The trial of the famous case of Joseph tevenson against the Jeddo Tunnel company and other companies started on Monday. Stevenson operated a wool-en mill on Nescopick creek until the Jeddo tunnel was constructed and drain-ed water from the mines. This carried into the creek great quantities of culm and availed the structure for and spoiled the water for milling. Stevenson sues for $100,000 damages. ROUND THE REGION.

Despite the combined efforts of the Board of Health and council, Miss Pauline Climnet, of Plymouth, and Samuel Frankel, of New York city, were married at Plymouth last night. This wedding had been postponed three different times owing to the rule laid down by the authorities restricting gatherings of all kinds during the present epidemic.

Albert Crane, of Scranton, tried to kill himself yesterday by shooting him-self. He invited his mother and a number of relatives to his house, saying he was about to go away. When they were all assembled he took a revolver and placed it in his mouth and fired. The ball took an upward course and is lodged in the head. He was taken to the hospital.

J. P. Frey, national wice president of the Moulders' Union, has been in Wilkes-barre since Saturday and at conference with the Vulcan Works officials the wing the vulcan Works officials the wage question was settled and all dan-ger of the strike at the c ompany's Wikesbarrf, Pittston and Tamaqua works was averted. The sanitary commission of Wilkes-barre, as a precaution against smallpox, has ordered that all Plymouth residents employed in several mills at South Wilkesbarre, which is across the river from Plymouth, be suspended until the epidemic in Plymouth is over. This will throw a couple of hundred out of work.

The employing printers of northeastern Pennsylvania met at Wilkesbarre Monday night, when an organiza-tion was formed. Representatives were present from Hazleton, Pittston, Kings-ton, Scranton and other places. The object is to arrange some uniformity with reference to prices.

James Foin, of Scranton, who had been at Wilkesbarre, started home to attend the funeral of his mother. When near Avoca he was struck by a Central Railroad of New Jersey train and killed. His identity was established by a tele-gram found on his person announcing his mother's death.

The strike of the 800 Plymouth miners at the Nottingham colliery ended yes-terday morning, the men deciding at a meeting to return to work. The com pany promised to investigate the cases of discharged men. William Hodgekins, aged 80 years, of Tamaqua, well-known throughout Penn-sylvania, died yesterday. He was one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the state, being an active member of the order since 1843.

Another ineffectual attempt was made yesterday to end the Scranton street railway strike. The strikers' officers and Manager Silliman held a conference out no agreement was reached. A jury has awarded $1,000 damages to Miss Margaret A. Jones, of Jonestown, who sued Charles A. Fredericks, of Pottsville, for $10,000, alleging breach of promise to marry.

Relatives in Hazleton have been notified that John Oppet, who enlisted in the United States army in that city three years ago, has been killed in the Philippines. Park View has sent another smallpox patient to Hazleton pest house. name is Manus O'Donnell, aged 35 years.
