chairman Cresany urges hard work all along the line and if this suggestion is complied with there is every reason to believe that Yerkes and Coray will be elected. The contest in Philadelphia will be close and that means a splendid chance for fusion to win in the state. For years ballot box stuffers in that city have made a mockery of elections, but this time they are confronted by an organization that is strong enough and courageous enough to prevent a repetition of their monstrous crimes. The fusion candidates are both men of such superior excellence and high claims upon public confidence that every honest citizen should be glad to cast his ballot in their support. A full vote and an honest count, next Tuesday, will mean the redemption of Pennsylvania. Work and vote for Yerkes and Coray.

The voter who casts his vote for Messrs. Freas, Jacobs, McLean, Barrett, Borge and Allegor, will have performed his full duty as a good citizen, and he will not have any cause for regret. They are an excellent set of gentlemen, each and all of whom are qualified to perform the duties of the office to which they aspire, and their election will be a benefit to the taxpayers of the county. All of them stand high in the territory where they reside and for strictly honest reasons they deserve the votes of all conservative citizens.

Every voter should without fail vote for the amendments to the constitution, as they are a step towards honest elections and will be the means of putting the political tricksters out of a job. If they are defeated it will take five years before they can be brought forward again.

The members of the bar in all parts of the state are disgusted with Potter and without regard to party they will work and vote for the clean and high-minded candidate for the supreme bench, Judge Yerkes.

A vote for Coray means the turning of the rascals out, and the turning on of the light. Get your neighbor to join you in voting for the fusion candidate for state treasurer.

With Coray in charge of the state treasury there will be no big "rake off" for the machine; no due bills in the cash drawer for the benefit of Quay hirelings.

Coray's brilliant legislative record worried the Quay roosters. Wait till he gets in the state treasury and there will be a rise in the price of carpet bags.

Fusion has won splendid victories in various parts of the state. Let it now be carried out on a large scale and the taxpayers will never regret it.

THAT BOY O' ROGERS.

That boy o' Rogers, Lord spare me
From raisin' such a brat as he!
If ever mischief was boiled down
Into a freckled, red-haired clown
And turned loose on two spindlin' shanks
T' lother mankind with his pranks,
'Twas that ar boy o' Rogers!

Th' wa'n't no question that he'd be
Inside th' penitentiary
Afore he was a man full grown;
He could conspire more tricks alone
Than any boy I ever seed,
Th' biggest scamp, we all agreed,
Was that ar boy o' Rogers!

He turned up missin', went out wast;
I 'low we thought it was th' best
Thing that had a-happened yet
When he made up his mind 't git;
For us he could'n go too fur,
An' we all said, "Good riddance," sir,
'T was that ar boy o' Rogers!

He left us twenty years ago;
I was out west a month or so
Las' spring, an' Jack, my boy, says he,
'I'll take ye up today 't see
'Til governor!' 'Wa' sir, I'm cused
I knew him when I seed him fast;
'Twas that ar boy o' Rogers!

CURING THE BLUES.

Just Try Turning Up the Corners of Your Mouth.

A well known doctor of Minneapolis who has made a specialty of nervous diseases has found a new remedy for the "blues." As no drugs are administered, he has felt safe in experimenting with at least a half hundred melancholy patients and now declares himself thoroughly satisfied with the good results of his treatment. His prescription reads something like this: "If you keep the corners of your mouth turned up, you can't feel blue." The directions for taking are: "Smile, keep on smiling, don't stop sniffling." It sounds ridiculous, doesn't it? Well, just try turning up the corners of your mouth, regardless of your mood, and see how it makes you feel. Then draw the corners of your mouth down and note the effect, and you will be willing to declare "there's something in it."

The doctor treats his nervous patients to medicine when necessary, but when the case is one of pure melancholy, without bodily ill, he simply recommends the smile cure. He has the patient remain in his office and smile. If it isn't the genuine article, it must at least be an upward curvature of the corners of the mouth, and the better feelings follow inevitably. The treatments are followed up regularly, and the patients all testify to their good effect. It takes considerable persuasion to induce some of them to apply the cure, and of course the greater number of patients are women, for when a man is blue he is bound to be blue in spite of everything, but a woman is more easily persuaded to try to find a cure.

The doctor declares that if persons will only draw down the corners of their mouths and use sufficient will power they can actually shed tears. On the other hand, if they will persistently keep the corners of the mouth turned up pleasant thoughts will chase away the gloomy forebodings. His discovery grew out of an experience in his own home. His wife was of a nervous and rather morbid temperament, and when in a despondent mood he would ask her to "smile a little" until the saying came to be a household joke. But it brought about good results, and then came the inspiration to try the same cure on others.

The doctor has not patented his remedy, and it is free to all who choose to take advantage of it.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Flight of the Stork.

The stork is a remarkably picturesque bird. Its snowy body contrasting with the bright red beak and legs and black quill feathers of the wings make it a striking object. The flight is magnificent, bolder and more buoyant than that of a heron. Like most large birds, its powers of flight show best when it is at a great height. When we were on the Basel rock, in Saxony Switzerland, a pair passed overhead, flying southward. Though high above us, we could clearly see the black pinion feathers, and as we watched the powerful beat of the wide spreading wings we thought of the angels in Zechariah's vision who had "wings like the stork."—Chambers' Journal.

The Bund.

The bund is the name given in almost all eastern seaports to the street fronting on the water. This street is usually the trade center, and rumors that are likely to affect trade or political conditions fly thick and fast about it. As most of these are unfounded, it is the habit in the orient to call a story whose authenticity is doubted "bunder."

Sensible.
Mr. Backward—Well—er—yes, since you ask me, I was thinking of consulting a fortune teller.

Noncommittal About His Health.

Robert—Oh, I suppose Tom is all right, but he is so close mouthed. For instance, when I saw him today I asked him, "How are you?" and he gave me an evasive answer.

Richard—And what was that?
Robert—He said, "How are you?"—Boston Transcript.

NERVOUSNESS

All diseases are more or less comprised in the above four ailments, all of which have their origin in the Stomach. To cure each, any or all of them, begin right. Begin with Laxakola. Begin with Laxakola, the great tonic laxative. It speedsily and painlessly acts on the bowels, cleanses the stomach, stimulates the liver, corrects the kidneys, allays nervousness, assists digestion, while its marvelous tonic properties tone up the system while curing it, and speedily causes a natural and permanent condition of health.

Laxakola is the best Children's remedy in the world, and the only one that builds up the children's systems while acting as an all-around blood-purifier and tonic. It speedily clears the coated tongue, checks colds and simple fevers, and promotes sleep. Children like it and ask for it. Mothers are its greatest friends; they use it and recommend it. THE OLDEST STOVE.

Made in 1767. It Presents Some Curious Features.

What is probably the oldest stove in existence is now on exhibition in the hardware store of H. S. Cleveland in Minneapolis. The stove is owned by the Michigan Stove company and was made in 1767.

It is in the form of an old fashioned box stove, standing upon legs or end branches similar to those of a sewing machine, only that they are about half as high as the latter and are of much heavier casting. The total weight of the stove is 500 pounds, and the iron from which it is made is seven-eighths of an inch thick in all parts. It is 3 feet long, 34 inches high and 1 foot wide, with a hearth extending in front. The only opening on top is a small hole for the pipe. It was evidently used for heating and cooking, although without lids. The oven would hardly accommodate a turkey even of moderate dimensions. It measures fourteen and a half inches in length, twelve inches in width and six inches in height. The floor of the oven is removable, thus making greater heating capacity.

There is no grate in the bottom, the fire being built directly on the bottom of the stove, the heat passing from below the oven, back of it and over the top to the pipe.

The outside has scroll designs and crowns in relief, and on both sides, cast with the metal, are the words, "Hereford Furnace, Thomas Maybury, Mfr., 1767."

The stove is well preserved in spite of its almost 150 years of age. The whole surface might be described as pebbles, top as well as sides.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
