INVESTIGATION COMPLETED

Wright's Facts Secured for President Roosevelt.

President Mitchell and the Presidents of the Coal Companies Have Civen Their Sides of Conditions.

The railroad presidents read in the newspapers of the visit of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, to New York, where he had a conference with Carroll D. Wright, Labor Commissioner, who was delegated by President Roosevelt to investigate the strike. When it was learned that Mr. Mitchell had made such an impression on Mr. Wright that the latter had given out the statement that the leader of the strikers had told a straightforward story which had impressed him favorably the presidents of the coal carrying companies decided to issue the long-promised statement in order to counteract any impres sion which they thought might influence President Roosevelt.

Mr. Wright met the railroad presi-dents last evening in the office of the dents last evening in the office of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company. The meeting was held by appointment. Among those present were W. E. Truesdale, president of the Delaware and Lackawanna; G. F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia and Reading, and Robinson Canada and Reading, and Robinson Canada and Reading, and Robinson Reading, and Robinson ert M. Oliphant, president of the Dela-ware and Hudson Canal Company. After the conference, which lasted an hour, Mr. Wright said that it would not be necessary for him to go to the mining districts, as the operators had given him all the facts and figures that he needed. "I have now heard both sides," he said, "and will have nothing more to do but to submit my report to President Roosevelt. My investigation s completed.'

The presidents of the coal roads immediately affected by the strike of the anthracite coal miners made public to-day letters and telegrams which have passed between the operators and Presipassed between the operators and President Mitchell and other representatives of the United Mine Workers. The operators say they have heretofore hestated about making public this correspondence. "The president of the United States," they add, "having requested Mr. Wright, the commissioner of labor, to investigate the strike, the presidents of the coal companies have presidents of the coal companies have given him such facts as he desired, in-

given him such facts as he desired, including this correspondence, and it is now given to the public."

The operators preface the correspondence with a brief history of the unionizing of the anthracite miners after the establishment of the United Mine Workers, originally an organization of bituminous coal miners, and recite the oituminous coal miners, and recite the agreement to an advance of ten per cent in wages in 1901, following the strike of 1900; the abolishment of the sliding scale and finally the invitation of February 14, 1902, to the operators to i joint conference to form a wage scale or the ensuing year. Then the text of the letters and telegrams are introduced.

John Mitchell remained in New York all day and left on the evening train for Wilkesbarre. He held another con-ference with Mr. Wright during the day, and also conferred with the members of the Civic Federation. is still no settlement," said Mr. Mitchell.

I wish I could say otherwise."
Ralph Easley, secretary of the National Civic Federation, on being asked as to the progress of the anthracite coal strike, replied: "We have nothing fur-ther to do with the matter, although we

A report from White Haven this morning says: "There is much activity in railroad circles caused by orders being issued to coal crews to report for duty and the passing of large trains down the main lines which gave cause for a rumor that the strike had been settled. A shortage at tidewater is likely the reason the railroad companies are moving the coal stored in yards in the coal region.' In this vicinity everything is quiet today. Pickets are still doing effective work along the roads leading to Drifton. The officials at the latter place were not in evidence this morning, the en counter of the Drifton mining engineer with the Italian women being sufficient to keep that overbearing individual at his home, for which people in general are thankful.

Several people had narrow escapes, being rescued from the upper windows of their homes by means of ladders. It has not yet been determined whether the cavein was due to the fact that pillars had been robbed in the mines or whether it was caused by the water which had accumulated since
