troversy through misrepresentation Judge Pennypacker s to have a different idea. Briefly seems to have a different idea. Brieny and concisely the facts may be stated, and every voter in the state should be acquainted therewith. No public man in the history of Pennsylvania has been noted for greater carefulness and n noted for greater carefulness and re uniform accuracy in expression cerning public affairs than ex-Govor Pattison. No one has ever been a to show him to be in error upon material point, and until the prescampaign no one attempted this uset and ungracious task. It seems st and ungracious task. It seems necessary, in the interest of truth and justice and political decency. expose the discreditable and short sighted misconduct of the Quay ma-thine candidate for governor.

In his speech of acceptance at Read-ing Governor Pattison, referring to the e of official power, especially at Harrisburg, by the Quay machine and any man guilty of it shows himself to be utterly unworthy of public respec and confidence. This incident reveals anew the power of evil association. It anew the power of evil association. It shows how a former member of the judiciary will descend to the despicable methods of the quarter sessions shyster. No unworthy member of the bar ever more grossly insulted his own intelligence upon the bench than has Judge Pennypacker in thus standing up Judge Pennypacker in thus standing up before the people of Pennsylvania, rattling the chains of his machine bondage, and showing his own pittable lack of the sentiments and principles which should actuate every honest man. He is so hard pushed in his defense of Quayism and all that it stands for that he makes an exhibition of for that he makes an exhibition of himself at the outstart of his hopeless campaign for the governorship, which nust bring the blush of shame to his self-respecting friends.

FARMERS FOR PATTISON

Why They Desire the Election of the Reform Governor.

Chairman Creasy, of the Democratic state committee, has received this letter from J. A. Herr, a life-long Republican, member of the state board of agriculture for 23 years, and a prominent member of the Pennsylvania State Grange:

Cedar Springs, Pa., Oct. 5, 1902.—As the senior active member of the Pennsylvania state board of agriculture, have been in a position to study the actions of the pennsylvania state board of agriculture, the senior active member of the Pennsylvania state board of agriculture, to act the senior active member of the Pennsylvania state board of agriculture, the senior of the pennsylvania state board of agriculture, the senior of the pennsylvania state to act the pennsylvania state the pennsylvani

During his term of office he gave proper consideration to all the agricultural organizations of the state, thereby endearing himself to the entire farming community. I am confident that if elected governor our agricultural interests will be given proper consideration and receive generous treatment at his hands. Very truly yours, treatment at his hands. Very truly yours,

J. A. HERR!

Be Slow to Believe It.

There is no better test of purity and true goodness than reluctance to think evil of one's neighbor and absolute incapacity to believe an evil report about good men except upon the most trustworthy testimony. Alas, that this large and lovely charity is so rare! But it is only with those who possess this charity that men accused of sins against society have an equal chance with those accused, under the forms of law, of crime. Every man brought to trial for crime is presumed to be innocent until he is proved to be guilty, but with the world at large every man slandered is presumed to be guilty until he proves himself to be innocent, and even then it takes the liberty of doubting the testimony. Every man who rejoices in scandal thereby advertises the faci of his own unworthiness, and every man who is pathed by it and refuses to be impressed by it unconsciously reveals his own purity.

sciously reveals his own purity.

An Early Organist.
A Sunday school teacher was impressing upon the little ones in her class the story of the lame beggar who was carried every day to the beautiful gate of the temple, and when the apostles Peter and John went up there they miraculously healed him. The teacher expressed sorrow for the poor man, who could do nothing but sit at the gate and beg. A little hand shot up and a small voice piped out:

"He might have got a hand organ."

The same teacher asked the little ones to repeat the golden text on one occasion when the Sunday school lesson was upon the subject of temperance. Here is the version of the text as given by one of them:

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby hath everlasting life."—Lippincott's Magazine.

"The mistake of my life," said the reminiscent man, "was when I was selling patent medicines in Russia. One day I attended a review of a crack regiment, and suddenly every man in the ranks began sneezing for all he was worth. In a trice I had my sample case open and was trying to sell the commissary a carload of my antigrip pellets when he rudely informed me that the troops were only halling with delight the arrival of General Akachoochebdooski."—Judge.

Cemetery Monuments.

What is more sadly comic or incongruous than the imposing medley of stone and marble in a great cemetery? The towering columns loom over the resting places of such small citizens. The "dove of peace" alights where it would never have brooded of its free will. The guardlan angel bends over the vixen's tomb, while medicare hits of slate denote the graves of many saintly and gifted pilgrims.—Atlantic.

Accumulating Wealth.

Could I climb to the highest place in Athens I would lift my voice and proclaim: Fellow citizens, why do ye turn and scrape every stone, to gather wealth and take so little care of your children, to whom one day you must relinquish it all?—Socrates.

A THRILLING APPEAL

Governor Pattison Urges Philadelphians to Unite With the Country in Redeeming the State.

The Democratic campaign in Philadelphia was opened on Monday evening with enthusiastic meetings in Germantown and Manayunk, where business men and workingmen united in remarkable demonstrations. At the conclusion of his address in Germantown Governor Pattison said:

It has often been said that a larger measure of the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of a commonwealth is to be found in the rural regions than in the cities and towns. Whether this claim is well founded or not, so far as Pennard when the test will surely be made, and when the surely be made, and when the test will surely be made, and when the test will surely be made, and when the surely be made, and where, that never in the history of our great state has its patriotic citizenship beyond the borders of this city been so thoroughly aroused as at this time. BOXING THE COMPASS.

The Test Between, a Salior and a Landlubber.

Boys who live in seaport towns are sometimes asked to "box the compass," If they can do it quickly and accurately, they are fine saliors and may grow up to be the captain of a four master. If they miss a point or can only do it slowly, they are landlubbers and will never see blue water. To box the compass means to name all the points in order just as fast as you can speak. This is the way an old down east skipper will rattle it off: North, nor' by east, nor'-nor'east, nor'east by north, northeast, nor'east by east, east-nor' east, east by north, east-sou'east, sou'east by south, sou'sou'east, sou' by south, sou'sou'east, sou' by cast, south, sou' by west, sou'sou'east by west, west by south, souwest by west, west by south, west, west by south, nor'west by west, nor'west by west, nor'west by west, nor'west, nor'the the can be seen that the salie of the salie the fact that a floating magnetized needle will point to the north. Nor do we know precisely when or where some unknown inventor used this idea to make a compass. All we know is that the Chinese made and used compasses more than 2,000 years ago.

When men began, perhaps 10,000 years ago, to sall upon the water, they used marks upon the shore to guide them on their way. Long years after they observed that a certain star kept at all times the same place in the sky, and they used this pole star as a guide in steering their ships. Today a steemship starting down the Hudson river for Europe is guided by the pilot, and he uses the buoys, beacons and other guide marks to steer the ship down the bay. Off Sandy Hook he gives up the ship to the captain, who instructs the helmsman to steer northenst by east, east by north or whatever course he selects, and the helmsman, watching the compass, keeps the ship headed in that direction.—Dallas News.

COOKING HINTS.

Chocolate is greatly improved by adding a teaspoonful of strong coffee just before serving.

In adding flour to gravies, always use a flour dredger and there will be no lumps in the gravy.

Some housekeepers vary the flavor of potato salad by boiling the potatoes for it in stock, or, if it is more convenient, in the soup kettle.

To make a small shortcake take a plut of pastry flour, rub in lard the size of an egg, teaspoonful cream of tartar, half teaspoonful soda, salt, and mix with sweet milk. Bake in quick oven, split and butter and add fruit.

Moral Suasion and a Strap.

"She seems to have abandoned her moral suasion ideas relative to the training of children."

"She has?"

"How did it happen?"

"Well, I was largely instrumental in bringing about the change. You see, he has no children of her own, and I grew weary of her constant preaching and theorizing, so I loaned her our Willie."

"Loaned her your boy?"

"Loaned her your boy?"

"Precisely. She was to have him a week on her solemn promise to confine herself entirely to moral suasion."

"Did she keep her promise?"

"She did, but at the expiration of the week she came to me with tears in her eyes and pleaded for permission to whale him just once."—New York Mail and Express.
