FISHERMEN

ARE READY

Tomorrow Will Be First Day of the Season.

Followers of the Sport Look Forward and Anticipate Much Pleasure--Offenders to Be Punished.

The condition of tomorrow's weather is the one thing in all the world that is giving the true fisherman any concern today. Tomorrow is April 15, the first day on which trout can be fished legally, and the followers of the sport are praying for clear weather, in order that they may enjoy the pastime to its fullest extent.

The season which opens tomorrow will continue until July 31 next, and, if the laws provided by the legislature are observed by all who fish, there should be abundant pleasure during that period.

To those who may be inclined to transgress the fish laws the warning notices posted by State Fish Warden Hugh Malloy, of which the following paragraphs are extracts, should cause them to hesitate, as no leniency will be shown to offenders who may be caught.

State fish wardens have authority to search and examine any boat, vehicle, fish-box, basket, bagcoat, or other receptacle for fish, when they have good reason to believe that any of the fish laws have been violated. Section 35, act of May 29, 1901: Penalty--Interfering with warden or resisting arrest, fine of $100 and three months imprisonment in the county jail.

Open season for brook trout and California trout, April 15 to July 31, inclusive. Penalty--$10 for each trout.

Legal length of trout, six inches. Penalty--$10 for each trout.

Legal fishing for trout or any game fish, rod, hook and line, or hand-line having not more than three hooks, or trolling line with spoon-hook. Penalty--$25 for each fish.

Legal catch is limited to fifty (50) trout per day. Penalty--$10 for each trout.

Purchase and sale of trout is forbidden, or to employ any person to fish for another by the day or otherwise. Penalty--$25 for each trout.

Fishing with nets in any waters inhabited by brook trout is forbidden. Penalty--$100.

Using dynamite or other explosives in any waters in this state is illegal. Penalty--$100 fine and six months imprisonment in the county jail.

Open season for pike and pickerel, June 15 to February 15, inclusive. Legal length of pike and pickerel, nine inches. Penalty--$10 for each fish.

Miners Want a New Law.

The miners of the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys, through the State Federation of Labor and personal efforts, will attempt to have the next legislature change the mine laws so that mine inspectors may be empowered to act as inspectors of mine weights and scales. This important duty now devolves on the county clerks, and it is said the majority of these clerks are not conversant with the duties involved. The scales are necessary things to the miner in some localities, for it is on the true balance of the scale beam that the miners depend for correct wages.

Under the new system of electing mine inspectors, the duties of these officers will not be so diversified as formerly, and it is said by the miners that it would not be adding much to the work of each to require them to inspect the scales and weights. The miners are almost unanimous in their opinion that the law should be so changed.

Union Men Condemn Quay.

Resolutions which scathingly condemn Senator Quay for his attempt to open the door for the entrance of a horde of Chinese to the United States have been adopted by Local No. 9178, of the American Federation of Labor, of Mauch Chunk. They are as follows:

"It is the unanimous voice of this local of the American Federation of Labor that we notify you of our views relating to the damnable and contemptible manner in which you are exercising the prerogative of the United States senatorship.

"As a common citizen you ought to feel, and in fact know, that Chinese labor would be a rotten pillar for a full dinner pail and fair wages. That for you to bow down to the heathen is considered by us lower than the action of the idolater who bows down to wood and stone.

"For the past twenty-five years we have watched your career as individuals and now as an organization we feel that it is time for you to get off the perch upon which the cartoonist has so happily placed you.

"You have been weighed and found wanting. Your opponents, the insurgents, have exposed your corrupt methods, and we hereby

"Resolve, That, if we can help it, you shall 'gold brick' the American laboring people no longer; be it further

"Resolved, That our secretary is instructed to notify you of this action."

Policy Not Made Public.

The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, after a week's session in Indianapolis, adjourned on Saturday without making public the policy adopted regarding the anthracite coal field trouble, further than to announce that the matter has been left entirely in the hands of President Mitchell and the anthracite district officers, pending the result of the negotiations of the Civic Federation committee.

The action of the national board, it is believed, foretells a strike unless the operators shall yield to the demands of the miners. Just when the strike will be ordered is a part of the secret of the national board. No strike will be ordered, however, until the full thirty days given the National Civic Federation to arbitrate the differences between the miners and operators shall have expired.

Sunday, April 27, is the date when the thirty days will expire.

Is Now a Superintendent.

The following, from the West Virginia Herald, published at Thurmond, W. Va., will be pleasing news to the many friends of a former Freeland young man:

"P. E. Gallagher, who for the past year has been the agent to the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal Agency Company, with headquarters at this place, resigned his position on the first of April to accept the superintendency of the Bell Creek Coal Company, at Helva, W. Va. He is succeeded here by C. T. Thurmond, of Alderson, W. Va.

"Mr. Gallagher has proven an efficient representative of the C. & O. Coal Agency Company, and is most favorably known throughout the mining sections. Mr. Gallagher at one time was the editor and proprietor of the New River Reporter before that paper was changed and consolidated with the West Virginia Herald. We wish Mr. Gallagher success in his new field."

Are Still for Elkin.

Senator Quay's announcement that he is against the nomination of Attorney General John P. Elkin for governor has aroused local Republicans. In conversation with several of the party leaders here they say they are still for Elkin, notwithstanding the opposition of Quay and other state leaders, and they predict that their favorite will be named by the Republican state convention if he remains in the field. The break in the machine is also being matched with interest by those of this vicinity who were identified with last year's insurgent movement.

Local Democrats look upon the whole affair as a game of bluff and place no faith in the reports that any real opposition to Elkin will be fostered by Quay. They say Elkin is the logical machine candidate and that the alleged rupture is only a ruse to hoodwink independent Republicans.

Gave a Good Show.

One of the best vaudeville shows of the season was that given here on Friday evening under George H. Downing's management. The troupe included a number of well-known stars, and though the audience was small they gave a fine entertainment. In the one-act version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" John L. Sullivan appeared fairly well as Simon Legree, and the popular ex-champion was enthusiastically applauded when he came upon the stage.

Real Estate Deals.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, of Washington street, on Saturday sold to Frank Balonn and Mike Len a lot on Burton street. Contractor James E. Griffith will erect a double block of dwelling houses for them.

James F. Christman on Saturday purchased the Behling farm in Butler township. Mrs. Behling will move to Ashley today.

In a special return made by the April grand jury, reference is made to the filthy condition of the Luzerne county courthouse, and a threat is made that unless the county commissioners abate the nuisance they will be indicted at the next session of the grand jury for maintaining a nuisance.

A. Oswald has the agency for the celebrated Elysian's extracts and perfumery. The finest goods made. Try them.

ROUND THE REGION.

Wilkesbarre Central Labor Union has passed resolutions condemning the effort of the Ninth regiment to get $250 from the city for each of the city companies. The resolutions said: "We recognize the militia as an armament of capitalism, of no service whatever to the cause of organized labor. Therefore the Central Labor Union denounces this attempt to inflict unnecessary expense upon the taxpayers of the city, and declares hostility in advance to members of council who may give their votes in support of this attempt to fleece the taxpayers for the benefit of the corporations."

A unique wedding took place at Harford, Susquehanna county, at which the attendants were the grandchildren of the bride. Mrs. Adelaide Brainard was married to Charles Vosburg, of North Dakota. She was attended by Misses Hazel and Cecil Brainard and the groomsmen were Lynn and Lee Brainard, all the grand-children of the bride. The bride is 65 years old, and the young people are between 18 and 23.

Ten cases of smallpox were discovered at Mt. Carmel on Friday, and as a result the whole town is wild with excitement. At the time when Shamokin, Ashland and other towns of the region were infected with many cases this winter, the town did not have a case. Owing to the close intercourse of these towns, the health authorities were surprised that Mt. Carmel escaped the plague.

Fifty-seven friends of Rosser Mainwaring, who contested the election for school director at Plains, went on his bond to insure the contest. On Saturday they were notified by the court that under the new law they are responsible for the costs, which amount to $2,800. They must pay before April 20.

In its verdict on the death of Engineer F. R. Hoover, the coroner's jury severely censured the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Hoover's train ran away and jumped the track at Sugar Notch. The jury states that the accident was due to the bad condition of the roadbed, due to lack of repair.

The first experiment of the union men of the Wyoming valley in running a co-operative store will be made in a few weeks, when a store will be opened at West Pittston. A stock company has been formed with a capital of $1,000, and the shares are being sold at $25 each.

John W. Harrison, once prominent in labor circles, is dead at the age of 60 years, after a long illness. He was a leader in the strikes which took place between 1870 and 1880, losing his place in the mines. He then became a Methodist minister at Wilkesbarre.

While Patrick Burns and John Cosgrove, miners, were working in Centralia colliery Saturday evening, a fall of coal choked up the gangway. A rescuing party at 3 o'clock next morning reached the men. Cosgrove was dead. Burns is still alive, but is likely to die.

Ice cream at Merkt's.

At a meeting of the state executive committee of the P. O. S. of A., at Reading, the request of the Funeral Benefit Association, which recently passed into the hands of receivers, for financial aid was defeated.

Wasi Talco, aged 35 years, was shot to death by burglars in his boarding house, near Gilberton, early yesterday morning. George Bernitz, proprietor of the boarding house, was beaten and his wife was shot.

Jonathan W. Davis, factory inspector of this district, has been elected president of the Central Labor Union, of Wilkesbarre city, to succeed P. J. Boyle, who resigned to accept the position of street commissioner.

Mrs. Maraget Edwards, of Carbonate, was found dead on the Delaware and Hudson tracks in that city. There are some elements of mystery in Mrs. Edwards' death, and foul play is hinted at.

Thomas McNeil, of Shickshinny, was sent to jail on the charge of trying to wreck a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train near Shickshinny by placing a piece of iron in a frog.

Dog Case Goes to Court.

John Sutton and John Smith, residents of the Second ward, were the principals in an interesting suit tried before Squire Shovlin on Saturday evening. From the evidence given it appears that a dog owned by Smith trespassed on Sutton's lot. Sutton saw the animal and shot it. Smith then brought suit against Sutton for damages to the amount of $50 and the justice awarded him the decision.

Attorney Kline, on behalf of Sutton, took an appeal from the decision and the case will be further aired in the county courts.
