FREELAND, PA., NOVEMBER 28, 1902.

WHEN HE WAS YOUNG.

Our gran'per says when he was young
The boys and girls behaved peritely;
They knew they had to hold their tongue
And go to bed at seven nightly.
They didn't whoop and stamp and shout,
And people didn't need remind 'em
When they came in or else went out
To gently close the door behind 'em.

Our gran'per says in his time boys
To old folks always spoke respectful;
They didn't have a mess of toys
To scatter round and treat neglectful.
They et their vitals 'thout a kick
And thought they was in luck to get 'em.
They didn't mind the'r bread cut thick,
And as for crusts, they alwus et 'em.

Our gran'per says boys wiped their feet
When he was young and tied their laces
And kept themselves all clean and neat
And washed their necks as well as faces.
They never snuck away to fish
Or swim unless their parents let 'em,
Because no decent boy would wish—
Who had good folks—to plague or fret 'em.

Our gran'per says a lot of things
About them kids when he was youthful.
I guess they got to sprouting wings
And flew away—if he is truthful.
The ones here now ain't built that way;
I know it's long afore I'm flying
Or any others round here—say!
Don't you believe our gran'per's lying?
—Chicago News.

A Reason.

Professor — was instructing a class of schoolboys about the circulation of the blood.
"Can you tell me," said he, "why it is that if I were to stand on my head there would be a rush of blood to my head and that there is no rush of blood to my feet when I stand upon them?"
For a moment there was silence, and then a boy answered, "It's because your feet are not empty, sir."—New York Times.

Pingponglet For Flatlet.

"Yes, ma'am," says the saleslady; "this is the new game of pingponglet."
"But it is so very little," objects the customer. "It looks like a toy."
"It is quite popular," declares the saleslady. "It is a miniature of the other game and is especially designed to be played in a flat."—Judge.

His Looks Belle Him.

"There's a vast difference between a man's looks and his real worth."
"Yes?"
"Yes; there's Blobbinson. He's worth $300,000, but no board of appraisers, judging by his looks, would value him at more than 29 cents."—San Francisco Bulletin.

Who Knows?

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "when people are ashamed they always get red in the face, don't they?"
"I believe so, dear," was the reply.
"Then," continued the little observer, "I wonder why Uncle George only gets ashamed in his nose?"—Indianapolis Sun.

No, Not You.

"Mamma, what was that fuzzy bundle you took out of papa's vest pocket and threw in the fireplace just now?"
"That was an accumulation of household recipes your father cut out of the papers downtown and put away for my benefit. I have to clean them out of his pocket about once a month."—Chicago Tribune.

A Faulty Appraisal.

Mr. Spriggins prides himself on understanding the value of money.
"And that's where Mr. Spriggins makes a mistake," said the liberal man. "He expects a dollar to buy two or three times as much as it has any right to and is continually being annoyed and disappointed."—Washington Star.

Fatal to His Candidacy.

"You have just as much right and theoretically just as good a chance as anybody else to be president," says the patriotic citizen to his neighbor.
"I cannot agree with you," sighs the neighbor. "We have no children, and that fact alone would lose me the photographers' vote."—Judge.

SALE

WE ARE HEAVILY OVERSTOCKED! THE GOODS MUST BE SOLD!

This is the time of sacrifice, and you should wait and avail yourself of our big Clothing and Shoe Sale before buying your winter supplies. We bought more for this season than we can dispose of by ordinary methods and at ordinary prices, so we adopt an extraordinary way of selling out our matchless stock. Our stores are filled with the largest and best assorted lines of goods we ever had at one time. We looked forward to a prosperous season, but owing to conditions our stock did not move as rapidly as expected. It is impossible for us to return the goods to the manufacturers, therefore we have decided to offer, without reservation,

Our Entire Stock at Public Sale.
