INVESTIGATION OF THE STRIKE

Freeland People Subpoened to Give Testimony.

Discussion as to Whether the Union Should Expel Members Who Committed Violence During Conflict.

The question whether the United Mine Workers of America should expel members who are found to have been guilty of violence during the strike came before the commissioners at the hearing yesterday, and was the occasion of a warm discussion, in which Judge Gray, John Mitchell, Clarence Darrow and others participated.

Mr. Mitchell argued that there were 300,000 members in the miners' union, and that it was impossible to keep a strict surveillance over each individual. He maintained that there must be a legal conviction before it would be proper to take action. Otherwise, action on the part of the union would tend to prejudice the miners' case in court.

Mr. Darrow said that the union had no right to expel a member because he had been guilty of violating a law of the commonwealth. That was more than churches or political parties did and more than was expected of them.

Judge Gray maintained that churches and political parties were not in a class with the United Mine Workers, and that it was to the interests of the organization to punish members who disobeyed the injunctions of their officers in the union to keep the peace.

The controversy was brought about by a question of Commissioner Parker on the action of the Mahanoy City local in the case of two men who had been convicted of assaulting Anthony Ferguson. Clarence Ginley, a member of the executive board of the Ninth district, was called to answer the question, but he did not know if the men had been expelled.

Ginley's testimony about the efforts of union officers to aid the police, the manner in which the police thwarted those efforts by bullying the strikers and calling in armed deputies and the misrepresentation of facts when disturbances occurred with which the strikers had nothing to do, was another feature of the hearing.

Mr. Ginley said that one of the Scranton witnesses had been discharged soon after giving his testimony. Judge Gray took the name and address and announced his intention to investigate.

John Mitchell was recalled to testify whether or not the murderers of Daniel Sweeney were members of the union. He said their membership had ceased before the murder by reason of non-payment of dues.

A number of witnesses of the operators were called and told stories of violence. Before the adjournment of the session Judge Gray said he hoped the witnesses for the non-union men would be discontinued. He said the commission wanted to get all the facts, but that it seemed as though the testimony was being unduly prolonged.

Mr. Mitchell suggested that the operators should be required to prove the assertion made by President Baer, of the Reading Railway, to President Roosevelt, that the United Mine Workers had committed twenty-one murders during the strike.

"They ought to prove it," said Judge Gray, "but, of course, we can't instruct counsel as to the preparation of their cases."

General Gobin was to have been called yesterday afternoon, but the non-union counsel demanded the right to call more workmen.

A number of Freeland people have been subpoenaed by the operators' attorneys, and among those who went to Philadelphia yesterday were Rev. Carl Houser, Max Gelsel, John Hodgens, William Slattery and Albam Wadgers.

Employment for Fifty Girls.
Fifty girls can find remunerative employment at the Freeland silk mill. Applicants must be over 13 years of age, and those between the ages of 13 and 16 must comply with factory law in every respect. Apply at mill office on Birkbeck street.

SESSIONS ENDED.

Convention of District No. 7 Finished Its Business Yesterday.

The sixth annual convention of District No. 7, U. M. W. of A., which opened at the Grand opera house Tuesday morning, came to a close at 11 a. m. yesterday, the business of the year having been transacted.

Yesterday's session was devoted principally to receiving the reports of the tellers.

The result of the balloting for officers for the ensuing year proved to be as exclusively announced in the Tribune on Wednesday.

The tabulation of the vote was not completed until late Wednesday evening, and showed the following figures, which were presented to the convention yesterday:

President—William H. Dettory, Nuremberg, 142; Thomas P. Duffy, McAdoo, 85.

Vice president—Andrew Matthey, Stockton, 211; Fedor Patansky, Milnesville, 19.

Secretary-treasurer—John P. Gallagher, Silver Brook, 148; John F. McElhenry, Coaldale, 80.

Member of national executive board—Peter G. Gallagher, Freeland, 148; Con Boner, Tamaqua, 80.

Members of district executive board (seven elected)—Patrick Smith, Milnesville, 219; James Raynock, Trescow, 204; Condy O'Donnell, Hazleton, 158; N. J. Ferry, Silver Brook, 139; Daniel Spalde, Hazleton, 134; Charles Gallagher, Beaver Meadow, 131; Ralph Simmons, Nesquehoning, 130; Edward A. Evans, Lansford, 129; D. S. Gallagher, Ebervale, 94; Henry Hill, Hazleton, 73; Edward Sweeney, Tamaqua, 71; George Ficher, Hazleton, 47; George Williamson, Coaldale, 3.

Auditors (three elected)—Frank Nallo, Bunker Hill, 188; E. G. Willing, Seek, 185; Joseph Schnee, Freeland, 182.

The votes received by the various candidates did not cause much surprise, as the results announced were about as had been expected. The new officers will assume the duties of their position on February 1.

Hazleton was chosen as the place for holding the next annual convention, on January 4, 1904. A special convention however, may be necessary after the report of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission is announced.

The Panther Creek region representatives naturally felt disappointed at not receiving a more equitable share of the offices, but freely confessed that they came to the convention with too many candidates and frittered their strength away by having too many interests to look after.

Immediately after adjournment the delegates began making preparations for their departure, and by evening all but a few had left for their homes. All were well pleased with the treatment accorded them by the Freeland unions.

"Forget-Me-Not" Tonight.
Miss Lorraine Hollis, who appears at the Grand opera house this evening in "Forget-Me-Not," has been twelve years on the stage, belonging to an old Southern family. Her parents went to California immediately after the war and there Miss Hollis was born. Living under the shadow of Mt. Shasta with the pure air and healthful climate of the golden state she grew to womanhood noted for her beauty and perfect figure. Her education was carefully looked after. Of a highly emotional temperament she was naturally fitted for a great career, but had no thought of adopting the stage as a profession, however, until family reverses suggested it as a means of employing her talent.

Miss Hollis began by playing bits in San Francisco theatres. Her great beauty and graceful manner attracted the attention at once of managers and she was rapidly advanced to leading parts. It was while playing "Stephane" in "Forget Me Not" that the late Auguste Daly saw her work, and immediately engaged her as a member of his company. Coming East with his organization she played important engagements in every large city.

Drawn as Jurors.
The following residents of this vicinity have been drawn to serve as jurors on the dates preceding their names:
February 9.—John Fisher, John C. Boyle, Frank Wenner, Freeland; William Eroh, Thomas Rafe, Butler; Peter Maloney, Daniel Devanny, William Gates, Patrick Gallagher, Frank Fisher, Hazle.
February 16.—Edward O'Donnell, Freeland; Henry Jahne, Foster; J. J. Renshaw, Edward Edwards, C. Wesley Hall, Hazle.

NEW DIRECTOR.

John C. Boyle Chosen to Fill Vacancy on the School Board.

Eight of the members of the borough school board were present at last evening's regular meeting, as follows: Directors Brennan, Buckley, Fetterman, Isaac, Kline, McGeehan, Timony and Slattery.

Director Brennan called the attention of the board to the fact that a vacancy existed, his colleague from the Sixth ward, Mr. Kelly, having removed from the district.

The president suggested that Mr. Brennan be requested to nominate a candidate for the vacancy, and a motion to that effect was passed.

Mr. Brennan named John C. Boyle, of South Centre and Carbon streets, and the choice was unanimously approved.

An application from the Union band for the use of a vacant school room in West South Heberton building, for rehearsal purposes one night each week, was received.

The request was ordered granted, upon the compliance by the band with the usual conditions imposed.

The monthly report of Supervising Principal Haulon gave the enrollment for the third month 1,107; average attendance for the month, 962; percentage of attendance, 88.

The report also asked for slates and lead-pencils, the supply having become exhausted, and the secretary was instructed to procure the necessary quantity required for the balance of the term.

The principal reported that the boiler-room in the Eckley B. Cox building is being entered by unauthorized persons during school hours and that the boiler has been tampered with on different occasions. He recommended the purchase of a lock for the room, and the board approved the recommendation.

Treasurer Timony's monthly report showed the cash balance in the treasury on December 31 to be $1,571.08.

The following bills were ordered paid: Electric Light Company, October light, $1.44; William Birkbeck, supplies, 65c; Joseph Birkbeck, supplies 1901 term, 90c; Bernard Boyle, hauling coal, $7.50; W. E. Martin, supplies and repairs, $12.04; Patrick McDevitt, cleaning chimneys and stove repairs, $1.70.

Bills from the Freeland Water Company for water furnished from May 1 to December 31 were approved and ordered to be paid after several slight corrections have been made.

BASKET BALL.

The fame of the Crescents is steadily spreading, due to the fine showing made on Christmas Day against the crack St. Mary's Institute team. Manager Davis has received and accepted an offer to take his club to Plymouth on Tuesday next. This date is to be observed as fireman's day in that town, and the choosing of Freeland to contest with the home basket ball club is quite a compliment to the Crescents. On Friday evening of next week Plymouth will play a return game here.

A club known as the Gilmore team, of Hazleton, played the first half of a game against the Crescents Wednesday evening. The visitors were no match for the local club and apparently knew nothing about the game. The Crescents scored 16 points in the half, while Hazleton failed to make a point. The local management then apologized to the audience and declared the game at an end. Those present were given tickets good for tomorrow evening's game.

The attraction tomorrow evening will be the Mauch Chunk Y. M. C. A. club. This team ranks as one of the fastest Y. M. C. A. set of players in the state and a game that will prove interesting is bound to result when they meet the Crescents.

No indoor sport has ever taken such a hold upon Freeland people as basket ball has done. The number who take an interest in the game is constantly increasing and the hall is becoming too small for the comfort of the audiences.

Deaths of Old Residents.
Henry Coll, of Hazleton, one of Markle & Co.'s evicted tenants, yesterday received a message announcing the death of his brother, John Coll, of Park Place, who died at the Ashland Miners hospital, as the result of injuries sustained by a fall of coal on December 24. The deceased was well known in this region and prior to locating at Park Place was a resident of Old Buck Mountain. He is survived by a wife and four grown-up children, two boys and two girls.

William Stranix, a former resident of Eckley, died Wednesday evening at Gilberton, Schuylkill county. Deceased was aged 37 years, and had been ill for some time. He was a brother of Joseph Stranix, of Drifton.
